Best Goods! No Bargains!

We sell no DRIVES; we tried selling common goods cheap last fall and found they did not at all suit our customers. So, we more trash for us. We intend to sell only good goods at very low prices. We do not claim to have a monopoly of all the good or, all the fine dry goods to be found in the city, but we do claim to carry many things in fine Dress Goods and Trimmings, and a thousand other things that ladies use which you cannot find in any other store.

We are running on Quality this season, and we are determined to sell our Customers Good Goods for Very Little Money.

We desire to sell the Ladies trade, and we intend to keep just the stock they need. Call and see us and send for samples. Anything you buy is guaranteed.

If you have favored any other Store with the bulk of your trade, we do not wish to desert them, and you may find some goods in our Store not carried elsewhere. We would be glad to have a share of your trade.

Our regular customers, we would say we have just the goods for you this season. Our prices are not cash-fly prices. No more of that for us. We intend to sell only the best goods that the trade will buy at ROCK BOTTOM PRICES (SMALL PROFITS) will give you nice goods very cheap.

Don't call on us for Bargains, Bargains, Bargains. We have none. Remember, we keep THE Store for Nice Goods at Rock Bottom Prices.

THE JOURNAL.

NEW BERN, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JULY 11, 1888.

OUR PROGRESS AND A NATION.
Andrew Carnegie emigrated from Scotland to this country when a boy. Starting with nothing, by industry and intelligence he has accumulated a vast fortune as a manufacturer of steel. This gentleman has recently published a book entitled "Triumph of Democracy."

It is a history of the marvelous material prosperity of the United States, and it is a work every young American should read, for nowhere else can be found so many facts showing the wonderful industrial development of our country, and the possibilities of its still more wonderful future. The work is so encyclopedic of our institutions that it could not very well have been written by an American, but coming from a Scotchman it is not open to the charge of "spread eagleism."

Mr. Carnegie's object seems to have been to impress the Scotch and English people with the superiority of a democratic over an aristocratic or a monarchical form of government. If this work could get into the hands of the common people of Great Britain it would wear many of them from monarchical institutions and make them help hasten the day when the privileged classes would be asked to step down and out. However, this change of feeling is coming piece by piece, as the result of tendencies inherent in the institutions of the old country. — Lendrest's Monthly.

HOW A CLERGYMAN WAS PUZZLED.—A Connecticut clergyman reading the burial service in a churchyard, and having forgot which sex the deceased was, on going to that part of the ceremony which reads thus—"O my dear brother or sister," the reverend gentleman stopped, and seeing one of the mourners near him, stepped back, and whispering to him, said: "Is it a brother or sister?"

The mourner answered: "It is neither; 'tis only a relation."

SHE BELIEVED IN THEM.—"Do you believe in spirits, Mrs. McGinnis?"

"I do, ma'am. Whip the weather is cold, a little drop does me a power of good."

A CURE.—To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE.
