Commissioner W. W. Clark, heard before him yesterday J. J. West, a colored man charged with violating the internal revenue laws. The case was set for hearing Aug. 27th, and the defendant gave bond for his appearance at that time.

Max Schewerlin wants now to make room for his fall and winter stock of goods. He has a large stock of summer suits of clothing and other articles which he wants out of his way. Read his advertisement this morning and see what a means business.

A small member and a big member of the Board of Trade, stepped into the large rocker in the ball room at the Atlantic Hotel. They began to rock; the end with the little man went up and when it came down he stepped out as light as a cat; this let the big man down rather hurriedly, he rolled out like a barrel of molasses and the rocker threatened to go over on him; but he congratulated himself upon the fact that he was fooling with an Allen rocker and they don't capsize.

Since the Argus has narrowed its objections to the election of Hon. C. C. Clark down to mere prophecy we don't see much left to discuss, with it on the subject. The Argus will say that while the JOURNAL has not "one hundred eyes," yet it firmly believes that C. C. Clark will be elected, the Argus' prophecy to the contrary notwithstanding. [P. S.—Since writing the above another issue of the Argus has before me. Now can the Argus prove from any word or sentence that C. C. Clark ever wrote that he is opposed to county government. The Board of Trade Excursion.

The members of the New Bern Board of Trade, who have stuck to their business until the heated term, took a trip to the seaside on Thursday, leaving New Bern, on a special train at 8:45 a. m. A JOURNAL reporter was along and so were "the boys." The reporter soon realized the fact that "the boys" were going to have some fun. The "dovility" begun by demanding speeches from every one on board the train; the older members of the Board who always wear the appearance of grave and reverend seniors, had to come to time when called for. When this part of the programme was exhausted for lack of material, the idea was suddenly conceived to hold a Republican convention and shouts began for Hubbs Hubbs! Odeal Odeal! Now the fun began in earnest. "The boys" rushed to the center, pulled one another across the seats, each shouting for his favorite chairman; in fact, it was the Theatre convention over again, except there were no chairs or tables broken and no particular seat contested. The Acting Mayor, Jimmie Moore, appeared after awhile and ordered the meeting to disband, and then followed the Hahn of the occasion, Bill Gufon, who spoke to "all what belonged to do Hahn faction to stay and keep quiet." This little episode by "the boys" brought forth roars of laughter from the steady, level headed merchants who were perhaps a little annoyed with some of the tricks resorted to for amusement.

The party dined at the Atlantic Hotel, a special dinner having been prepared for them, and it was good enough for anybody, no matter whether members of the Board of Trade of New Bern or of the Cotton Exchange of New York.

In the evening they went to the surf, taking passage on the Katie Daniels. As this beautiful charpie shoved off from the wharf, the choir—and we had a splendid one—began a song. In a few minutes we found ourselves by the side of Capt. Pizer's blackboat, with a full cargo of beautiful ladies who sang back at us. A song alternately from each boat for a few minutes and then the "black boat" with its precious cargo attempted to steal a march on us by trying to cross a shoal too soon when lo and behold she struck, and the Katie Daniels sped on to the beach. As soon as our choir took in the situation they struck "Good-bye, my Lover, Good-bye," which was well rendered, and seemed appropriate. But the ladies got even with them at last, for on returning both boats reached the wharf almost simultaneously; the New Bern choir had just concluded the "Old North State" when a dozen or more sweet voices pealed forth from the "black boat," warbling like nightingales at midnight, almost beautiful and captivating little song which captured our entire party and drew from us three rousing cheers for the ladies.

A good supper at the Atlantic, and a good rest in the strong breeze then prevailing until the arrival of the mail train, and we are off for New Bern.

Perhaps it is well to remind our readers that the hilarity and good humor which prevailed was not produced by the use of "distilled spirits"—for this article was not considered in the bill of refreshments—but from a determination of "the boys" to have a good time. It is a dull fellow indeed that can't enjoy a day by the seaside with the New Bern Board of Trade. Our choir was composed of Messrs. Hill Humphrey, A. W. Wood, J. K. Willis, W. H. Gufon, E. M. Gates, C. H. Blank, Capt. Joe Wagner, W. M. Watson, F. Ulrich and J. W. Moore, who, with Hugh Lovick, led the chorus, and made most excellent music.

The JOURNAL reporter returns thanks for courtesies extended by the President and officers of the Board of Trade. The JOURNAL will always be found ready to aid them in any undertaking for the good of New Bern and this section of country.

The Baltimore weekly Bulletin has an interesting sketch of Hon. Marshall Parks, accompanied by a very good likeness of him. The feature of Mr. Parks' life has been an untiring devotion to canal building and other kindred works of engineering. He has of late taken a fresh interest in our New Bern and Beaufort canal and we hope may give the full force of his ability to that enterprise.

The Bulletin suggests his name for the Knights of Labor to rally around and send him to Congress from the Norfolk district. As for ourselves, we should be highly pleased to see him in Congress, but would prefer that he go as a strident Democrat.

From Portsmouth.

Our friends who went on the excursion to Portsmouth last Saturday night say that a good crowd was summering there and were enjoying themselves. A festival was held on last Sunday night for the benefit of the church at that place, and about $500 dollars were realized. A picnic was voted to the most handsome lady present. Four candidates were nominated and Miss Fanny Williams "took the cake," carrying one hundred and fifty votes.

Smuggled Fire Water in Rhode Island.

Boston, July 27.—A red faced, jolly driver of a two-horse truck got into trouble yesterday afternoon and unexpectedly revealed a secret. He was coming up Tremont street from the North End, and when opposite the Common, got in a jam of truck loads, one of which tipped off a portion of his load. Among other things which fell into the street were three wooden shipping cases filled with eggs. The cover of one was knocked off, and the eggs went skipping over the pavement. Two newsboys rushed in and began to break and suck the eggs. A large boy cracked a shell and began to swallow its contents, when he suddenly made a wry face.

"Bad?" asked a bystander. "Naw," was the reply; "but a funny tasting egg's never I seed."

The other boy, after tasting one or two eggs, turned to the crowd and said: "Taint an egg at all; it's nothing but whiskey!"

Of course there was a scramble for the eggs, and the driver had hard work to get his box back. When his boxes were all loaded again, he said he had received six cases of eggs from a North End liquor dealer, who told him to take them to the Providence Depot, and cautioned him to be careful and "not hatch the eggs on the way," as they were for hotel use in Rhode Island.

Taking up one of the eggs and breaking it in front of the crowd, a ruddy liquid ran out, leaving nothing but a common porcelain shell such as is sold at agricultural supply stores for "nest eggs." Instead of albumen and yolk every egg was full of the best whiskey, each one containing about enough for a good drink. They were filled through a small hole in the big end, and the hole was closed with waterproof cemented cloth of the same color as the egg. By chalking the egg a little the deception was complete.

"They are going to Newport and Narragansett Pier," said the driver, "and I'll bet lots of people will eat eggs down there who never liked them before."

The Anarchist Trials.

CHICAGO, July 28.—In the Anarchist trials today, H. L. Gilbert, (painter) living at No. 50 North Ann Street, testified that he arrived at the Haymarket at 9:45 o'clock. At the corner of Des-planes and Randolph streets he saw a wagon occupied by the speakers. Witness saw some one leave the wagon and start toward the alley, where four or five persons were conversing. Witness was at the mouth of the alley. At that moment some one cried: "Here come the police." Then the man who left the wagon and joined the party in the alley lit a match, and placing it against something held in the hand of one of the persons, a fuse began to sizzle and immediately thereafter the bomb was thrown. Witness was shown a picture of Schenau and recognized it as that of the man who threw the bomb.

Question—How many men were there? Answer—Four or five.

Q.—You say the man came from the wagon and joined this group? Can you recognize any of the defendants as that man?

A.—Yes; that is the man (pointing at Spies). (When Spies was pointed out he displayed great and palpable indignation.)

Q.—Do you recognize any of the remaining defendants as composing any part of that group?

A.—Yes; that man there was one of the group. (Witness pointed out defendant Fischer.)

This testimony following that of Thompson yesterday occasioned the most profound sensation in the court room.

The witness on cross examination said that prior to coming to Chicago he lived at Des Moines, Iowa. He came here in 1879.

Foster desired to know everything about the history of the man who had given such frightful testimony against his clients. He asked witness when he learned that a reward had been offered for conviction in this case? He replied that he was not aware that any reward had been offered. Witness explained satisfactorily as to his whereabouts, but did not report the facts to the police a few days after the tragedy, after having told some of his friends. He went to the Haymarket to look for his friend, who had gone there. He did not note particularly what Fielden was saying. In conclusion, Foster asked: "And you say it was Spies who left the wagon?" Answer—"I do."

All of the English steamship companies have refused to transport any more Greek gypsies to America. A band of them were recently landed at New York, but they were immediately re-shipped.

There are other places besides North Carolina where people sometimes live to be over a hundred years old. The latest instance is that of Wm. Scott, colored, who has just died in Baltimore at the remarkably old age of 153 years, so said.

The rumor of the death of Emperor William has no foundation. Though in his ninetieth year, this wise and grand old man remains hale and vigorous and he has the wishes of nearly every nation upon the globe that his necessarily few declining years may be those of joy and happiness. Under his guidance Germany has made probably more advancement and progress than under any preceding ruler, until today, if not superior, it ranks with the foremost nations of the world.

Harbor Island Light.

Gen. Ransom secured his amendment to the sundry civil bill appropriating $20,000 for restoring the lighthouse on Harbor Island bar, between Pamlico and Core sounds. But the waggish Joe Blackburn played a practical joke on our dignified Senator. On the viva voce vote nearly everybody voted with the General, for he has winning ways on the subject of appropriation. But Blackburn had gone around and told many of the Senators to vote on the yes and nay call, which it was expected Allison would demand against Ransom, and then at the last moment to change their votes. When Berry's name was reached, after several votes had gone adverse, Gen. Ransom went to the Arkansas and said: "Good—Berry, what does this mean?" He was mildly supported by Butler's yes, but Hampton and nearly all the others voted nay. He was almost discomfited and rallied his friends from the cloak room. All did not avail. The vote was about to be announced and he was about to be beaten badly—for the first time in his career.

An Old Citizen Speaks.

Mr. J. M. Norris, an old resident of Rome, Ga., says that he had been troubled with kidney complaint for a great many years and with eczema for three years; at times could scarcely walk and had tried many remedies without benefit, until he began taking Electric Bitters and anointing his hands and feet with Buckner's Great Relief. This treatment afforded him great relief and he strongly recommends Electric Bitters to all who suffer with kidney complaints, or need a blood purifier. Sold by H. H. H. Charleston, S. C.

Daniel, the Summer Scout.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Lamos has gone to his home in New York for a few days' rest. In his absence Daniel will be in charge of the Presidential summer vacation. Mr. Cleveland intends to leave Washington very soon after Congress adjourns, and will then go to the Adirondacks, where he intends to remain from four to six weeks. He will stop at the same place where he spent a month last summer. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Cleveland and it is expected that Mrs. Cleveland's mother and some of her relatives will be with them during their vacation.

Pleasure Seekers—Ahey!

After urgent solicitations from many friends I have consented to run another of those health-giving, soul-stirring, blood-reviving, knock in the head all ailments excursions to Nag's Head, and at the small sum of $3.00 for adults; children from four to twelve, half fare.

It will be unnecessary to attempt to describe the beautiful scenery en route, and the elegant drives on the beach, among the "Kill-Devil Hills;" the delicious plunges among the breakers; the romantic promenades for the young; the wide, elegant verandas for the enjoyment of the ocean breeze, for those less sentimentally inclined, the excellent cuisine of the "prince of caterers," Capt. Tom Southgate; and the enjoyment of sheephead, bluefish, soft crabs and other delicacies which mine host Jacob loads his groaning tables with—are only part of the pleasures to be enjoyed on this trip, and words are inadequate to tell the balance. I can't describe the beauties and the pleasures of the trip; you must go to enjoy them. Our "fire ladders" will participate in this grand excursion, and will see that your cup of enjoyment is continually overflowing.

Let this be a grand success as well as a grand excursion, and the "b'boys" shall have all the credit. The hour and date will be thusly—8 a. m., August 3d, 1886. Fall in.
