A Great Man G

Disp—At his home in Grameroy Park, New York, on the morning of August 4th, 1836, of partial paralysis, Samuel J. Tilden, aged 73 years and 6

Samuel Jones Tilden was born in Kew Lebanon, Columbia county, N. Y., February 9th, 1814. But few men have lived a more active or useful life.

Entering Yale College in 1833 and completing his course at the University of New York, he was admitted to the practice of law. In 1846 he was a member of the State constitutional convention and also of the Assembly, and aided to shape the canal policy of that State. He was defeated as Democratic candidate for the office of attorney general of the State in 1855. In 1866 he was chosen chairman of the State Democratic committee, and again a member of the constitutional convention in 1867.

In 1869 and 1870 he was active in the organization of the bar association of New York. He was prominent in the detection of prominent frauds in New York City in 1870 and '71. And again in the assembly in 1872. In November, 1874, he was elected governor of New York by the unprecedented majority of 50,317 votes; and Distance, 294 feet from nozzle. two years later was triumphantly elected President of the United States by the votes of the people, but unjustly denied the fruits of his victory by a corrupt manipulation of the returning boards of some of the Southern States, and the eight by seven decision of the electoral commission, which was accorded the power to settle the contest between him and the Republican candidate, R. B. Hayes.

Since that event Mr. Tilden has not been actively engaged in person in political matters, but has been the wise counsellor in many important party movements, and his able and valuable advice has been sought by many of the wisest heads of this age. As a politician Mr. Tilden had no superior and but few equals in his day, while as a lawyer he ranked with the greatest, having appeared as counsel in used as a cruiser. the celebrated Flagg election contest in 1855; the Burdell heirs against Mrs. Cunningham in 1857; the Cumberland Pennsylvania coal company in 1863.

If it were possible to be so, Mr. Tilden held a higher place in the hearts of his countrymen than if he had been allowed to take his seat as President. The gross injustice by which he was defeated: the noble bearing of the grand old man at Gramercy Park during the contest of Right against Wrong; his patriotic utterances to his fellow patriots throughtional life and galety to the place by out that exciting period, has assigned of New Orleans which have always him a position in the affections of the been so low and muddy, are to be rais American people regardless of party equal to that of any of our most esteemed and honored citizens.

The Alum Springs Picule.

The annual picnic at Alum Springs, near Catharine Lake, in Onslow county, came off on Tuesday. There was a large number of persons present from Craven, Jones, Lenoir, Wayne, Wilson, Greene, Carteret, New Hanover, Pender and Duplin counties.

All manner of vehicles known to the counties mentioned were in requisition. From the grand family carriage to the plain one-horse cart, loads of goodhumored people rolled in and were soon lost in the buzz and bustle of the happy throng. Young and old alike had come for a day of real enjoyment. Dancing, singing, talking, walking, were all enjoyed by each one present as their taste dictated. Watermelons, apples, pears, peaches and cider was abundant. The water from the springs grant farmers' excursion will be abundant. A New Engine at Wilmington.

The Wilmington Steam. Fire Company has purchased a new engine which has been named the "Atlantic," after the Atlantic Fire Company No. 1 of this city. This is a deserved compliment to our gallant old company, which has maintained not only its organization, but a first-class reputation also for a period of over forty years. Below we give the results of the test as reported in the Stare

The new steam fire engine "Atlantic" was tested yesterday by Mr. James P. Teller, of Seneca Falls, N. Y., representing the manufacturers. The test were made at the corner of Seventh and Market streets, under the supervision of the chief of the fire department and committee of the board of aldermen

They were in every way satisfactory. The first test was the time required in raising steam from cold water, with dry wood. In three and a half minutes 20 pounds of steam were raised, in four minutes 25 pounds, and in five minutes 35 pounds, at which the machine was started. Tests were then made as to distance in throwing water through one hundred feet of hose, water being taken from the cistern at Seventh and Market streets, which was supplied from hydrants of the Water Works Company. The first of these tests was made through an inch and one-eighth nozzle.

Second, through an inch and a quar ter nozzle. Distance, 260 feet.

Third, through an inch and a nozzle. Distance 263 feet. Fourth, four streams, through 100 feet of hose each, with three-fourths of an inch nozzles. Distance, 200 feet. Fifth, two streams, through 100 feet of hose each, with inch nezzles. Distance, 297 feet. Sixth, a single stream, through 1,000 feet of hose, with inch nozzle. Distance, 200 feet.
