Happenings at Morehead City EDITOR JOURNAL:—As you are aware, A wharf built of these will not be to spent in pleasures of every conceivable kind that can be had at a fashionable summer resort. Among them, and one of the most enjoyable, are Progressive Eucher parties given by some of the guests to their fellow so-journers at the Atlantic Hotel. In these games a prize is awarded to the successful Knight. Among them is a young married man whose fortune in the game has been a source of annoyance to the many players, he having been under all cir cumstancess the winner, and defeat added to his constant good-humored okes played upon the others has made t almost unbearable. But fate has overtaken him at last and he has become the victim of bad luck. On Friday last he met with a terrible defeat, not scoring a single point. He was at once draped in mourning by the ladies and one of them has written an obit-uary, a copy of which I send you and hope you will publish it.

Morehead City can beast of having no death roll and one has no opportunity of ventilating their talents in writing more pleasant to read. This rejlects great credit upon the accomplished Mrs. B—, whose ready wit and spark-ling brightness can be easily recognized by those who are fortunate enough to be numbered among her acquaintances.

CHITTLARY The funeral services of the late pro-fersional Eucher player, Mr. Jack D-n, will be held in the ball room at o'clook. He will be buried with all the honors that 'Eucher Corps' accord to a deceased comrade; but contrary to custom, there will be no panel. Relatives and friends are invited to attend and drop a sympathetic tear over his untimely taking off. His end was tragic. Himself an inveterate joker, alas! that a joker should have caused FAYETTEVILLE, Aug. 12, 1886. The North Carolina pharmaceutical association convened in the seventh annual session at the Fayetteville library rooms yesterday. The attendance was small, being due to the fact that the notice of the postponement of the meeting of the examining board of pharmac; was understood by many as a notice of the postponement of the convention it self. Dr. J. A. Hodges, on behalf of the resident draggists, welcomed, in fitting terms, the visitors to the generous, hospitalities of the city, to the which Mr. A. W. Rewland of Wilson felicitously responded. Mr. H. R. Horne, of Fayetteville, the refixing president, then delivered the annual address, which was as dignified in tone as it was admirable in conception.

Several interesting and instructive papers were read during the sessions of he convention, and more rousine work than usual was accomplished.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mr. A. W. Rowland, Wilson: First Vice President, Mr. F. W. Hancock, New Berne; Second Vice President, Mr. B. E. Sedberry, Fayette-ville; Third Vice President, Mr. J. D. Croom, Shoe Heel, Secretary, J. C. Munds, Statesyille; Treasurer, A. S.
