Paintings and Drawings. Mrs. Dr. Theo. Whitfield gives notice in this issue that she will receive pupils for lessons in drawing and paintings at her studio at the Baptist Parsonage. The best evidence of Mrs. Whitfield's competency as a teacher is her work. She has some on hand that indicates the touch of skilled artist.

Misfortunes Come Double-Handed. Last Tuesday morning the JOURNAL announced that Lee Hicks, col., had his hand sawed off at Stimson's saw mill. The item found its way to Duplin county and coming under deputy Sheriff Tew's eye, he at once recognized the man as being the same of that of a colored man who was wanted there to answer to the charge of larceny. The deputy arrived on Friday night and in company with policeman Ketchum found Hicks, who was in bed and had been since the accident. He was taken to jail and on yesterday left for Kenansville.

Some complaint is made about the action of the deputy in taking a man off in the condition that Hicks was in; he is charged with inhumanity, etc. Of this we know nothing. The deputy stated that he was charged with robbing a smokehouse and had given his bond for appearance at court but failed to appear, and his sureties were likely to suffer if he was not at the next term of the court. Whether or not it was inhuman to make him travel, four days after having a hand taken off, we cannot say. If it was, the deputy ought to have lodged him in jail here until he was able to travel. We are informed by the policeman who accompanied the deputy, that they offered to take him to his physician to have his wound dressed, but he preferred not to have it dressed.

But for the accident at the mill his whereabouts would probably have remained a mystery to his sureties.

The Graded School. We call attention to the school notice published in this issue. The trustees of the Academy find it impossible to run the school entirely free. The 1st and 2nd grades will be free; the tuition charged for the other grades is fixed at a very low rate. We wish the school success under the arrangement; it is doubtless the best that can be done under the circumstances, unless the suggestion we have so often made could have met the approval of the Board. The old building is amply sufficient for the available funds of the trustees. The new building could have been rented or leased to some enterprising teacher who would have built up a first-class high school. If the trustees had admitted their work to the available funds and kept a free school as long as the money would permit, there would have been no doubt about the legality of appropriating the public school funds. But suppose, under the present arrangement, a parent demands admission for his children to the third and fourth grades and refuses to pay? Have the trustees the right to exclude the children and at the same time use the public school funds?

We see no hope of obtaining legislation by which our graded school can be kept up by taxation; the trustees might as well cut their garment according to the cloth they have, and let pay schools be run by individual enterprise. If they will lease or rent the new building, we have no doubt one of the finest high schools in Eastern Carolina would soon be built up there. The situation of New Berne, its health record, and cheap board justify us in making this prediction. The schools of Kinston and La Grange take children from our very midst, and from districts all around us. They draw upon their merits, proper advertising and personal solicitation. We know of some half-dozen young ladies in Pamlico county who will go to Kinston and La Grange schools the coming year. They could have been taught in New Berne; their board, tuition and other expenses could have been furnished here, if we had had the high school.

Notice, Notice! On tomorrow night, Aug. 30th, at the Frog Pond, at 8 o'clock, the Hon. J. B. Abbott, the regular nominee for the 50th Congress will explain himself on the Congressional question.

Senator Mahone, of Virginia, says he has no desire to be nominated for Congress.

Paul D'Arbonne, a Frenchman, is in Russia agitating an alliance of France and that country in a war against Germany.

The committee appointed by the English Government to examine into the Pasteur method of inoculation for the prevention of rabies has expressed itself that the French Savant's treatment for hydrophobia is effective.

Two Massachusetts sailors who were wrecked on the bark Napoleon in June 1885 and given up as lost, have been heard from. They were washed ashore on the Siberian coast and are now on their way home.

Captain Abbey, of the United States revenue steamer Corwin, at Alaska, reports having seized, for violation of the seal fishery law, four vessels, sixty prisoners, over 2,000 seal skins and a large amount of arms and ammunition.

As an illustration of what may be done under the scalp bounty law, it is stated that an Indiana man found a nest of hawk eggs, took them home, placed them under a hen, and when they were hatched out, killed them and collected the State bounty of 50 cts. for each one.

Russian authorities are highly incensed at the tone of the English press in reference to the Eastern question. They say that the Czar had not any knowledge whatever of the Bulgarian conspiracy to depose Prince Alexander. It is believed in England that Russia intends occupying Bulgaria. The Lion and Bear will yet measure strength.

All decency has not been discarded in politics. The Philadelphia North American, a staunch Republican journal, sounds the keynote of dignity and decency in the Pennsylvania gubernatorial contest by its manly tribute to the Hon. Chauncey F. Black, the candidate it earnestly opposes for Governor. It says that it "is childish and it is untrue" to defame and belittle Mr. Black because he is a political opponent, and adds "that no amount of bad temper and no amount of false criticism can bring the people of intelligence in Pennsylvania to look upon Chauncey F. Black as other than a gentleman of the highest character, personally and intellectually." It adds: "The Democratic party has few men whom it should be more proud of than Mr. Black, for he is a man of integrity, of culture and of capacity."

Kinston Items.

If "old Chow Chow" is good authority, a young coon hunter or candidate for sheriff has recently made his appearance at the residence of B. L. Taylor at this town.

The entertainment at the depot house last Thursday night for the benefit of the Episcopal Church was unique in all its appointments and a success every way. The vocal and instrumental music delighted everybody. Priscilla, a Puritan maiden, in "The Courtship of Miles Standish" and Estay, Maid of all work, in "Misfortune," a charade, were the particular favorites of the occasion.

David Pearce, son of our respected countyman, John S. W. Pearce, of Sand Hill township, died very unexpectedly last week at the residence of his father. He was a student of Trinity College in this State and was home on the summer vacation, expecting to return with the fall session; but was taken sick with chills and fever and died as above stated. He was a young man of fine promise.

Parson Mewborne returned last week from his overland hunting and fishing excursion to Onslow county. His party camped on Brown's magnificent beach, where they frolicked with "old ocean," hunted deer and alligators, caught fresh and salt-water fish and lived upon the finest oysters in the world right from the water. Game of all kinds abundant and the fishing unsurpassed. The parson found the people there exceedingly kind, social and hospitable and will, very generously, thank all for their "good words," with an especial prayer for that prince of kind fellows, Robert Johnson.

Matters in the Superior Court have moved smoothly and orderly since the grand awakening last Monday morning. Mourning Howard, col., charged with smothering her child to death, was released, in the absence of any testimony against her. The State against Joseph McDaniel was called Friday morning, when counsel for the accused offered to submit for manslaughter. The court, after hearing the chief witness for the State, accepted the offer and entered judgment accordingly. The punishment had not been fixed at the time we wrote. Job L. Stroud and Samuel Howard, both white, were convicted of stealing hogs and sentenced to the penitentiary—the first, five years, the last, one year, at hard labor. Mr. Stroud appealed to the Supreme Court, the appeal bond being fixed at $2,500, which was given. A few cases of minor offenses were disposed of, including three burglary cases (white), to be heard. This looks very much like a white man's court. There are twenty-four prisoners in Kinston jail, of all sexes, sizes and colors, representing almost every crime of the criminal calendar. Jailor Loftis is growing in popularity as a hog keeper. He feeds well, waters freely, looks out for bull dogs and shuts down the steel-beaker army on his unwilling guests. His board is clean and pleasant.

Col. Phil Thompson Makes Interesting Suggestions as to Its Contents. NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Ex-Congressman Philip B. Thompson of Kentucky, Secretary of the National Democratic Congressional Committee, said to a reporter that he had been busy at Washington getting ready a campaign book. The book will appear in a few days. It completely endorses the President's Administration. Speaking of it and the general policy of Mr. Cleveland, Mr. Thompson said:

"This is a campaign document to go before the country for the fall elections. In it we point to the manner in which civil service reform has been carried out by the Democrats. On the tariff question, which, in my judgment, sooner or later will be the sole issue, we take a moderate course, and we discuss the surplus in the Treasury and ask that it be reduced.

"We do not whitewash the President's policy. He has made mistakes; there is no doubt in that matter, but we are all liable to err. The greatest mistake he made was the failure to sign the surplus resolution bill. It shows that the President is guided in his financial policy by the magnates or advisers who surround him. They represent the sentiment of the East of Wall street. It is natural that the Wall street financiers should oppose the putting out of so much money. The West and South want the surplus paid out. It will have a tendency to make money easier and more plentiful." The President, I think, intends to carry out the provisions of the resolution.

"The Democratic party is bound to nominate President Cleveland for a second term; it cannot be avoided. It must be done to vindicate the first Democratic Administration after an interregnum of a quarter of a century. If we did not the Republicans would have grounds to attack us, saying our first President after the war was a failure." Boston Daily Advertiser.

A Horrible Accident. News was received at Asheville Wednesday evening the Adonias says, of a most horrible and heart-rending accident which occurred on Tryon Mountain Wednesday. A construction train broke loose while ascending the mountain, and went whirling down the grade at a terrible speed. Overseer Swift and five convicts were instantly killed and 14 persons were wounded. The engineer had left the engine in charge of the fireman. The train started down the grade and the air-brakes refused to work. The speed down the mountain was thought to be at the rate of seventy-five miles an hour. Strange to say, neither the engine nor flat cars jumped the track. The men standing on the flat cars had nothing to hold on to and were thrown in different directions when a short curve was turned. Some of them were horribly mangled. The train was stopped after running six miles.

The Apaches Not To Be Removed. WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The statements to the effect that the Government intends to remove the Apaches on the San Carlos reservation, Arizona, to more civilized regions, perhaps to Fort Marion, Florida, is not borne out by inquiries at the Indian Bureau. There are on the San Carlos reservation 5,000 Apaches, divided into the following bands: White Mountain Apaches, 8,600; Apache Mohave, 600; Apache Yuma, 300; Chiracahua Apaches, 500. There are also a few Tonco Apaches, and a remnant of the old San Carlos tribes. For years the country has shuddered with horror at the tales told of the atrocities of the Indians broken loose from the San Carlos reservation, and a year ago the reservation, in response to popular demand, was taken from the control of the Indian Department, and has since been entirely governed by police regulations, with Capt. Pierce of the army in charge of the agency. The whole trouble with these Indians and the bad reputation acquired by the agency is due entirely to the band of less than 500 Chiracahua, a lot of renegades that really belong to the Tonco, and they were simply sent to the reservation to prevent the peaceful ones from being constantly intimidated and pushed out. To this band belong and to these few renegades the bad order of the San Carlos Apaches is attributable.

Mahone Declines. WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Senator Mahone has written from Old Point Comfort to a prominent gentleman in Petersburg, Va., saying that any suggestion pining him in the light of a candidate for Congress from the fourth Virginia district, or conveying the idea that he would accept if nominated, is distasteful and against his expressed opinion, and he has never thought the occasion would arise that would make it necessary for him to be nominated.
