NEW BERN, N. C. OCT 5 1886.

Entered at the Post Office at New Bern, N. C. as second-class matter.

BLAINE, LOGAN and SHERMAN are bidding for the Republican nomination for the Presidency in 1888. The latter gentleman is still sailing under the bloody shirt flag.

Our Aurora itemizer states that a convention of Prohibitionists met at Washington on the 24th of September and nominated Rev. G. D. LANGSTON as their candidate for the 50th Congress. So the Republicans of the First district now have choice of three candidates: a strait and sound Democrat, an independent Democrat or a Prohibitionist.

THE Farmers Club of Forsyth county in their address recently published complain that the U. S. Government is neglectful of the agricultural interest of the country. They show that the amount of money spent in this direction is very small when compared with other nations. If they succeed in getting more money for this purpose we hope a better use will be found for it than distributing seeds by members of Congress.

WHY MAKE IT AN ISSUE?

The Wilmington Star in its issue of Saturday last in an editorial on "County Government," after quoting the resolution adopted by a Republican convention at Raleigh in opposition to the present system of county government, says:

Why this thrust this question again upon the people and make it an issue? Now in what we are going to say about this, we do not wish to be personally offensive, but upon reading the above question our mind at once recurs to the position taken by the Star early in the opening of the campaign. When the Democrats of Craven county saw fit to take advantage of the split in the Republican party and make an effort to secure the election of gentlemen fit and competent to represent the people of this county in the General Assembly, the Star and one other paper immediately sprung the question of county government. The JOURNAL protested against making it an issue, and declared that it was not an issue in Craven county. But these papers persisted in their attempt to make it an issue, and actually, in our mind, tried to make it appear that there was a division among the Democrats in this section in regard to it. And now after the Star itself raised the issue and it is met by the Republicans, it propounds the above question.

The county government question has been passed upon time and again since its adoption and the people have concluded long ago that it was a dead issue. The masses we believe are satisfied with it. Many of the best men in the Republican party in the eastern counties prefer it to the elective system of magistrates and county commissioners, and why Democrats should always be the first to moot it at the beginning of every campaign we cannot understand, unless it be the object of a few frightened Democrats, who, every time two or three of them are gathered together, want to pass a resolution reaffirming faith in the system, to keep the people of the West under the impression that the Republic is under such great obligations to them for this great boon that we will ask nothing else at the hands of the State Government.

Representative men of both the East and West say that the counties all over the State have prospered under the system; then why attempt to make the impression that there is a division of sentiment among the Democrats in regard to it? And what else can we expect after raising the question, than for the Republicans to take hold of it? They have been so often defeated on it, and overwhelmingly defeated too, that we verily believe they would let it rest but for the fact that a few restless Democrats are eternally bringing it forward.

Yes, why make it an issue? This point ought to have been accepted by the Star when made by the JOURNAL early in the campaign.

Onslow Items.

Very dry; no rain for three weeks.

Ned Merrill has lost his art killing deer and has quit bragging.

J. W. Mills just returned from the North with a big stock of goods at Richlands.

We expect to report a wedding soon, the parties being a young widow and a young gent.

Silas Venters' pear tree, Bartlett, has a second crop of pears on it. Last year it bore two crops.

The Misses Mittie and Carrie Venters are doctoring their chickens for cholera with Indian Tea.

F. D. Koonce, Esq., made a big speech at Richlands last Saturday on the finances of the country. We think friend Frank wants to go to Congress from this district.

Cotton most all open; only one-half crop in most places. Corn is about two-thirds of a crop. Potatoes very good. Corn generally is better than last year, while cotton is not so good. So the farmers have had two very sorry crop years together.

Ed. Franks and John Mills have concluded to go into the stock raising, so said, and they certainly have two large fields of hay, one each, and it looks nice; but we told them the other day if they didn't pull the few bits of peanuts, or ground peas, as they are called, out from among the hay it might ruin the hay. We reckon they will do it.

The Messrs. Francks, four in number, have bought a fine breech-loading gun apiece; just received them from Philadelphia. They sent for G. R. Venters to come and go hunting with them. George went and those gents, five in all, went out in the pocomin and stayed about 48 hours and came back with two little squirrels and three jay birds. It was the first time George had been hunting in ten years and now he says, "yum, yum, yum."

Mr. W. W. Martin has the best cotton on the road from Swansboro to Richlands. He is one of our county commissioners-elect, and is a No. 1 farmer. Mr. Lewis W. Hargett has the tallest cotton in the county, I reckon, it being over 84 feet high; only about two acres. Henry Humphrey is one of our live farmers, too. He has a large farm, and among the rest, he has a large patch of tobacco as fine in looks as I ever saw.

Aurora Items.

We are needing rain.

B. H. Thompson has opened a furniture store.

Mrs. W. A. Thompson's boarding house is well patronized.

Seed cotton selling at 2.70; lint, 8.50. New corn, 50 cents.

Our farmers have invested in shell considerable this summer.

The Academy opens Monday with bright prospects of a prosperous session.

Mr. E. W. Guilford, of Respass Road, is very sick with the hemorrhagic fever.

Messrs. T. C. Wresiger, C. C. Bryan and Hunter Back left here a week ago for Charleston, S. C.

Messrs. B. H. Thompson, J. B. Whitehurst and J. W. Chapin and families came from Ocracoke Friday.

An entertainment was given here Saturday, Oct. 2, by some children from Oxford Orphan Asylum.

Abram Moore has prepared a feast and invites all who expect to vote for Messrs. Hodges and Wilkins to partake.

number of speeches for Prohibition. The voters of the 1st district should consider well when they cast their votes in November for a member of next Congress which will be the more likely to look after their interests.

Miraculous Escape.

W. W. Reed, Surgeon, of Winchester, Ind., writes: "One of my outpatients, Mrs. Louisa Pikey, Hamilton, Randolph Co., Ind., was a fine officer with Consumption, and was given up to die by her physicians. She heard of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and began trying it of me. In six months time she walked to this city, a distance of six miles, and is now so much improved she has quite a number of friends who have been cured by the bottle at Hancock Bros' Drug Store. To speak at length of her improvement is impossible."
