Serious Accident.
Matthew York, col., the sawyer at Radcliff & Co.'s mill, while clearing trash from under the bench of the edging saw raised his left arm a little too high and the saw took it in, shaving the bone off to the joint, laying it open. He was taken immediately to Dr. Hughes' office for treatment. It is feared that amputation will be necessary.

Matthew lives on Berne street, near the Frog Pond, and has been a faithful hand at the mill.

Cotton Movement and Fluctuations.
The thirteenth annual edition of Latham, Alexander & Co.'s "Cotton Movement and Fluctuations" has been received. It is an elegantly printed and bound book and contains valuable information for those who deal in cotton. It gives a complete review of the cotton movement and prices from 1851 to 1886 and a general review of the market for the year 1886-87. It is a valuable book for reference, as almost any fact desired in regard to the crops for the last five years can be there obtained.

Is It True?
Two communications in this issue, one over the signature of "Democrat" and the other "Votes for Coalition," charge that the President of the A. & N. C. R. is using his official position to defeat the Democratic nominee of this county for the Senate. This is contrary to the oft-repeated declarations of the President that politics should have nothing to do with the management of the road. The President certainly has the right as an individual to oppose or vote for whom he pleases, but it is not right to use his official position to further the ends of politicians. It would be unjust to the stockholders to use the road for such purposes.

Personal.
Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Romire left for Baltimore yesterday morning on business and a visit to friends.
Mrs. Frank Myer has arrived from Norfolk and will spend the winter in New Berne.
Mrs. J. H. Hilton has returned from a visit North.
Jos. A. Smith of Jones, was in the city yesterday. He reports the political outlook as good for the Democrats.

Oct. 20, Whitford has returned from his canvass of Carteret county, and says he opened the eyes of the people down there on the record of his opponent.

L. E. Hunt of Jacksonville, passed down to Morehead City on Tuesday night to let the people know that he is an independent Republican candidate for the Senate in the 2d Congressional District.

G. H. Galt, Esq., has been in Kinston today on professional business.

Errata.

In announcing that Mr. Simmons would be at Pollockville on Saturday before the election, we were in error. He will be at Pollockville on Monday, day before the election.

Politics.

Perhaps we owe our readers an apology for devoting so much space to politics. The only apology we can offer is that we feel that the present campaign is one of great importance to Craven county. The people of this county have keenly felt the necessity of having proper representatives in the General Assembly, and this Congressional district has felt the same need of a representative in Congress. We have an opportunity of doing good for our county and district and we ought not to throw it away. It is but a few days until the election; after that we will endeavor to give such a variety of reading that will please all our readers.

It is not only a privilege but a solemn duty of every citizen, not disfranchised, to exercise the elective franchise. The JOURNAL aims to influence the exercise of this high privilege from motives of right, justice and patriotism. In this respect every voter is a sovereign, and is responsible to his country and to his God for the manner in which he exercises his right of suffrage. While we are endeavoring to point out the true course for those who feel their duty to vote, we trust that those who are not politically inclined will bear with us for a few days.

Come To The Point.

We do not want to quarrel with our esteemed contemporary, the News and Observer, but we do wish to remind it that the Democrats of Craven county did their level best to elect the present Governor of North Carolina, and one of the results of that victory was the present administration of the A. & N. C. R. Now we ask, does the Governor endorse the action of his appointee in using his official position, as it is boldly charged, to defeat the Democrats of Craven county? It is no matter how many Republicans are on the ticket, the Democrats of Craven county have nominated and placed before the people two staunch Democrats, and it is openly charged that the President of the A. & N. C. Railroad is using all the means in his power to defeat, not the Republicans on the coalition ticket, but the Democrats, or at least one of them, placed there by the action of the Democrats of Craven county in convention assembled. Now the News and Observer does not hesitate to condemn independents in all parts of the State, and why hesitate to approve or disapprove of opposition to the Democratic nominee of Craven county for the Senate. Can you condemn independents and not condemn straight out opposition to a Democrat in favor of a Republican? Doesn't the News and Observer recognize Messrs. Clark and Lane as nominees of the Democratic party of Craven county? Why should the influence of the A. & N. C. Railroad be brought to bear against the election of the Democratic nominee of Craven county for the Senate? The imputed opposition is not to the Republicans on the coalition ticket, but to Mr. Clark, the Democratic nominee.

A Card.

EDITOR RECORD.—I notice in your issue of the 14th inst., over the name of P. M. Pearsall, a statement setting forth that I (Pearsall) had been informed that I stated in Beaufort that he favored me for the Senate. I must, in justice to the people who were present at the discussion in Beaufort, say that I do not think Mr. Pearsall received any such information. If any one did so misrepresent me, he certainly partakes largely of that quality of the gentleman from Jones, addicted to having very little regard for truth, as no such statement was made or thought of by me.

Yours, etc.,
J. N. WHITFORD.

Is the Governor Responsible?

EDITOR JOURNAL.—In the News and Observer of the 19th instant I notice an article referring to an article previously appearing in your paper in reference to the opposition of certain public officials to the Coalition Ticket in this county, in which the editor of the News and Observer states that you are seeking to mix Governor Scales up with our county politics. Let us see if Governor Scales has been unjustly connected with the opposition to coalition in this county. Washington Bryan, the gentleman to whose opposition reference was made, is the President of the A. & N. C. R. R. Company, appointed as a Democrat by Gov. Scales, the Democratic governor of the State. Mr. Bryan is therefore a Democratic official intimately connected with Gov. Scales and directly responsible to him for his management of this public property. He was appointed for the express purpose of managing the road upon business principles and eliminating it from politics. But what is he doing in his official capacity? He is, as is well known in this community, using not only his personal influence, which amounts to but little, but the official position which he holds under Gov. Scales as President of the A. & N. C. R. R. Company, to defeat not the Republican portion of the Coalition ticket but the Democratic. He publicly announces that he will expend every effort and invest every dollar that he can control to defeat Hon. C. C. Clark, the Democratic candidate for the State Senate. I am assured that Gov. Scales has received information of this state of affairs and yet it is permitted to continue. How can it be expected that Gov. Scales should not be connected with this organized official opposition to the Democratic nominee for the State Senate in this county. When Washington Bryan ceases to use his position as President of the A. & N. C. R. R. Company to defeat the action of the Democrats of Craven county, the people will be satisfied that the Governor is not in sympathy with the opposition, but until then no reasonable man can ask that the Governor be permitted to escape the responsibility which the official action of his subordinate imposes on him.

The Strike Practically Ended.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—There is no change in the situation in the packing house district this morning. The armed guard now consists of 500 men. The Armour firm now has 800 men at work, and began slaughtering cattle this morning in a small way, but has not yet attempted to commence operations in its pork-packing branch, and does not expect to do so today.

LATER.—The great strike at the stock yards is practically settled. Delegate Barry, of the Knights of Labor, has just stated today to a reporter that he would have an interview with the packers this afternoon and that he would tell them that the men were prepared to work ten hours a day, as demanded by the packers. He should use every endeavor to have the packers discharge all non-union men they had brought in, but he would not keep the men out, he said, even if the packers refused to grant this. Armour & Co. said they would not discharge any of the men they have brought in, and that as far as they are concerned they feel almost independent of the strikers. They killed 500 cattle yesterday with their new men and expect to kill six hundred today.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—The strike of the packing house workmen was formally ended this evening. The strikers had a mass-meeting about 3 o'clock, at which between 12,000 and 14,000 were present. The proposition to return to work on the ten-hour plan was carried almost unanimously, and the strike was declared at an end.

Shooting Down Strikers.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—As about 100 discharged Pinkerton men were on their way to the city today in cars from the stock yards they were hoisted and stoned by a crowd of strikers near Fortieth street. One of them, in exasperation, finally fired his Winchester rifle into a crowd through the east window, mortally wounding Dennis Bagley, a well-to-do teamster. Another train load of Pinkerton men will start from the yards this afternoon and serious trouble is feared as the crowds are furious at the shooting and vow vengeance. It is said that a large number of strikers are dissatisfied at the order of the executive committee sending them back to work and are holding secret meetings to discuss the situation.

Word was immediately sent to the Chicago authorities, and upon the arrival of the train here the entire lot of forty non-union workmen, who were also on the train, were arrested and locked up in Harrison street station house. From later accounts it appears that the shooting was not confined to one man, but that all the Pinkerton men joined in the fusillade. When the train passed through the crowd at Halsted street, the men were again greeted with jeers, when a large stout man with a red face, clothed in the Pinkerton uniform, stepped out on the back platform and fired his revolver into the crowd. This was a signal for a general volley and fifteen or twenty Pinkerton men began to fire their rifles from the car windows. Fully thirty shots were fired, fences and shanties along the track being marked by the bullets.

COALITION.

NUMBER FIVE.

When the present management assumed charge of the A. & N. C. R. R. it was announced, that the road was to be run strictly on business principles; this inferentially meant that it was not to be mixed up with politics. The announcement was received with approval and a strict adherence was looked for; it was not expected that any member of the management would surrender his political convictions, or forego his individual privilege of voting for whom he pleased, but inasmuch as every officer of the road owed his position to the Democratic party, through the instrumentality of a Democratic Governor, that whatever political action was taken it would be in the interest of that party and in conformity to the policy formulated by Democratic committees and conventions.

Now for the facts which coalition became an accomplished fact was formally and officially sanctioned by the Democratic party of Craven county it was discovered that the President of the A. & N. C. R. R. and every official of any importance who expressed any opinion on the subject, were found in opposition to the movement, and still were combining and acting with the ultra members of the Republican party for its defeat. This is not mere conjecture, but a fact. The Hahn faction who ordinarily could not buy a ticket from station to station, bought daily passengers over the road, its freight and daily became the most prominent associates of Hahn and they mutually visited the various hanging out places of the Democratic party; he became an almost constant attendant at anti-coalition meetings, he employed and carried a stenographer to take notes, and he carried a camera to take photographs, and he carried a typewriter to take notes, and he carried a typewriter to take notes, and he carried a typewriter to take notes.

Now in view of this gentleman's life long political pronouncements is not this action the most unaccountable when attempted to be explained by any open or above board argument or reason as it is susceptible of explanation by any rule governing honorable men, unless they have an ulterior and underhand selfish motive? It is not, and hence we are forced to the conclusion that the unholy alliance between the railroad and the most disreputable wing of the Republican party hides within its ramifications a scheme that bodes no good to the people or interests of Craven county. It is so unaccountable and unnatural an alliance that even if there were not grave and important issues involved it would arouse suspicion—but now when an occasion has arisen an opportunity offered for the partial redemption of Craven county, when its wants and grievances may be suitably presented and remedies demanded by its most talented sons when in fact every good man, and especially every Democrat who has everything to gain and nothing to lose is called upon to come manfully forward and help the good work along, we find this gentleman and his associates combining with the very worst elements in the community and we are forced to the conclusion that the motive will not bear the light of day. It is a striking illustration of the influences that govern a man in public life; this gentleman who in the ordinary affairs of life is the peer of any honorable gentleman, who would scorn to stoop to a mean or dishonorable act, is yet because (as we are forced to conclude) of his connection with a railroad, is ready to class political hands with any element that will aid in the defeat of Hon. C. C. Clark and thus prevent a mountain of obstruction from being placed in the way of the consummation of measures proposed for action in the next General Assembly. It is a disgraceful and lamentable spectacle, when such personal influence and means are used in a secondary sense to again put upon the people of the county the Greens, Husesys, Hahns, Hancock et homines, and particularly the defeat of such men as Clark, Lane, Stimson and Hubbs, to the end that some railroad scheme, which were it honest would be made known to our people in the fullest possible manner that they might judge of its merits, is to be put through.

Excitement in Texas.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Texas, by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. B. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed or raise his head; everybody said he was dying of Consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds.
