The bridge force of the A. & N. C. R. R. has been at work on Trent river bridge this week. It is being put in thorough repair.

Every voter should see that his name is on the registration book of his ward or precinct if he wishes to vote in the election next Tuesday.

A gentle shower of rain fell on Tuesday night and made the city quite pleasant yesterday. This was the first October shower this year.

The candidates on the People's Ticket had a large crowd at Maple Cypress on Tuesday. A good majority for the ticket will be reported from that precinct.

Book in the Building and Loan Association is being rapidly taken. From the plan of operations as has been explained to us it is a safe and paying investment.

Article on coalition today is to the effect: We hope every voter who is a reader of the JOURNAL will read it carefully. The reasoning is sound and incontrovertible.

Today is to be a great day in New York City, it being the day set apart for the unveiling of the Bartholdi statue. A brief history of the statue is to be found on our editorial page today.

The appointment of the gas works is trimming his lamps preparatory to lighting the streets the first of next month. We will have the lights in time to see how the election has gone next Tuesday night.

In response to an inquiry for old books a bound volume of the North Carolina Sentinel, a paper published in New Berne in 1837-38-39-40, has been sent in by Mr. Baxter. It doubtless contains many facts which would be interesting to our people, some of which we may reproduce.

The Hahn crowd have announced a big barbecue at L. J. Moore's plantation, three miles from this city, on Friday. The whole South Fork are in receipt of an invitation to be present. If there is much barbecue to eat, coalitionists will have to attend and eat it, for there are not enough of the other crowd now to eat much of a barbecue.

The Fair season for the next month will be in full blast. Several towns in the State will have large gatherings and the people from the surrounding country will have an exhibition of their products and live stock. There are many of our citizens who are anxious for a Fair at New Berne, but strange to say, those whom it would benefit most stand aloof and throw all the cold water they can command on it whenever it is mentioned.

The Registration. From an examination of the registration books in some of the wards in this city the vote in Craven county is likely to be tight one. In the first ward the registration is behind that of two years ago some eighteen or twenty, and in the 2d ward we are informed it is about forty short. There is time yet for those to register, and we again call their attention to the fact that a new registration has been ordered and every man must go to the registers and see that his name is there.

Personal. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hutcheson have returned to New Berne for the winter. We are pleased to note that Maj. W. A. Kearne is out again after being confined to his room for several weeks with sickness.

Mrs. Isaac Patterson has returned from a visit North. Mr. Joseph Maids, of White Oak, Jones county, is in the city and reports politics quiet in his end of the county, but Simmons will get a full vote.

The Elizabeth City Fair. The first annual exhibition of the Elizabeth City Fair will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, November 2d, 4th and 5th, 1886. Special rates have been offered by the Old Dominion S. S. Co. to those wishing to attend the Fair by the route of the elegant steamer Shenandoah.

We would like to see an interest worked up in this community in this Fair. It is easy of access, the water route being much better for the transportation of stock and other articles for exhibition than by railroad to other points. We want to get better acquainted with the people of "Betay" so that when we have our Fair at New Berne, which we will some day, they will want to come to see us.

The races will come off on Friday and quite a nice sum is offered as premiums. If there are any trotters in this community they would stand a chance of getting a premium if they would attend the Fair and carry their horses.

Coalition. We hear it occasionally alleged that there are certain Democrats who will not vote for Mr. Clark, the reason assigned being that he is not the sort of man they want; it is admitted that these objecting gentlemen were in favor of coalition, but desired the Democratic wing represented by some one else. The position assumed by these gentlemen is to our mind untenable and can be justified by no patriotic or high standard argument.

What are the facts on Tuesday next the citizens of the county will be called upon to select two members of the Legislature, they are limited as to choice; on the one hand they have George Green, jr., and Jack Hussey, of whom it is admitted without controversy or dispute, that in the event of their election they are intellectually and politically incapacitated from performing suitable legislative service, this too in addition to the fact, that they but represent the worst and most radical faction of the Republican party.

On the other hand you have Hon. C. C. Clark and Wm. B. Lane, Esq., gentlemen in their respective walks of life the peers of any in the county. Of Mr. Clark it would be a work of supererogation to enumerate the qualities that peculiarly fit him for the position for which he is a candidate, suffice it to say that he would be the intellectual, social and moral peer of any man in the next State Senate; he represents the best, purest and dearest interests of Craven county and is approved of by the best elements of the Republican and large majority of the Democratic party.

Now admitting that for some cause or other some of you do not like Mr. Clark, under the circumstances it is not at best, or worst, a choice of two evils; if this be so, is not Mr. Clark immeasurable the least? Surely every candid man will admit this. This being so, it will not do to say that you will not vote at all, for by so determining you virtually vote for the other side. Now let us reason together: it is admitted that with the class of legislative representation we have had the interests of Craven county have languished and been imperiled, that injustice has been done us and that such men as Green and Hussey are incapable of helping or checking these evils; that in fact the body politic is diseased.

Now in the case of the physical body, when we desire the services of a surgeon to perform an operation, for the removal of an excrescence, we do not stop to ask his religious belief or whether he agrees or differs with us on some ethical point, we hardly care to know of what college he is a graduate, but what we do care to know, is he capable of performing the operation and is he the best surgical aid we can get at the time? If so we employ him. Now as in the case of the physical body, so in that of the political body, and in this particular case Clark is the best we can obtain and it is our duty to secure his services.

Look at it as you will, the stubborn fact remains that if you fail to support Clark you help Green, and in helping Green you assist in retaining that which you all admit you would be gladly rid of. We need every vote, the man who has a ballot is a power either for good or evil, and the gentlemen whom we address we know wish to exercise it in the interest of the former.

We cannot disguise the fact that failure by any Democrat under existing circumstances to support Mr. Clark will lay that man under the suspicion of having other than patriotic motives, or moved by mere pique. However erroneous the conclusion might be it will be held, because to the candid and unprejudiced mind there can be no good ground of opposition. In this discussion we have not appealed to such men as the President of the A. & N. C. R. R., who have an avowed hostility to Mr. Clark for personal and selfish reasons of their own, but to the men who while differing only on minor points are disposed to place themselves in such a position as may render them liable to the charge of being allies to the railroad ring and hence placed in a false position.

"Choose ye this day between us" and VOTE FOR COALITION.

Death of Mrs. A. T. Stewart. NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Stripped of the great fortune left her by her husband, Mrs. A. T. Stewart, who died this morning, was not a remarkable woman, and though the possessor of millions, she was not a woman to be envied. Since her husband's death she has lived solitary in her Fifth avenue marble palace could scarcely have been a happy one. She did not figure in society. Her name was not prominent in the benevolent enterprises, though her private benefactions are said to have been large. Her great house always seemed as cold and uninviting as a sepulchre. She was rarely seen outside the doors. When she did enter the street it was in such state that the old lady seemed uncomfortable and unhappy. Little is known of her later life. She leaves a great fortune and a palace, but no children to weep over her coffin, and only a few friends to follow her as mourners to the splendid mausoleum built at Garden City to contain the stolen body of her husband. And yet Mrs. Stewart was an estimable lady and her life has been free from fault. Mrs. Stewart last left her home last Friday, when she dined with Mrs. Henry Hilton, wife of ex-Judge Hilton, the friend of her husband, the executor of his will and the administrator of his estate. On returning she caught cold, and on Saturday and Sunday was unable to leave her bed. This morning she was thought to be better, but at 10 o'clock she died suddenly of congestion of the lungs and heart trouble. Mrs. Stewart was the eldest daughter of James Church, a pioneer merchant of this city. She was born in 1822, and was married to Mr. A. T. Stewart in 1823 by the late Rev. Dr. Mitchell. In 1829 she was small and of slender form. Those who are in attendance say that in death her face wears a peaceful expression as though she were asleep, and is very natural in appearance.

It was stated today by an intimate friend of Mrs. Stewart that the mansion and the large collection of paintings have probably been willed to the city as the nucleus of a great public art gallery. It is thought that the larger part of the estate will be left to ex-Judge Hilton. The principal pictures in the marble palace are Rosa Bonheur's "Horse Fair," David Huntington's "Washington's Reception," Meissonier's "Charge of Cuirassiers," "The Disputed Boundary," by Erskine Nicol; "The Village Festival," by Kraus, the greatest of German painters; "After the Ball," by Alfred Stevens; a masterpiece by Bouguereau, one by Fortuny, and many others. The collection is the finest of modern painters in America. Mr. Stewart did not care much for the old masters. The collection is worth over $1,000,000. The Meissoniers alone cost $60,000, and the Bonheurs $35,000. Among the statuary in the house are some fine masterpieces—Power's Greek Slave, Eve, Paul and Virginia. Mrs. Stewart's wealth is estimated at from $20,000,000 to $50,000,000.

FOREIGN NEWS. LONDON, Oct. 25.—Four deaths from cholera occurred on the British troopship Euphrates, near the Azores, homeward bound.

The Times' correspondent at Berlin says: Emperor William looks astonishingly well. At the opera he heartily lead the cheering of scenes in the military ballet. I learn from an undoubted source that Bismarck is equally averse to Russian occupation of Bulgaria and English exit from Egypt, in accordance with French notions. M. Herbet is making a most favorable impression.

VIENNA, Oct. 25.—Political Correspondence has a telegram from Sofia saying Russian partisans there circulated a report that two Russian frigates have arrived at Varna. The Bulgarian government put no faith in the report, and considered it was invented with the object of intimidating the people.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 25.—The czar and Czarina, yesterday, after unveiling the monument in memory of the Russo-Turkish war, attended lunch given by officers of the army. The czar, proposing a toast to the officers, said: "In dining to you, permit me to wish you success and full enjoyment of health in the future. I thank you for the hardships you underwent in the war between Russia and Turkey, and I express these thanks in the name of him who is no longer among us. Once more I thank you."

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The Figaro says it is expected that De Giers, the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, will issue a circular to the Powers declaring active measures necessary to terminate the Anarchy prevailing in Bulgaria, on the ground that it is dangerous to the peace of the Balkan States and offensive to Russia.

DUBLIN, Oct. 25.—The Royal Commission, which has been inquiring into the causes of recent riots in Belfast concluded its labors.

The Irish Times says the report is in circulation that the Government's conciliation programme includes a visit of the Queen to Ireland in 1887. It says the Ministry has already submitted the project to the Queen, who entertains the suggestion favorably.

A Red Mix. Thousands of men and women all over our country are silently miserable, while the outside world think you have no cause to grieve. Red Mix. We pronounce no anathemas against any other remedy, but we insist that one single bottle of B. B. B. will do more in the cure of any case of blood poison than twelve bottles of any other. Our book is free and it tells the tale. Address: BLOOD BALM CO., Atlanta, Ga.

Hoping for an Explanation. RICHMOND, Oct. 24.—Many people here are hoping that something authoritative may come from the President or from Mrs. Cleveland explaining her failure to accompany the President to Richmond. There is no bitter feeling here, for the President made an excellent impression, and won over even the few who were opposed to him among the Democrats. But at the same time there is a fear that the Miss Davis episode will be used by his enemies against him in the South. A well-known Georgian, who was in this city and met the President for the first time, said this evening: "If Mrs. Cleveland would write a little note to Mrs. Lee, stating the facts of the case, it would be worth many thousands of votes to the Democrats in the South this fall. I scout the idea that Jefferson Davis's daughter had anything to do with the change of programme, but the contrary reason has been so assiduously circulated by the political opponents of the President that it will be hard to make a good many of the more ignorant people believe otherwise."

A statement has been published in some of the Northern papers, emanating from Washington, to the effect that the President changed the plan himself because he was unwilling to attend a second formal reception where the masses would not be expected—that is at the Governor's mansion. So far as this reception is concerned this is an error. Gov. Lee expected the public to call on Mrs. Cleveland and the ladies of her party at his mansion. This reception was proposed especially for Mrs. Cleveland's benefit and for the benefit of the ladies who accompanied her. Gov. Lee last winter inaugurated a series of monthly receptions from 8 to 12 o'clock at night, to which the public was invited, and these receptions were crowded with all classes. He is very Democratic in his tastes.

Miss Winnie Davis, so far as the most diligent inquiry can elicit, has never opened her lips in regard to the non-attendance of Mrs. Cleveland.

An Old Citizen Speaks. Mr. J. M. Norris, an old resident of Rome, Ga., says, that he had been badly troubled with kidney complaint for a great many years and with scema for three years; at times could scarcely walk and had tried many remedies without benefit, until he began taking Electric Bitters and a month his hands and feet with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. This treatment afforded him great relief and he strongly recommends Electric Bitters to all who suffer with kidney complaints, or need a blood purifier. Sold by Hancock Bros.

The Supreme Court and the Railroads. The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States yesterday touching the vexed question of the right of railroads to charge more for the shorter than for the longer haul must have the effect of strengthening the hands of those members of the Forty-ninth Congress who favor the prohibition by Federal law of the unjust practice. The court decided, it is true, that Illinois could not regulate commerce between points within its limits and New York, because such commerce is interstate commerce and subject, therefore to regulation only by the Federal Legislature, but it is intimated that such regulation would be just and should be undertaken by Congress. A strong minority of the court even held that as Congress has not yet legislated on the subject, Illinois had the power to regulate charges on interstate commerce on its own railroads and within its own limits, no matter where the traffic came from or what was its destination. The net effect of the decision is, it must be confessed, to restrict somewhat the State's power, but its general drift is such as to inspire railroad reformers in and out of Congress.—Balt. Sun.

His Bones Protruded Through The. A prominent Alabama physician said: "A patient who was almost dying from the effects of Tertiary Syphilis and who had been treated by several noted physicians without benefit, used one dozen bottles of B. B. B. and was entirely cured. He had ulcers on his arms, and the bones protruded through the flesh and skin at the elbow, and death seemed inevitable."

Bold in New Berne by R. N. Duffy and E. H. Meadows. A Little Girl Killed and Partially Devoured by a Bear. CLEVELAND, Oct. 25.—This morning, Rosa, a two year old daughter of Henry Doerback, a saloon keeper, met with a horrible death, being almost eaten alive by a bear. The little girl was playing in her father's back yard and got through a fence into the yard of a neighbor named Kerns, who kept a bear chained in the rear of his lot. The child ventured too near the bear, which knocked her down and commenced devouring her. The body was horribly mutilated before the child could be rescued. The owner of the bear was arrested on the charge of manslaughter.
