One of the nestest jobs of carving we have seen for some time was at Willis' marble yard yesterday. It is on a double tablet which Mr. Willis is preparing to be erected to the memory of W. F. Phillips and wife, deceased, of Kinston. The carving is an open book and clasped hands surrounded by a wreath of flowers made up of roses, lilies, sunflo ers, morning glories, dahlias, camellias and ipomeas, the intervening spaces being filled with ivy, rose and lily leaves, etc., etc.

This tablet will be an additional ornament to the cemetery at Kinston, also another testimonial of Mr. Willis' exquisite taste in finishing up such Fruit and Grape Grower.

We have received a number of this alusble monthly published at Charlotteaville, Va., at $1 a year under the auspices of the Fruit and Grape-Grow ere' Association of that place. It has au editor-in chief with a corps of ten practical fruit and grape growers as associate editors, whose work is done with ability. Its purpose and scope are to teach the advantages and disadvantages of different varieties of fruit, how to cultivate? how to gather, and how to pack and market fruits of different kinds. It also treats of diseases and insects injurious to vines, trees and fruits, and how to destroy the one and prevent and cure the other; and in general it seeks to advance the interests of fruit-growers. Of course all these subjects are not discussed in each issue, but it is devoted to those subjects, and the subjects as they are discussed are handled with intelligence and ability

It is a 16 page monthly gotten up in good style and is full of varied and valuable matter.

Building and Losn Associations and Their Advantages.

It is a well known fact that the great increase in building in the last five years in the city of Charlotte, has been mainly due to the building and loss associations of this city. Several hundred thousand dollars have been in vested in homestead, which would otherwise been spent for useless purposes. It has enabled the renter to secure a home for himself and family and given him a deeper interest in the the married man to received an additional rate of interest on his money It has been the means of giving to the mechanic and laborers of our city the beautiful cottages which can be seen on almost, if not every street in our city Why should not the rich and poor alikencourage these associations? Let us exemplify. Suppose a person buys five shares of stock and desires to borrow $500. Five shares of stock will cost $1.25 per week. Interest per week on $500 is 77 cts., making a total of $2 02. Now suppose the stock will reach the par value of $100 per share in five years and six months which can and has been done. This makes a total of 286 weeks -286x2 02-$577.72. As any one can readily see that a borrower has a loan of $500 for 54 years for $77.72 interest which is a fraction less than 3 per cent On the other hand the party who has stock in the association, and does not borrow any money on it pays in 286x $1.25-$360, and draws out $500, mak ing a net gain of $140 to average the computation of interest on one half of the amount paid in for the full time which is considered a safe basis for calculation, you have a rate of 14 per cent interest on your money. The question now arises, how does the association make and realize so high a rate of interest; the answer is in compounding the interest weekly. Where in North Carolina can a man borrow as chesp and lend his money at a higher rate of interest? Why not take stock while you have an opportunity? The books of the People's Building and Loan As sociation will be open for subscribers to stock in class three, on Monday, Dec 13th, 1886, to commence their payments The 1st class will reach par value in the above time specified, 5† years, and the stockholders in the lst class, many of whom have been able to purchase homes, will take stock in the new class besides numerous others who intend taking stock and have subscribed. About 400 shares have been subscribed Any person desiring to subscribe and would like further particulars can ap-ply to E. K. P. Osborne, Esq., president, Heriot Clarkson, attorney for the
