The Quintette Club will arrive tonight in a special car of their own.

The publisher William H. Rutan from Philadelphia for New Berne has been seized at New Castle, Del., for wharfage incurred.

The theatre will be thoroughly warmed tonight and comfortable for those who attend to hear a first-class entertainment.

Cottage prayer meeting, conducted by the Y. M. C. A., at the residence of Mr. John Dowdes on Metcalf street this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The work on Hotel Albert is progressing. Steam pipes for heating, for water and for gas have been put in and the plastering will soon be commenced.

Passengers arriving on the train last Saturday night report seven inches of snow in Goldsboro and about two in Kinston. After crossing Neuse river about one mile below Kinston there was scarcely any to be seen.

The "Oxford Orphan's Friend" says: Bro. Thos. Daniels, of New Berne, has given us the heaviest "clubbing" we have ever received. The size of his club is $50.75. We do not object to this kind of treatment, and hope that many of our brethren will meet us at the Grand Lodge armed with a big club.

Rev. Dr. J. B. Mack conducted services at the Presbyterian Church on Sunday, and preached the annual sermon before the Evangelical Alliance Association on Sunday night. He is assisting the pastor, Rev. Mr. Vase, in conducting a series of meetings this week. He is a good speaker and appears to be a thorough Bible student.

Personal.
Mr. J. W. Quinby and Maj. M. C. Smith, of Pitt county, arrived on the steamer Trent yesterday evening.

Mr. B. K. Mason and lady, of Hartford, Conn., are in the city visiting relatives.

WEEKLY READING FREE.
Complaints are made by several of our citizens that their flower pits have been invaded by ruthless hands and their best selections carried off. Our policemen will do well to look after them. Perhaps they may secure a reward.

Members of the Quintette Club.
A private letter from parties in Baltimore says that the performance of this club during their stay in that city was one of the grandest musical treats that had ever been witnessed there. We are informed that they play upon fifty different instruments. Remember the rush Christmas night and secure seats early.

Patrol Accident.
Louis Shanty, one of the best hands in the employment of the Neuse and Trent River Steamboat Co., while lifting a piece of heavy timber yesterday fell with a painful accident. A rod extended through the timber at the end which Louis carried and when it was laid down it rolled over, the rod being sharp at the end struck his right foot, went through his back and into the foot straight on. He was taken to the marine hospital and Dr. Bates called to attend him.

Train Connections.

There is some complaint, and we think justly so, in regard to the train connections at Goldsboro. On Saturday last the A. & N. C. R. passenger train was a few minutes late in reaching Goldsboro, so we are informed, but arrived just as the north bound train on the W. & W. was pulling out. Ten minutes delay on the part of the W. & W. would have secured the connection and there would have been no delay in express freight and passengers. As it was both these had to wait over for the next train.

In the evening the south bound train on the W. & W., which brings the letter mail and the Norfolk, Richmond, Washington and Baltimore papers for points east of Goldsboro, was a few minutes late but rolled into Goldsboro just as the A. & N. C. train was pulling out. Ten minutes delay on the part of the A. & N. C. R. train would have avoided forty-eight hours delay (we have no Sunday train) in mail and passengers.

We mention these circumstances for the purpose of calling the attention of the two lines to the great inconvenience to which people are often put, with the hope that they may have some understanding in the future that will remedy it. The train dispatcher of the W. & W. at Goldsboro, if they have one, ought to be able to inform the conductors when a train on either line is behind and how much, and when they are only a few minutes behind it would seem that common sense and a proper regard for the conveniences of the public would suggest that they wait for the connections.

Who Shall The Farmers Obey?
We publish today two calls for farmers to assemble in Raleigh. One call is from the Governor as chairman of the Board of Agriculture. He wishes the farmers to go to Raleigh on the night of the 18th inst. to meet with the Board of Agriculture and discuss matters pertaining to the farming interests. An other call is from Col. L. L. Polk, editor of the Progressive Farmer. He wants a mass convention of farmers in Raleigh on the 26th inst.

These two calls are before our farmer readers who can pay their money and take their choice. We suppose the railroads will offer the usual reduced rates of travel. Col. Polk, in the last issue of the Progressive Farmer, gives the Governor some pretty severe raps for setting aside one night to be devoted to the farming interests of the State, and it seems there is some misunderstanding as to the night; we have seen it in some papers that the call is made for the night of the seventeenth, but the call itself says the 18th.

The farmers would doubtless like to know why this difference between the Governor and Col. Polk, who was once at the head of the department and is now publishing a first-class agricultural journal. As Governor Jarvis is expected to close up the ranks of the Democrats in 1888 and again lead them to victory perhaps it would be well for him to intercede now and unite these warring elements of the farmer's friends. It will not do for the Democrats to enter the campaign in 1888 with the leaders of the great agricultural masses at war with each other.

Communications.
We wish it understood that we do not endorse everything that appears in this paper as a communication. We are always ready and willing to give space to communications upon matters of interest to the public, but would prefer that the writers should avoid personalities. Of course when a communication discusses the conduct of a public officer, the writer, as a citizen and taxpayer, has a right to criticize the acts of such officer.

In this issue appears a communication severely criticizing the conduct of Mr. Washington Bryan as president of the A. & N. C. Railroad. The JOURNAL, while it opposed Mr. Bryan in the recent political campaign in this county, has never seen any cause for attacking his management of the A. & N. C. Railroad. We feel sure that he has given it his entire time, and while he may have made mistakes, upon the whole, his administration will compare favorably with that of others.

If he is still endeavoring to keep Messrs. Clark and Lane out of the General Assembly, we presume he is simply using his influence as an individual and not as president of the A. & N. C. Railroad. But the rumor is now prevalent, as it was during the campaign, that he is using his influence with Independents and Republicans at Raleigh to unseat the representatives from Craven. If these reports are untrue, we think Mr. Bryan, in justice to himself, should say so publicly.

Catharine Lewis fainted one night in "Olive-tree," but it didn't cause a ripple in the play. "I was only a cough, and they had a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup on hand, of course."

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Special to the JOURNAL.
RALPHIGH, N. C., Jan. 10, 1887.

In the Senate today a bill was introduced to so amend the Constitution as to reduce personal property exemption to $200, homestead to $300 and repeal exemption for work done by laborers or mechanics; another to dispense with county boards of education.

In the House resolutions were introduced asking repeal of internal revenue laws; also one raising committee to investigate department of agriculture, and another declaring in favor of protective tariff. Latter was made special order. Among bills introduced were one repealing appropriation to University; to provide for drainage of public lands by convict labor; create railway commission. House and Senate passed resolution relieving Governor from duty of ordering election in 5th Congressional district. Finix's bill to repeal county government was after much debate made special order for 25th inst. Republicans, headed by York, pressed for immediate action, saying their side was ready to vote, but Democrats demanded more time and got it until date named by vote of 54 to 33.

Preachers Move—Good Comes of It.
EDITOR JOURNAL—I wish to thank the JOURNAL for uniform kindness the last three years.

My late move from Jones to Nash made many hearts glad. I have no reason to think that any one in Jones was glad for me to leave them. Helping me to move made them glad. The faces of Wm. McDaniel, Elijah McDaniel, Ivey Pollock showed that they were glad to offer teams, wagons and drivers to take our freight to the depot. John W. Wooten certainly was glad to furnish a mule to help move the family 80 miles to Nashville. W. H. Andrews and wife, of Jones, evinced great pleasure in entertaining their retiring pastor's family, and calling together some of their neighbors for religious worship at noon of the first day's move. Henry A. Edwards had shown many kindnesses to us and added yet another by furnishing a mule for four days. Elbert Darden, of Greene, (they call him "Bright") was a happy man when I told him I wanted to borrow a mule for two days. His face was bright as he brought out the mule for our use. T. J. Meacham, of Kinston, and J. A. Lane, of Stantonburg, evidently enjoyed entertaining us for a night each. While we were receiving and appreciating these kindnesses, we remembered the words of the Lord Jesus, "It is more blessed to give than to receive," and almost reached the conclusion that our preachers ought to move oftener and move across the country.

We have been kindly received in Nash. The railroad from Rocky Mount to Raleigh is to reach Nashville in a few months. We hope to build a Methodist parsonage in Nashville this year.

Yours, etc.,
A. D. BETTS.

24th Anniversary Emancipation Celebration.

KINSTON, N. C., Jan. 5, 1887.
Chief Marshal S. O. Mason and his aids paraded the principal streets, headed with the well-known city band and followed by several hundred persons in procession; then to the court house, after which the chairman of the finance committee made an appeal for $25 to defray expenses. The amount was collected at once, after which the following consists of the further exercises:

J. C. Hargett called the meeting to order by vocal music. Then prayer by Chaplain Ferabee. Then the association was nicely entertained by hearing the emancipation proclamation read by Mr. R. L. Parrott. Then poems were read by Messrs. C. T. Williams, M. E. Parrott and M. E. Borden.

Hon. G. H. White, after having been introduced, said owing to the lateness of the hour he was compelled to epitomize his speech. However, in the course of remarks, as the larasites were delivered by chief-commander Moses from their oppression, as the proud and boasting Caucasian rejoiced under command-in-chief George Washington of his "race's" achievement from the British yoke, so also should the colored American celebrate his emancipation wrought by that great patriotic and slave-liberator Abraham Lincoln.

He further said that those who did not regard this day (first January) and fully understand it (of his race) was unthankful, and he was also an ingrate and was like that servant whom the Lord gave money and hid it in the ground.
The solicitor warned and beseeched the young men to be and live honest, and so doing the race would improve and criminals would diminish. To the young ladies he also admonished to be zealous, and under all circumstances foster virtue. "It is hoped that all preachers and teachers will hereafter more so than ever, teach it in all spheres of life, for it is one of vital importance."
J. C. HARGETT, Pres.
O. W. PARROTT, Sec'y.

Mr. J. A. Price, Deputy Inspector State Tobacco Warehouse, No. 5, Baltimore, Md., says: One of my children had been suffering with neuralgia for some time. A friend recommended Salvation Oil. I procured a bottle and a few applications, to my surprise, effected a complete cure. I take pleasure in recommending it to all persons similarly affected.

The President of the A. & N. C. Railroad.

Oh Craven! how long will you allow the unbridled tongue of your defamers go unrebuked? Is there no bound to your patience? Has your manhood deserted you? Has the trenchant pen of your gifted sons ceased to be supplied with liquid fire?

The shameless affront to the wishes of the people of Craven county, irrespective of party, by the hypocritical president of the A. & N. C. R., Washington Bryan, is only eclipsed by the malignant ferocity in which he pursues Messrs. Clark and Lane, our members of the General Assembly. The charitable say forbear criticism upon Mr. Bryan, he is a crank. We do not question that; for that reason it is said his friends urged his appointment, thinking something to envelop his mind would improve his health, for no one would have selected him for his business qualifications or his knowledge of railroad affairs. It is current that when His Excellency Gov. Soles made this aristocratic appointment he required a godfather to it. His presence at Raleigh at this juncture are evidently manifestations of the want of perfect nutrition of the brain, owing to the racial condition of his system. During the recent canvass Mr. Bryan associated himself with the worst element of the Republican party, headed by Bob Hancock (a prince of scoundrels and a distinguished captain in the Holden and Kirk war, having made the arrest of that eminent statesman and Christian gentleman, the late Hon. W. A. Graham), to defeat the action of the democratic convention of Craven, by using the patronage and influence of the A. & N. C. R. to accomplish it. Not satisfied with this aid rendered the most corrupt ring of political scamps that ever buldozed an eastern county, he has departed from the principles suggested by Gov. Soles that the road should be managed on business principles, has left the road in the hands of his subordinates, and now occupies the graceful position of Paul Pry democratic caucus and a go-between independent service or credit in the State, than the Hon. Chas. C. Clark. A more judicious and naturally popular nomination has not been made in Craven in many years. His great ability and accomplishments, his political enemies will not dispute. It is this honored and favored son of Craven that is the victim of Washington Bryan's hatred and spite, and to accomplish his embroilment, associates himself with Kirk desperadoes of omne genus to defeat the will of down-trodden Craven. Let this Judas lie in the bed that he has made with his graceless companions.

MEMORANDA.
Renews Her Youth.
Mrs. Phoebe Chesley, Peter S. Day Co., Iowa, tells the following remarkable story, the truth of which is vouched for by the residents of the town. In 73 years old, she has been troubled with kidney complaint and lameness for many years; could not dress herself without help. Now I am free from all pain and soreness, and am able to do all my own housework. I owe my thanks to Electric Bitters for having renewed my youth, and removed completely all diseases and pains. Try a bottle, only 50c. at R. N. Duffy's drug store.

A Joint Meeting.
At the December meeting of the Board of Agriculture, the night of the 18th of January, 1887, was fixed for a meeting to be set apart for the discussion of topics appertaining to the material interests of the State. This appointment is made in obedience to Section 3 of the Act "Establishing a Department of Agriculture, Immigration and Statistics," etc. The object is for the benefit of the farmers of the State, and a large attendance is respectfully solicited.
A. M. SCALES,
Ch' Ex-officio Board of Agriculture.

Both Hands Up.
NEWMAN, Ga., June 4, 1885.
For over two years I have been a sufferer from Rheumatism, affecting both shoulders to such an extent that I could not put on my coat without help. The use of seven bottles of E. B. B. effected an entire cure. I refer to Rev. W. W. Wadsworth and all merchants of Newman.

Farmers' Mass Convention.
We are authorized to announce that a farmers' mass convention will be held in the city of Raleigh on Wednesday the 16th day of January, 1887.
Matters of vital importance to the agricultural interests of the State are to be considered, and it is hoped that all sections of the State will be fully represented.—Progressive Farmer.

A GIN FOR ALL.
In order to give all a chance to test it, and thus be convinced of its wonderful curative powers, Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds will be, for a limited time, given away. This offer is not only liberal, but shows unbounded faith in the merit of this great remedy. All who suffer from Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, or any affection of Throat, Chest or Lungs, are especially requested to call at R. N. Duffy's drug store and get a trial bottle free. Large bottles, $1.
