Col. Polk Explains The Two Conventions.

In the last issue of the Progressive Farmer Col. Polk explains the call of the two farmers' conventions at Raleigh. After assuring us that there is no conflict among the farmers, he explains the situation. We copy the article in full, as it contains good sense:

Justice to them, however, requires a plain statement of facts, in answer to the question, "What does it mean?" as doubtless the situation has suggested the question to thousands of others throughout the State. The matter has been discussed with earnest interest, through private correspondence, through this and other papers, and in farmers' clubs and farmers' meetings, for months. In August last, the Forsyth Farmers' Club, composed of ten sub-clubs, issued an address to the farmers of the State, strongly urging a farmers' convention. In November, the club, in response to what evidently appeared to be the sentiment of the farmers of the State, adopted resolutions, suggesting a mass convention of the farmers of the State, on the 19th inst., at Greensboro.

In response to this suggestion, resolutions were adopted by clubs and numerous letters were received from prominent farmers in all sections of the State, all endorsing the convention, but showing a decided preference for Raleigh as the place at which it should be held. Before the time that the place and date (Raleigh, the 26th) was finally decided upon, a notice from Gov. Scales, as ex-officio chairman of the board of agriculture, was mailed to all the papers of the State, announcing that the board had set apart the night of the 18th, for a "joint meeting" of the farmers with the board at Raleigh, "for the discussion of topics appertaining to the material interests of the State."

We were fortunate in having changed the date as well as the place of meeting, since it was plainly evident that those who attended the meeting of the board at Raleigh on the 18th, could not possibly have attended the convention at Greensboro on the 19th, nor was it contemplated by the board, so far as could be judged by the notice published, that the meeting was to assume the proportions of a convention, for it "set apart" only one night for the "joint meeting," and that was fixed on the 18th—the night before the proposed convention at Greensboro.

In the address of the Forsyth county Farmers' Club, quite a number of very important matters were suggested as proper subjects for consideration by a Convention, and which would most probably consume several days. One of these matters was to consider a plan by which the Department of Agriculture could be made more useful to the farmers of the State. Another, and prominent matter, was to perfect a plan of permanent organization, so as to secure an annual convention of the farmers of the State; besides there are a number of other and equally important matters which will engage the attention of the convention. Presumably, many of these matters could not be considered in a meeting called by the board. It certainly could not be done in one night, nor in a day.

The farmers' winter farmers' convention, pure and simple. It was a matter of public knowledge, that the farmers were actively organizing—it was well known that the matter of a convention was being earnestly discussed, and if the time of its meeting was to extend beyond one night, the public had not been informed of it—it was an entirely new departure for the board to call a joint meeting to confer with the farmers, and it was well known to the board, at the time it issued its call for one at Raleigh, on the 18th, that the convention at Greensboro on the 19th had been suggested by these farmers' organization, received no recognition at the hands of the board. It would seem that the board might, at least, have conferred with the farmers with the view of securing united action, if it were desirable.

We trust that it may have a full and profitable meeting, and that it will institute some reforms, especially in the department of agriculture, and such reforms as will meet the hearty endorsement of the farmers of the State. Our readers, and the thousands of farmers throughout the State who have honored us with their presence, will bear us witness that we have not indulged in harsh or unjust criticism of the department of Agriculture, nor will we do so now. Indeed we cannot refrain from congratulating the department on this new departure, which we accept as an indication of a gratifying change in its view as to the farmers.

Conventions. We well remember that,

three years ago, the farmers sought to make some changes in the department—one of the most important was, that the board should call an annual joint convention of the farmers, and they were fought day and night, for weeks and weeks, by members of the board and officers of the department. It is but just to the board to say, however, that but three of its present members were arrayed in that fight against the farmers. Now if the agitation of a Farmers' Convention shall result in getting us two conventions, where we failed to get one before, it is certainly progress in that direction. We say it is a most hopeful sign and we trust that the very earnest effort put forth by the board to secure a large attendance and distinguished speakers will result in some good.

Meantime, there are many good men all over the State who are looking forward with interest to the convention on the 26th. They expect and they demand that this convention will, as far as possible, represent the views and interests of the great mass of farmers throughout the State. And we hazard nothing in saying that this will be done zealously and faithfully. The men who will meet in Raleigh on the 26th will come from the fields, and they will come profoundly impressed with the terrible and deplorable condition of the agricultural interests of our people, and they will seek relief and remedy in a spirit of earnest, honest large-hearted patriotism.

Hard on Craven.

EDITOR JOURNAL.—It is hard upon our poor down-trodden Craven county when a few of her citizens of no personal or political influence should so misrepresent to the Legislature our present state of political affairs as to array the whole strength of the present administration against her best interests.

Of Baltimore's foremost Commission Merchants.

Mr. W. Edwin Chipchase (of Chipchase Bros.) writes:—A few days since I sprained my left foot, the pain was so severe that I could hardly walk at all. I saw your Salvation Oil advertised, so determined to give it a trial. A few applications relieved me entirely and my foot is now as strong as ever. For the relief and cure of sprains and inflammation I regard it as a preparation of great merit.

The Threatened War in Europe.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 20.—A meeting of generals was held at the ministry of war yesterday to discuss the subject of the mobilization of the army. All expressed the opinion that war on the Belgian frontier is inevitable, and that hostilities will probably begin in May or June.

LYONS, Jan. 20.—The men Sydney and Wolfe, arrested here as German spies, have been in this city about ten days. They mingled with the soldiers, and after they had become somewhat intimate with them they offered one 800 francs for his rifle. The soldier pretended to accept the offer, and immediately arranged for the arrest of the spies, which was effected without difficulty.

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—Attention has been drawn to the fact that the French government are buying large quantities of timber in Alsace-Lorraine, with the apparent purpose of building wooden barracks at various points along the frontier.

"Time is money." If you have a bad cold, don't mope around and half do your work. Get a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup; take a dose at night and get up the next morning—cured.

The Glenbeigh Evictions.

DUBLIN, Jan. 20.—Several evictions were made at Glenbeigh, county Kerry, today. The tenants did not offer any resistance, and dwellings were not torn down. Maurice Murphy, one of the tenants evicted at Glenbeigh, owns 27 cows and 2500 in cash. This is not a typical case, although it is believed that all are able to pay their rents. A reporter at Glenbeigh says: "The people here are better clothed than many in the south of Ireland. The land, though poor, is better than most estates. The books show that rent has been greatly reduced."

Agent Ross says that there were arrears of 20,171 in May 1886, which he possibly tried to obtain, offering to cancel 25,318, and demanding only half of last year's rent. Father Quiller wrote to Gen. Buller that he undertook to have the tenants carry this agreement out, and some paid Father Quiller, thus getting an example. Later he wrote to Colonel Turner: "The tenants have broken their promise, and I shall have nothing more to do with them."

A House Renting Open.

Six months ago we had no demand for B. B. B., but now our retail demand is such that we are forced to try in gross lots. We attribute the rapid and enormous demand to the conservative price and price of B. B. B. (being large bottles for $1) and its positive merit. It sells well and gives our customers entire satisfaction. Our sales have increased 500 per cent. within a few months.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Special to the JOURNAL.

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 22, 1887.

In the Senate today a bill was introduced to regulate freight charges by making it unlawful for railway companies to charge more for short hauls than for long hauls, the penalty being $200 for each offence. Another bill introduced was to prevent chattel mortgages being given on growing crops. Bill to increase salaries of Supreme Court Justices was set as special order for February 2, and bill to provide for appeals from decision of county commissioners was made special order for next Wednesday.

Session of House was dull. Among resolutions introduced was one requesting our Senators and Representatives in Congress to use every effort to secure appropriations for completion of improvement of Beaufort harbor and of the New Berne and Beaufort canal. Bill to amend charter of South Atlantic and Northwestern railway passed final reading; resolution was adopted raising special joint committee to consider all bills relative to railway commission and kindred subjects. Bill to create such commission was set as special order for next Thursday.
