TODAY SELECTIONS IN GERMANY

BERLIN, Feb. 20.-There is a pause in the intensity of the electoral conflict pending Monday's polling. Though official circles are sure of victory, they be much less confident that their ma-fority will be large. Their most sanguine estimates increases the number of conservatives from 78 to 86, and the national liberals from 50 to 60, and reduces the freisinnigen from 67 to 50, leaving the other sections about the same as before. The septennist majority is dependent upon a split in the centre party, in which it is calculated there are 69 triennists against 30 septennists. The results of the elections will be known definitely
