FORTY-MINTH DAY.

March 2, 1887 The Senate was called to order at 10 clock by President Stedman. The revenue bill was resumed, the Senate sitting as a committee of the whole, Mr. Pemberton occupying the

Mr. Alexander stated that he had and the effect of the adoption of twenty cents tax. He found that the levy of twenty cents on the hundred dollars and thought, if adopted, it would worth, even with the $106,000 in the treasury would not meet the requirements; that the additional appropriations of this session, with this levy, would work a definit of $205,000. He was, moreover, greatly surprised to find that in 1885 there was a short-age on land, town and personal prop-erty of $7,000,000 without authority of
