Perhaps it is well for us to state once more, as near as we can, for the benefit of our friends abroad, the status of political parties in this city and county. For several years the Republicans have been divided, the breach becoming similar provocation. Signed, The Perwider every year. The Democrats in the meantime had kept solidly together, always giving the State and National tickets their full support, relying upon their Democratic friends in the General Assembly to look out for their interest in that important branch of the government. But the action of the General Assembly of 1884-'85 in several matters affecting the interest of Craven county. followed by the apparent distrusts of the people in this section by the Governor, as shown in his appointments on the A. & N. An Extra Session of Congress. The news from all parts of the State is to the effect that the farmers are buckling down to hard work as never before. They may be making a virtue of necessity, but nevertheless their ap plication indicates a purpose of wresting success by main force, as it were, from the prevailing depression. Such pluck will have its due reward, and the State will speedily feel the effect of the earnest efforts we now hear about. There are no braver people than the farmers of North Carolina. They know how to face misfortune in all its forms, and are not afraid to meet adversity. With the revision of the war-tariff and the stoppage of unbecessary taxation which they have a right to expect and which the Democratic party is doing its utmost to attain, they would be greatly relieved from the burdens which encumber them, from the fetters which bind them in common with a.l the other Notices.
