The Pen Crop.

Instead of a small crop of peas and a big price, as was expected after the severe cold snap in April, it turns out a big crop and the bottom has fallen out of prices. The report now is that there are more peas it on can be picked with the present supply of labor. We fear our truckers are falling into the grievous error so long made by the cotton planters-planting more than they can take care of properly.

"I read the Manufacturer's Record's article on the Star's position as to the condition of farmers," said a gentlemen, and a farmer yesterday, "and I think the Record is right. The talk about hard times is all bosh when we know that a dollar will buy more now than it would before the war, and I know that a dollar is essier made for any of these colored women can make from one to two dollars per day picking peas."

While there is much truth in what this gentleman says, yet it does not exactly cover the point under discussion. It was not the condition of farm labor ers but of the farm owners that was under discussion by the Star and Record. But the fact that farmers can pay laborers remunerative fought with the tenacity and courage has had a large business experience overdraw the picture on the bright side

THE CEREMONIES IN DETAIL.

SMITHFIELD, N. C., May 10, 1887.

The occasion of the unveiling of the monument to the Confederates who fell on the hotly contested field of Bentons ville brought together a vast concourse of visitors from this and other sections. Promptly at 3 o'clock the procession formed at the court house, in the following order: Band, marshals, carriage with the orator, Hon. A. M. Waddell; and the poet, Mr. H. I. Worthington, of Norfolk. Arriving at the cemetery, the Odd Fellows formed a double file. through which the Masons marched. After music by the band the Odd Fellows and Masons laid the corner stone with beautiful and impressive ceremonies. Mr. J. B. Hudson, N. G., of Olive Branch Lodge, No. 37, L O. O. F. deposited in the corner stone a copy of the by-laws of the order, a list of memmoney.

Among the masons present were Mr. D. W. Bain, grand secretary; Mr. Robinson, of Wilmington, grand master, and Mr. Robert Bradley, of Raleigh, grand tyler. There were also representatives from the I. O. O. F. lodges of Goldsboro, Wilson and Fayetteville. Mr. J. T. Ellington, chief marshal of the day, then introduced the poet of the occasion, Mr. H. L. Worthington, Norfolk, who delivered a beautiful original poem. Mr. Worthington is a brother of the solicitor of the third district. He delivered the poem at the Pickett-Buchanan Camp in Norfolk last

Mr. Ed. Pou then, in a graceful and becoming manner, introduced the oradell, that genial and talented man of whom all North Carolinians may justly be proud. The address was a master-piece of eloquence, thought, poetic sentiment and patriotism. Nothing in praise of it could be said which it does

M. Baker's, Of course he was much surprised to hear singing as he entered his store the other morning. Investigation proved that it came from his large new stock of good goods, to be sold for such a small amount of money. Bending closely over the pile his ears were greeted by the last words of the song "How can I leave thee?" "I'll show you how," he marked prices down just 33t per cent Since then the crowd of customers have kept his goods too much stirred up for them to engage in vocal demonstration. There may be a little fiction in this statement, but the plain fact remains that A. M. Baker is selling piles of goods this season, and the reason is they are fine goods very cheap.

The Advantage of Insuring in the Connecticut Mutual Life.

The Company is peculiarly strong by reason of the character of its busines and its financial condition; with over forty years experience.

It offers no speculative inducements. It has no special class of policy-holders who are to get the dividends earned tor of the day, Hon. Alfred M. Wad- and forfeited by others. It has no stockholders to absorb profits directly or indirectly. Every policy-holder is, at its actual cost to the company year by year; the surplus earned being returned to him at the end of each year. It selects its risks with great care and
