The Fourth of July Celebration.

The committee to solicit funds for the Fourth of July celebration were at work yesterday and the prospects are good for a celebration, the like of which has not been held in New Berne in many years. Among the interesting features proposed for the day's exercises is a test of fire companies. A "Bugle Song," and for a mere lad of prize will be offered, open to any fire only 10 years, it was excellent. Sixth company in the State and it is hoped to was Miss Estelle Mills, "Curfew shall make it of sufficient inducement to not ring tonight," which was well rendraw several companies from a distance. If the committee succeed in raising a sufficient amount the meeting next Friday night will take active steps to prepare for it. Let all citizens remember the meeting and be on hand.

Science and Law.

EDITOR JOURNAL-I noticed in you issue of the 29th a card signed by A. T. Hill in regard to the whitewashing of trees. It seems that Mr. J. V. Williams wrote to Mr. Hill to get a favorable answer so he could publish it in the Joursal. Mr. Hill says that the trees in Kinston have been whitewashed for ten successive years and that it has been very beneficial to them, but he gives no reason why it is. Now I do not know whether Mr. Hill is a scientific man or should judge not. The scientific men claim that it is very injurious to trees which is very reasonable because the bark of trees is of the same relation as our skin is to us. Now if we should cover ourself with whitewash or paint is would fill up the pores and would cause us to die. On the same theory it would prevent the tree from getting nourishment out of the air.

Now if Mr. Williams is one of the knowing ones of whom Mr. Hill refers. I would call his attention to chap. iii. sec. 22, of the ordinances of the city of New Berne, which reads thus: "Neither the marshal nor the street committee shall enter upon any work except ordinary repairs without the consent of the board. And whenever any work is proposed to be done, a detailed estimate of the costs shall be sub mitted to the board. And the person charged with the execution of any work chall in all cases make a requisition on the mayor for supplies wanted on the work, and if approved the mayor shall direct the clerk to issue an order for the articles wanted. The clerk may prepare blanks for requisition subject to the approval of the Mayor.

'Bugle Song," and for a mere lad of dered by one so young, and taking age isto consideration I believe it is generaly considered that Miss Estelle Mills and Master Tommie Koonce's renderings were unexcelled. The 9th upon the list was Charlie Koonce, subject, "Spartaous to the gladiators at Corpus," which was admirably rendered. Tenth, Miss Olivia Steed, "The, last Hymn," which was very good. The 11th was Miss Annie Mills, subject, "The Raven. which was beautifully rendered. Miss Mills seems to have almost lost sight of self in the rendition of this beautiful and touching poem which is so full of feeling and pathos, and we could almost imagine that the scene being enacted before us was real, and that the genius and feeling of the lamented and gifted author had been transfused into the soul of the talented young lady be-fore us. As we fancied the surround not, but from appearance in writing I ings pictured by the poet upon that shadow thrown upon the floor' lifted nevermore." Methought I could ee the weried spectral, ghost like 'Raven' with that ominous rapping, rapping at the chamber door. The animation of the speaker increased, and as her voice would rise and fall with the subject, occasionally sparks were emitted from 'The simmbering embers of dramatic fire.' To Miss Mills the Svery heart was touched. This subject conveys a most beautiful lesson upon the importance and necessity of duty and the disastrous effects of duty unfulfilled.

Miss Sarah Hill's rendition of "The Maiden Martyr" was very beautiful and striking, and she was much applauded and deservedly so. Mesars Eubank and Burton acquitted themselves with much credit, as did all the delectable treat to the entire audience. The teachers and patrons, and friends of the school generally could not have made a better selection than that of Mr. T. W. Strange, of Wilmington, as orator for the occasion. I have heard the subject treated often and though old, it is ever new. Education was presented in a new and different light. The gifted speaker laid down his propothem to correct and ligitimate conclusions. He bandled his subject with a sitions forcefully—presented his arguments clear and forcibly and pursued master hand, and none who were present upon that occasion will soon forget the genial, friendly, courtly and eloquent Strange. The subject was a beautiful one, the occasion a grand one, the oration a magnificent literary repast and greatly enjoyed by all.

Lastly, but not the least interesting of all, was the concert at night under the superintendence of Mrs. Joseph Rhodes. It was generally conceded that the pupils showed much skill in the execution of the several pieces assigned, and that they have greatly improved under the training they have received from their musical preceptor.
