THE SUMMER RESORTS.

The heated term is now upon us however fierce the weather may seem. This is probably the last cool spell we shall have until later in the fall. The sun will soon pass the meridian and while retiring from it will shine with increased force for sixty or ninety days. Flannels, overcoats and winter apparel may as well be laid aside and the possessor of them buckle down to the sweltering task of trying to keep cool. The next great question is, where shall we go to obtain the necessary comfort and recreation?

Morehead City is always before us and easy of access while Beaufort from the days of the long past stands without a rival as to comfort, health and pleasure. Nag's Head also offers inducements, which are highly increased by the people who are met with at that resort. The real old North Carolina and Virginian blend in beautiful combination and rival each other in the old time amenities of life at the latter place.

But to the low lander there is nothing like a trip to the mountains. There are the high hills towering above the clouds, the green slopes of the mountain sides, the rippling of the gushing stream as it leaps down the cliffs and rocks on its meandering course to the sea—all conspiring to make one forget the cares and toils of the past, look down with pleasant composure on the struggling masses below them.

But again, New Berne should not be overlooked. The Hotel Albert will make you as comfortable as any place. The Neuse river with the juncture of forces with the Trent will give as refreshing breezes, as pleasant sails, as invigorating rowing and as fine fishing as can be found anywhere.

PAMLICO COUNTY AND THE RAILROAD DEBT.

At the meeting of the Board of Magistrates of Pamlico county on the first Monday in June the Board, by resolution, instructed the Board of Commissioners of the county to pay no more on the railroad debt until the county received proper credit, by reason of Craven county refusing and compromising the said bonded debt.

The proposition is but a fair one and bears on its face single handed justice. When Pamlico assumed her proportion of the debt of the mother county, the assumption was based upon the debt as then calculated and the amount then outstanding. But, if Craven subsequently compromised that indebtedness whatever reduction of the same was made, should be shared by all the payers interested equally and uniformly. If a bond for one thousand dollars at the time of the adjustment of the debt, between the counties of Craven and Pamlico, was subsequently reduced by a compromise to five hundred dollars, it would seem but just that Pamlico as Craven had been benefited by the compromise of one half that Pamlico should also be benefited of a like proportion. This seems to be the position of the justice of Pamlico.

and of its fairness to think so she can complain.

But was there a compromise when the county of Craven refunded her bonded debt?

We think there was not. It has always been understood, and we think it is true, that Craven refunded her debt, giving new bonds for old ones with the interest accrued and unpaid added. For instance, a bond for one thousand dollars with five years interest accrued and unpaid entered into the refunded debt as thirteen hundred dollars bearing interest from the date of refunding, which was in fact an increase of the interest bearing debt and not a reduction. The reason assigned for this course by those engaged in refunding the debt, we understand is that the holders of the old bonds were obtaining judgments against the county and by writs of mandamus compelling the county to meet its obligations, to the great distress of tax payers and ultimate ruin of the community. Hence the refunding upon these terms and conditions at the time, and upon as is supposed the best that could be done. Therefore the true state of the case would seem to change the aspect, as to Pamlico's proportion of the reduction, then how about her proportion of the increase?

Swansboro Items.

Mr. D. S. Weeks, of Carteret, has a fine orchard of apples and grapes of many kinds.

Mr. Frank Holland's snake bite and Dave Ward's stinger bite are getting well, we hear.

Schooners E. Francis, from Baltimore, and Ema, from Philadelphia, arrived this week.

Capt. Harden Jones, a few days ago, caught, with hook and line, a bluefish that measured 34 1/2 inches in length.

We are sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. R. W. Humphrey, of Carteret county. She was one of the best women we ever met. We also regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Minerva Wood, of Jacksonville, a widow lady.

Mrs. Mary Cramer has onions 10 inches in circumference, planted from seed of her own make last year. She also has a new kind of sage, the leaves of which are from 3 to 5 inches long and 2 inches wide. Mrs. H. R. Ward has peanuts 18 inches across. Dr. Blunt had new dry corn.

Fishing with hook and line is the principle sport for the women here now. Mrs. Nancey Hatsell is captain of the women's fishing club. They go out about three or four times a day and they "catch 'em, too," but sometimes they get "cocheted" themselves when the big rains and turtles come along.

Capt. Geo. Littleton and Mr. Geo. Moore picked up a blue bottle on Brown's banks last Sunday containing a letter written by F. H. Bayer, on board steamer Virginia, bound from Charleston to Philadelphia, dated May 13, 1887, 170 miles from Charleston. The captain's name was H. A. Blarce, and the letter stated, "If found, please send to editor of Charleston News and Courier," which we did.

S. W. Holland, of Carteret, has a fine crop. His son, Lemuel C., is going to school here, but our school don't pay much. The people are too poor, they say, to send to school; that is, those who want to send; others don't want any education, while some are hideloued and want everything their own way; if they can't do this, they won't do at all. Out of eighty children in this school precinct about fifteen go to school. We wish a new set of people would emigrate here, for, as one man said the other day, unless something turns up for better in less than ten years, the owls will hoot over the grave of our place. If some persons with energy and capital would come here and go in business things would have a different aspect soon.

THE GRANGE.

EDITOR JOURNAL—I feel confident that many of your readers look anxiously through your excellent paper to see who have joined the Grange since the last week's paper. Since I last wrote you I have reorganized three Granges, viz:

Mosely Hall Grange No. 26, at La Grange. Your itemizer at that place gave a list of the officers elected, but gave the number of members wrong—he only reported the number of male members, when we had as many females as males.

I also reorganized Farmville Grange No. 88, in Pitt county, Josiah Dixon, master; Thomas Reel, overseer; John B. Dixon, lecturer; J. T. Parker, steward; B. M. Starkey, assistant steward; J. T.

Phillips, chairman; R. B. Ryan, treasurer; C. Barrett, secretary; A. D. Hill, gate-keeper.

Also, Grange No. 117, at Seven Springs, Oct. N. B. Whitfield, master; D. S. Davis, overseer; N. B. Outlaw, lecturer; John J. Ivey, steward; Alpheus Sutton, assistant steward; Thos. Sutton, chaplain; J. M. Kottagay, treasurer; G. W. B. Whitfield, secretary; W. A. Jones, gate-keeper; Mrs. N. B. Whitfield, Pomona; Miss Sallie Whitfield, Flora; Mrs. John Ivey, Ceres; Mrs. N. B. Outlaw, lady assistant steward.

I find the JOURNAL taken in every section I have traveled yet, and I want to request every Grange I have reorganized to adopt it as a medium of communication with each other. I would like to hear from each Grange through the JOURNAL. I am certain if you knew how many of your subscribers are already Grangers and how many more were just waiting for an opportunity to join, you would be perfectly willing, in fact, I know you will gladly publish any news they will send you.

Respectfully,
J. T. EATON.

THEIR LIMIT.—Country J. P.—You say you are a tourist? Prisoner—"Yes, sir: I love nature in all her radiant beauty." Country J. P. (bastily)—"Never mind that. How much money have you about your clothes?" Prisoner—"Three shillings." Country J. P. (severely)—"Then I shall commit you as a vagrant. We draw the line between tourists and tramps at two half crowns."

Greatly Excited.

Not a few of the citizens of New Berne, N. C., have recently become greatly excited over the astounding facts, that several of their friends who had been pronounced by their physicians as incurable and beyond all hope—suffering with that dreadful monster Consumption—have been completely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, the only remedy that does positively cure all throat and lung diseases. Coughs, Colds, Asthma and Bronchitis.
