The Children's Health.
 The season is at hand when the mortality among children is in topic of remark, but when that season comes, remedies are of little use. The mischief is often done long before the effect appears. Parents, say, when they are advised to give their children plain and simple food, and to deny them stimulating drinks like tea and coffee: "Oh, nothing hurts my children; I let them have whatever is on the table." In the cool months this may seem to be the case. Boys stuff themselves with indigestible food day after day without showing any signs of being injured, and then in the dog-days suddenly collapse without any special cause.
 It is with children as it is with us, their elders; the punishment of their errors is often long delayed. They weaken their digestion in the winter and die of it in August. The time to regulate the diet of the young is all the time. Physicians who practice in the populous parts of cities have often remarked that the mortality is greatest just when most precautions are taken, and when the children themselves are afraid to eat improper things.
 They have been wrongly fed for eleven months; their digestive apparatus has been daily overworked; its reserve of force is all expended. Then comes a long hot term, and we are appalled by the news of hundreds of deaths a day among the children of a few wards.—N. Y. Ledger.

CONSTITIATION
 Is called the "Father of Diseases," because there is no medium through which disease often enters the system as by the absorption of poisonous gases in the retention of decayed and acrid matter in the stomach and bowels. It is caused by a Torpid Liver, not enough bile being excreted from the blood to produce Nature's own cathartic, and is generally accompanied with such results as
Loss of Appetite,
Sick Headache,
Bad Breath, etc.
 The treatment of Constipation does not consist merely in unloading the bowels. Medicine not only acts as a purgative but as a tonic as well, and not produce after its use greater costiveness. To secure a regular habit of body without changing the diet or disorganizing the system,
SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR
 "My attention, after suffering with Constipation for two or three years, was called to Simmons Liver Regulator, and having tried almost everything else, concluded to try it. I first took a wineglassful and afterwards reduced the dose to a teaspoonful, as per direction, after each meal. I found that it had done me so much good that I continued it until I took two bottles. Since then I have not experienced any difficulty. I keep it in my house and would not be without it, but have no use for it, it having cured me."
