1837. THE SUN. 1887

A. S. ABELL & Co., Publishers,
 BALTIMORE.
 The Paper For The People.

On the 17th of May, 1887, the Baltimore Sun will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary. From the earliest period of its career the Sun has been a "household word" in the homes of its subscribers, and a synonym for accuracy of statement, fair dealing, promptness, energy and enterprise in the collection of news. It is noted throughout the country for the independence, conservatism and thoughtfulness of its editorial utterances. There is probably no newspaper in the United States whose opinion carries more weight or whose influence is more widely extended than the Sun's, a fact upon which it may justly pride itself as the legitimate result of painstaking care in the preparation of all matter admitted to its columns. The Sun's facilities for collecting news from all quarters of the globe are being constantly extended and improved, and new features are added without regard to expense as the occasion demands.

The Baltimore Weekly Sun has long occupied an enviable position as a model family newspaper, containing not only the news of the world and a variety of literary matter and miscellaneous reading for the family circle, but special features of recognized value, including an agricultural department, which supplies every week a mass of well digested information for the people.

Full commercial, financial, cotton, cattle, market and stock reports up to the hour of going to press.

Terms of subscription by mail, invariably cash in advance. Postage on all subscriptions in the United States and Canada prepaid.

One year $6.00 One month 50c.
 Six months 3.00 Three weeks 38c.
 Four months 2.00 Two weeks 25c.
 Three months 1.50 One week 13c.
 Two months 1.00

To Europe and other postal union countries, 76 cents per month.
 As an advertising medium its value is, of course, in proportion to its immense circulation.

A Mother.
 Oh, prize your mother while you have her, girls! You will never have any friend like her, though you make thousands. She may not flatter you and tinkle your vanity, she may tell you soiled truths, and warn you of dangers, and keep to herself all she thinks of you, but there is no one this side of heaven who has your well-being so much at heart.

It seems as natural to have a mother to love you as it does to breathe the air or enjoy the sunrise; so natural that it never occurs to you that some day you have none. A girl, as a rule, is familiar with mother—half saucy to her, sometimes. She thinks her mother's notions are a little old-fashioned. Girls believe they know best. In the impertinence and conceit of youth, they feel themselves ready to rule the world, their parents included. Of course they love their mother; but they never guess all she does for them and is to them.

If they keep her until they are mothers themselves, then they understand it; and still, though they grow stronger and more sensible, they need her—oh! how much! They miss her in a way that words cannot express when she passes.

There is an old superstition that when a woman dies the spirit of her mother comes to earth to take her away. I do not know if spirits ever come to us; but if they do, surely one might believe this. At all events, dying women's hearts turn motherward, and whether truly, or in imagination only, many women have fancied that they saw their dead mother's angel face as the world grew dark before their gaze.

It is a beautiful idea, at all events, that she who brought us into this world should be permitted to watch our departure into another.

Alas! all these hopes and dreams are so vague; the reality of death so sad. It is only while she lives that you can show your mother how you love her and make her happy, and yourself enjoy all that comes with mutual trust and confidence between mother and daughter. After you realize the emptiness of home, the emptiness of life without a mother, it will be too late.

What True Merit Will Do.
 The unprecedented sale of Beecher's German Syrup within a few years, has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs, Colds, and the severest Lung troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by Physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when the diseases make their appearance, will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price, 75 cts., large bottles.
