for New Berne—the very low figures at which merchandise is sold. Such inducements ought to draw from a long distance.

Our "Green Manuring" writer talks about hog cholera in this issue. The remedy proposed is simple, and, we think, in substance about the same that our Jones county correspondent has urged so often. It must be remembered that is a preventive, not particularly a remedy after the hog has taken the cholera.

Foul Play Suspected.

For several days a rumor has been afloat in the city that a colored girl named Susan Barnes, about seventeen years old, was taken from a house on South Front street where she was stopping, by a man whom she had been living with, and while going up the street was heard to cry out for help. She has not been seen in the city since, but the man, we are informed, was seen on Saturday between Core creek and Dover stations walking the railroad with carpet sock in hand. The officers are making diligent inquiries about the matter, but nothing definite has been ascertained as to the whereabouts of the woman.

Governor Scates Explains.

The Raleigh correspondent of the Wilmington Messenger undertakes in a communication of Sunday's issue of that paper to give Governor Scates's explanation of his action, or rather his non-action, on the propositions submitted to him by the delegation from certain Eastern counties and the C. F.
& Y. V. R. touching the extension of the A. & N. C. R.

If we have been correctly informed by several members of the committee that waited upon Governor Scates this communication contains some gross misstatement of facts which the Governor should have corrected at once.

There were two propositions submitted as this correspondent says, one for the A. & N. C. R. to extend itself to Fayetteville and form a traffic arrangement with the C. F. & Y. V. R.
Upon this the correspondent says:

"One was that the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad, which for twenty years has barely paid expenses, and has been in a very bad state of affairs, with a debt of $325,000 upon it, secured by mortgage, and at least one-half of the road laid by badly worn iron and the whole badly equipped, should be placed under a second mortgage (together with the extension to be built) of about $700,000, to build a new railway from Goldboro to Fayetteville. No railway man believes for an instant that any such debt, added to the present debt, could be floated on the road in its present condition of repair and business."

No such debt was ever proposed to the Governor. The proposition was to borrow one hundred thousand dollars with which to begin the work of extension and to borrow additional sums as necessary to complete the road to Fayetteville, the estimated cost of which, including the present indebtedness, would not exceed a debt of $700,000 on the entire line from Morehead City to Fayetteville.
There is a great deal of difference in this and adding $700,000 to the present debt.

The other proposition was from the C. F. & Y. V. R. to buy the A. & N. C. R.
Upon this Governor Scates' or this correspondent who claims to represent him says:

"The next proposition was to sell the State's stock in the C. F. & Y. V. R. for twenty dollars in the share and thus dispose of a property which cost $2,000,000 for $250,000."

This statement is grossly inaccurate and misleading. The C. F. & Y. V. R. offered $30.00 per share for the entire stock in the road and assume its present indebtedness of $325,000. Instead then of offering only $250,000 they in reality offered, for the State and private stock, $360,000, or twenty dollars per share for the State's interest and all the private stock willing to sell at that price, and the present indebtedness, $325,000, making the road, in its present condition cost them in round numbers $700,000, and by the time they put it in first class condition and thoroughly equip it, it would cost them nigh on to one million of dollars, a sum almost if not quite sufficient to build a new road from Goldboro to Morehead City. In addition to this the C. F. & Y. V. R. offers a guarantee that the N. C. R. R., at the expiration of the R. & D. lease, shall have an outlet on fair and equitable terms.

The inconsistencies in the "Governor's Talk," as given by this correspondent are so bald that any one of ordinary intelligence can see them. For instance, in his reasons for not extending the road it is represented as being in a very poor and helpless condition and in danger of going into the hands of a receiver.
But when more money is offered for it than it is actually worth, it becomes a very valuable property and is worth from sixty to sixty-five thousand dollars a year.

An additional debt of four hundred thousand dollars, making in all seven hundred thousand, would extend the road to Fayetteville, and fifty thousand dollars rental would pay the interest on this amount, pay the taxes, keep up the expenses of the organization, and give the people of this section relief from the corporations now trying to grind the life out of them. Now we put the question squarely, will the Governor consent to an extension of the road if the payment of the interest on the debt is required to make it absolutely assured?

It is rather a humiliating spectacle that the Governor should appear before the public, as represented by this correspondent, as an advocate of his policy.
But as he has spoken, we think it due to himself, the committee that held the conference with him and the people generally, to correct the inaccuracies of his interviewer.

Personal.

W. F. Rountree, Esq., is on a trip

Mr. S. S. Willett has returned to the city after his summer visit at Chapel Hill and points North.

Mrs. C. E. Foy and children returned

Jones Superior Court.

The superior court of Jones county convened at Trenton on Monday, Judge Phillips presiding. It was a rainy, sloppy day and in the afternoon a heavy snow storm set in. To see snow in October was something unusual in Jones county. But the crowd took it cheerfully; except probably those who had not yet dug their sweet potatoes, which is a favorite crop in the county.

There was not a large criminal docket, at least the court had to wait or work on the civil docket while the grand jury furnished business. The people of Jones are probably as law-abiding as any county in Eastern North Carolina. One term of the court was abolished by the last General Assembly, and the manner in which the judge and solicitor Allen have dispatched business for the last year or two proves that two terms are amply sufficient.

The members of the bar who attend this court regularly are mostly young men that have come to the front in the last ten or fifteen years. When the influence the profession wields in a community is considered, these young men have a responsibility resting upon them that should make them watchful of the honor and integrity of the profession.
They should endeavor to impress upon the community the necessity of obedience to law, and that the profession is not dependent upon violations of law for its existence. The impress made upon Jones county by such men as Judge Manly, Jas. W. Bryan, Wm. H. Washington, Attmore and others was significant, and their examples are worthy of the emulation of the present promising young men who have taken their places in honorable contention for justice, equity and law.

The only case of interest talked of on Monday was an unfortunate difficulty which occurred between Mr. W. J. Perry, a prominent farmer on Chinquapin, and a colored man employed on his plantation. Eight or ten days ago some words passed between them when the colored man called Mr. Perry a d—n —r; this was repeated and Mr. Perry struck him with a board. On Sunday evening last the negro died. A coroner's jury was summoned who, with the county physician viewed the body and returned the following verdict:
"The deceased, Willie Venters, came to his death by a blow from the hand of one W. J. Perry." Mr. Perry was under arrest.

The cotton crop in Jones has been a failure for the past two years, and the people are beginning to feel it somewhat, though other industries, the lumber business for one, is helping to make up the deficiency in the money crop.
The valuation of the property in the county under the last assessment was increased about forty per cent which will probably enable the commissioners to keep the taxes within the constitutional limit and pay current expenses.
The ladies were holding a festival for the purpose of raising money to build a new church. We fear they don't know how to run a festival; they gave the square meal for a quarter ever offered at such an entertainment. It made one think of the olden times that we sometime read about.

GREEN MANURING

NUMBER 13.

This subject is so intimately connected with Hog raising that the health of the pig which is relied on to consume a portion of the green crop becomes a matter of great interest to every farmer. The loss to the country from swine disease has been enormous, and has in many cases discouraged the farmer from attempting to raise his pork. Many remedies have been placed before the public, but the disease is so rapid and so fatal in its work, that the remedies have not been satisfactory.

What is needed, is how to prevent the disease and to feel some security that the hogs will remain healthy, and will repay the owner for the care and expense of raising them.

Much has been written on this subject, by men who claim that cholera can be prevented, and that by using intelligent precautions they have raised hogs with success.

We all think that no harm will come to us and it is quite natural to neglect to use means to prevent disease, but in this case it is only prevention that can be relied upon, as there seems to be no practical cure for the disease.

A writer in the Southern Planter of Richmond Va says to the Commissioners of Agriculture: "I will place in your hands one hundred dollars to pay for hogs if they should die with the so called hog cholera, if you will have tested the following remedy, which I have used with great success. Take a sack of salt, and a barrel of hard wood ashes (hickory or oak preferred); mix the salt and ashes thoroughly, prepare a box of any convenient size, put it under cover where the hogs can have free access to it at all times, and keep a supply of the mixture in it. This mixture will cost you one dollar, and some trouble, but will be sufficient for several hogs for one year."

Objectors will say, I have tried everything and of the disease is going to come it will come, I think that this remedy is no better than what I have used.
It is quite certain that there is more danger of hog cholera now, than at any previous time, and it is the interest of every man to carefully labor to prevent the disease from destroying his hogs.

It is not sufficient to mix a peck of salt and some ashes and give it to the hogs and pay no more attention to them for a month. In order to test this remedy, the directions must be followed, which are to keep a supply of the mixture always within reach of the hogs, not one day in a month, but every day.

It will not prevent hogs from taking the disease if they are allowed to come in contact with diseased hogs or are permitted to eat hogs that have died from the disease, and may not cure it. Farmers try this hog cholera preventive it is cheap. It is practical.

Kinston Items.

The racket store has the biggest wall "bad" just beyond Tuckahoe ever seen in these parts.

C. H. Brown Esq. is attending court at Trenton. He has a good standing in his native county.

The Singer Sewing Machine Co. is the only one represented in Kinston. Would it not be to the interest of other companies to secure agents here?

Dr. H. D. Harper attended the Eastern Dental Association at Goldsboro on Tuesday. We are pleased to learn that he is taking high rank among the brethren of the dental profession.

Mrs. Goodale of Louisiana delivered a lecture in the opera house Friday night which was unique in almost every particular. If you think a woman can't speak in public, I assure you you have never heard Mrs. Goodale.

Dr. Alf. Fiedler is spending some time in the country, recuperating from an attack of malarial fever. He speaks in high praise of the wise treatment of Dr.
Gates, another of our Kinston boys, although twenty miles distant.

Dr. John Pollock has removed one of the oldest houses in Kinston from the corner of Caswell and Madison streets to the rear of the same lot, fronting Madison. This leaves a splendid site for a companion building to Mrs. King's handsome residence.

J. J. Cox of Jones county has been supplying our market with some very fine turkeys. We saw one weighed which made the scales tip at 15 pounds.
Who can beat that? Let Lenoir try her hand. She is generally equal to the best in all that is good and useful.

On Tuesday of last week Queen street behind one of the finest displays of line turnouts that we have seen in some time. Dr. Pelletier with his bride from Trenton was in the lead, accompanied by a number of their friends. We bid Mrs. Pelletier welcome in behalf of Kinston and hope she has exchanged good for better, or best in giving up Trenton for Kinston as a home.

The Hooker Union of the Disciples was held at Eden church, Green county, on last Saturday and Sunday. Dr.
Harper of Kinston attended. Resolutions were passed appropriating all the funds on hand towards building a church in Raleigh, and special arrangements are to be made for occasional meetings by some of our ablest preachers. The next union will be at Wheat Swamp, Lenoir county, the 3d Sunday in January and Saturday before.

Kinston postoffice should be furnished with lock boxes. We should have a little town pride in this matter. What do you suppose a visitor from some horse town which has lock boxes thinks when he comes here and beholds our pigeon hole outfit? Whose fault is it?
Are the business men to blame? If so let a sufficient number promise to rent them and we are sure that our clever postmaster will put them in. It would do away with this push-and-shove, harum-scarum, pell-mell way of getting our evening mail.

The Disciples held a very largely attended Union at Haskins Chapel, Jones Co., on 5th Sunday and Saturday before.
H. C. Bowen reported a new church organized at Prospect, Duplin Co., and a house in course of erection. J. L.
Burns preached on Sunday to a densely packed house from the Scripture, "Ye are a royal people, a world to that effect. He takes the work of State Evangelist, and J. B. Parsons of Carter county is expected to succeed him in Onslow and Jones. They are to visit the churches together on the 2d and 3d Sundays in November.

Preserve Your Eyes.

It is simply wonderful, the reputation Hawkes' Spectacles and Eye glasses have attained throughout the United States; they are known from the Atlantic is built upon real merit. Testimonials from the most eminent men of the country are given, who have had their sight improved by their use.

Stonewall Items.

Rain, rain, all the time for the past two weeks, and still continues. No chance to have any kind of crops. The cotton crop of Pamlico will be at least 50 per cent less than last year, and it was not more than two-thirds of an ordinary crop. Sweet potatoes at least 60 per cent below an average crop.

I heard a gentleman not far from Falling Creek, who has just bought a herd of Jersey cattle, say that their looks made him think of a pretty, nice dressed young lady. I kinder think that if he had been at the Fair and seen Joe Kinsey's girls he could never have used such an expression. There is no accounting for taste.

Ye Itemizer has just returned from the Goldsboro fair, where he met many old acquaintances, both soldiers and citizens, which I assure you was very gratifying. I saw some excellent stock in all the departments except sheep, and not a single one on exhibition.

That is what the miserable curds do for our State. Will we ever have any redress? Col. Davis was there with his school battalion, and well did they perform their part both as soldiers and gentlemen. Then came Joe Kinsey with his school misses and completely eclipsed Col. Davis's show. His turnout was simply magnificent. They both deserve the success that they are receiving and may it increase.

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in. Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can derive no better when in perfect health, but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up, disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof that Queen's August Flower will make them free from disease, as when born. Dyspepsia and liver complaint are the direct causes of seventy five per cent of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the Head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symptoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottles 10 cents. Try it.
