Something entertaining is promised at the theatre next Monday night. It is the Weston Brothers' Comedy Company.

Justice Robert Hancock, jr., has an office next door to the JOURNAL office and announces that he is ready for business.

The entertainment at the M. E.
Church last night was instructive and a most pleasant affair. Our reporter was on hand and will give particulars tomorrow.

The flags of the steamers of the New & Treat River Steamboat Company were at half-mast yesterday as a mark of respect to the memory of Dr. James F.
Long, President of the company.

The quail eater is getting along finely.
When the judges fall to put in an appearance at Harvey's saloon in due time, he takes his quail and goes in search of one. The sixteenth was taken in yesterday and pronounced fine.

A battle was imminent on Middle street at one time yesterday, but the interference of friendly powers prevented the effusion of blood. The combatants were taken before justice Hill and dealt with according to law.

Capt. E. B. Roberts corrects our supposition as to the steamer Pamlico being disabled. We will endeavor to get only facts hereafter and not "suppose" anything in regard to a steamer's being disabled. The fact that the Pamlico went ashore at Wilkinson's Point is another argument in favor of a light-house there.

Funeral Notice.
The funeral of Dr. James F. Long will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the New street M. E. Church.
Friends and acquaintances are invited to attend.

Steamer Movements.
The Vesper of the E. O. D. line sailed yesterday afternoon with a cargo of cotton, lumber and general merchandise. The Eglet of this line will arrive this morning.

Personal.
Mr. Eddie Lewis of Wilmington, son of Capt. Ed. Lewis of the steamer Carolina, is in the city.

J. W. Grainger, Esq., of Kinston, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Kenneth Styron has returned from Durham where he spent Christmas.

Contributions to the Orphan Asylum.
Among the Christmas contributions sent to the Oxford Orphan Asylum we note the following from New Berne: Citizens, by Mrs. J. A. Meadows, $40.00; First Grade of Graded School, $1.00; Miss Zerbe's school, $2.25; "A little school," $2.00.

Mr. John Pearce of Pollockville, also sends $10.00.

A Good Example.
The man who was returning a borrowed book yesterday called in to say that he felt it a duty to the public to have the JOURNAL make a note of the very commendable action on his part and thus encourage the wholesome performance. We told him he was in the front ranks of a gentleman who only the evening before had actually returned a borrowed newspaper. The JOURNAL does with pleasure publish such good news, but it is painful to add that the book, containing good because it is so valuable in the business that he was returning to the library will also be returned.

New Berne High School.
We call attention to the advertisement of New Berne High School, which appears in this issue.

This institution should receive the consideration and moral support of every citizen of New Berne and surrounding country. The students who have been in attendance the last three and a half months have made solid progress, which is the best evidence of the efficiency and equipment of the school. The course of studies are equal to that of any academic institution in the State, and sufficient to prepare a pupil for the junior class in college, or fit one for the practical business of life.
The lectures will be delivered twice a week by Prof. Neal on the English Language, its grammatical structure in prose and poetry, its rhetorical principles in reading, its philology in the study and use of words—all be essential to all English speaking people in public and at home—will prove of such interest and advantage to the student that is seldom found in an academic institution.

In addition to all these advantages, board can be obtained in good families at $10.00 per month.

The people of New Berne should feel a special interest in this school. Every boy or girl sent off to school takes at least $250.00 per annum out of the community, and taking this view of the matter, every one engaged in business is interested in building up a large school, and there are more ways to aid a school than by patronage. Many of our best citizens have no children to send to the High School, but they can manifest an interest in it by speaking a good word, or doing some act that will stimulate and encourage both teachers and pupils.

A Sympathetic Letter.
Our friend E. G. Hill, Esq., sends us the following letter of sympathy:

NEW BERNE, N. C., Dec. 28, '87.
EDITOR JOURNAL:—I withdraw all claims on the management of the Onslow railroad for the position of "Superintendent of Construction" and hereby extend my sympathy to you and the road generally.

E. G. HILL.

We do not understand why the Esquire should extend his sympathy just at this time unless he, being a judge of statutory as well as common law, thinks the decision of the Supreme Court in the Wilmington case affects the legality of the election ordered in Craven. We do not so understand the decision, but being a layman, of course we can easily be mistaken in our construction.

But why should friend Hill be so sympathetic towards the JOURNAL? We are sure he is as much interested in building up New Berne as we are.

With a new line of railroad (provided he does not superintend the construction), he would be able to rent out his houses to much better advantage, get better paying tenants, have less trouble in collecting rents, and we will be able to sell more papers, take the press dispatches and new life would be diffused in the old town.

But the loss of the Wilmington subscription has undoubtedly put a damper on the scheme. Friend Hill rejoices at this; we regret it; wherefore, his sympathy.

We give Esq. Hill credit for being honest in his opposition to the subscription to the Onslow railroad, and he must excuse us if we claim an equal degree of honesty and sincerity in our efforts to do something for the advancement of the material interests of New Berne and Craven county.

A Sad Death.
The death of Mrs. Dr. Cartwright, formerly Miss Annie Blackwell of this city, is one of the saddest events that it has been our duty to chronicle. Mrs.
Cartwright was the picture of health at the time of her marriage only a few months ago.

She had a large circle of warm friends in the city and her unexpected demise is deeply mourned by the entire community, and the sympathy of all is extended to her bereaved husband, mother and other relatives.

A Question of Higher or Lower Wages.
FRANKFORD, Dec. 28.—Unless the railroad cost mines now working under the Columbus scale are called out tomorrow the operators will reduce wages to the old rate. The miners' officials are doing all in their power to get the men to come out for the old wages, but so far have been unsuccessful. If they fail to do so and wages are reduced in this district the effect will be far-reaching, and may result in a reduction throughout the country.

"Years have not seen and time shall not see," the people of Craven county will say, when some one has said such a promise as follows:

The old saying "opposition is the life of business" has never been sustained in the history of this town. Since the introduction of Dr. Hall's Compound Syrup all other cough remedies have been dead and gone.

The Steamer Pamlico.
EDITOR JOURNAL:—I cannot do without commending you for the energy you display in gathering news (bad when you have to resort to suppositions to make statements. Please correct your suppositions mis-statements as to the towing of the Pamlico and of her being disabled. Through the kindness, generosity and magnanimity of Captain Davis of the steamer Eglet, Captain Burgess of the steamer Defiance, and Captain David M. Roberts, Captain of the steamer Kinston, but at the time commanding the steamer Trent—the steamer Pamlico was pulled away from Wilkinson's Point where she had grounded, Captains Davis and Roberts sticking by the Pamlico until she floated.

As a means of helping to float the Pamlico Captain Davis had taken part of the Pamlico's crew on his steamer, and at the time your "supposition" reporter had the disabled Pamlico being towed, the Eglet and Pamlico were steaming alongside of each other and they (the captains) were doing what some persons never think of doing—saving time by re-shifting cargo from the Eglet back again to the Pamlico while they were both proceeding in the same direction. Please correct immediately the supposition statement in your issue of December 28th.

While I am on this subject I beg leave to trespass upon your generosity by allowing me as agent of the Old Dominion Steamship Company, to thank Captains Davis Roberts and Burgess for their unselfish generosity in rendering assistance to a brother Captain in misfortune.

Respectfully,
E. B. ROBERTS,
Agent O. D. S. S. Co.

The Miners' Strike.
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—Representatives of the Lehigh Valley Railroad and the Lehigh Navigation Companies state that the same terms are now open to their miners that have always been offered them, which is to resume work at the old wages and accept whatever advance the market price of coal will warrant.
If work should be stopped in the Skuylkill region, and the miners in the Lehigh region shall resume the latter will, it is declared, receive a considerable advance upon the basis of pay.
As the busy season of the anthracite coal trade is over, the Lehigh miners cannot expect to realize such an advance as the Skuylkill men have enjoyed since September, amounting sometimes to as much as 21 per cent. over the $2.50 basis.

An officer of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company states that the Wyoming region is simply able to supply the anthracite market should the Skuylkill and Lehigh regions both become idle.
This can be done, it is stated, with perfect ease, as the busy season in that trade has ended. As far as the Pennsylvania officials can see, there is no reason whatever for the scare which seems to exist concerning a coal famine.

Dull of Comprehension.
The people who cannot take a joke are many, but those who can see neither "hair nor hide" of it to whom it is absolutely invisible, are fortunately in the minority; but midway between the two are the stolidly literal people who always "speak by the card," and take every statement for just what it is worth on the surface. In short, they are always missing the point.

A gentleman was once illustrating in a small company, the fact that the mind dissatisfied takes on odd modes of action by the story of the lunatic who fancied that he lived in a place and dined upon the choicest viands. In point of fact he was confined to a hospital, and his diet was restricted to gruel.

"I dine every day upon the fat of the land," said the poor fellow, "and yet everything I eat tastes of gruel."

When the story was finished, a sympathetic lad, who had quite missed its point, exclaimed: "Poor man! Too bad to feed a him on gruel! Do you suppose that's the fare in all the hospitals?"

An overworked farmer, of a vivid imagination and nimble tongue one morning called back hurriedly to his wife, as he took his way to the field:

"No, I can't go to town with you today, Jane. I've got a million bushels of potatoes to dig before night."

"What can he mean?" speculated his literal wife, as she went about her work. "I'm sure we never have more'n forty bushels, an' he couldn't dig 'em in a day to save his life!"

She was not quite equal to the extraction of the grain of wheat contained in that bushel of hyperbolic chaff.

Another farmer one day said jocosely to a neighbor: "Don't seem to pay to do the hayin'. Have to do it right over again next year!"

"But what would the cat's live on if you didn't do it?" inquired the more literal man.

"Do! Let 'em live on faith, same's the rest of us have to do."

"You depend upon it, you'd lose more'n you'd gain," said the other, solemnly. "Christess have got to eat, and we've got to take care on 'em.
Don't you turn your assets adrift to shift for yourselves. Eben, you won't gain nothin' by it."—Youth's Companion.

Annual Feast.
The regular annual feast given by the ladies of Christ Church was held at the chapel yesterday morning. There were a large number of children and adults present and all enjoyed it hugely. There was a very handsome holly Christmas tree on which hung a present for each present. A long table was filled with substantial and delicious. After all had partaken to their heart's content the present were taken from the tree and distributed. A large quantity of provisions still remained, and bags and boxes were filled and sent out to many who were unable to be present.

All who enjoyed it much, and many thanks were due to the kind ladies who for many years have given up their leisure time and who on this occasion made some very ordinary words to give Christmas cheer to so many deserving people.

Kinston Items.
A real young Bishop at Rev. N. M.
Jurney's.
Dr. A. Fields has been spending some days in the county.
Dr. Woodley and Mr. Ferrell paid our town a short visit last week.

Miss Leila Parrott and Mr. Will Parrott of Darlington, S. C., are visiting relatives in the county.

W. C. Fields, Esq., was elected president of the Friends of Temperance at their regular election on Monday night.

Mr. John Becton and wife of Cotton Plant, Arkansas are visiting Mr. F. B.
Becton and other relatives in this and Onslow counties.

J. L. Burns, State Evangelist, preached at the Disciples' church Sunday and Sunday night and raised a handsome sum for State missions.

Monday was a day of much noise in Kinston. Everything which would make a noise from a fire-cracker to a cannon was in full blast. Some were slightly wounded but none killed.

Mrs. Wiley T. Rouse brought her household and kitchen furniture to town last week and sold it at public sale. Her husband has gone to parts unknown and she goes to live with relatives.

Mr. Henry Bailey has moved into the Rhem building and opened a boarding house. Mr. Bailey is a accommodating gentleman, and persons who want a comfortable place to stop will do well to call on him. Capt. Taylor and lady have also moved in and become boarders.

Without previous notice, Dr. Harper was taken to the residence of Messrs.
Hawkins and Case on Sunday afternoon and united in the bonds of wedlock Mr.
Geo. White and Miss Emma Case. Just after the ceremony an unusual incident occurred. If you want to know what it was you will have to ask the doctor.

Kinston will be full of people next Monday. The Salvation Army will run an excursion to this place from New Berne and other points. They have announced that they expect to have a grand street parade that day and "run the devil out of Kinston." Let all the people come and witness the remarkable performance. The colored people will also parade and celebrate the "emancipation proclamation and rejoice in their freedom."

Mr. Geo. Grace who has charge of Mr.
Lier's farm in Jones county, settled up with all the hands last week and each one had a handsome sum of money after all accounts were settled. This caused so much pleasure that they were singing and whistling all about the farm, and finally gathered up and joined in a grand jubilation. This was so different from the common complaint, hard times that we think it deserves special mention.

Mr. R. L. Wooten has been employed clerk of the new hotel. Mrs. Hansley arrived on Tuesday and all is being put in readiness to open on January first.
A number of regular boarders have been engaged in advance, and with deservedly popular clerk and all the modern improvements the enterprise is a very hopeful one. The building has a large sample room, electric call bells, excellent ventilation, central location, and, in short, is fully up to the times in all its appointments. Mrs. Hansley is an experienced hotelier, and everything will be first class.

The teachers and scholars of Deep Run Sunday school had a pleasant time on Saturday night last. A beautiful Christmas tree, laden with presents had been prepared and when it had assembled beautiful songs were sung by the pupils and teachers. Elder Geo. Y. Cunningham and the superintendent, Mr. E. W. Humphrey each made a few appropriate remarks. A vote was then taken for superintendent and Mr. Humphrey was re-elected.
Miss Nora Harper, Dania Strud Sarah Taylor and Lucy Harper were re-elected teachers.
Elder Cunningham and Messrs. Burkley Smith, F. P. Harper and Robert Harper were called upon to strip the tree of its fruit and every scholar received a present which made their hearts glad.
John Griffin, an old true and tried Democrat also received some valuable presents. It was a delightful occasion and the superintendent and teachers deserve much praise for the manner in which they have conducted the school.

Fighting the Tenement System.
PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 26.—The cigar-makers of this district, to the number of 1700 have organized a national cigar-makers' trade district of the Knights of Labor for the purpose of fighting the "tenement system," which is carried out extensively here. The new organization expects the cooperation of the International Union in the coming contest, which will be very bitter. It is proposed to bring all the workmen into factories and every tenement worker to join them, or else sustain a boycott.
They will not interfere or court a conflict with the International Union, but if members of that organization continue to do tenement work they will oppose them and institute a boycott. The members of the union have always antagonized the Knights, claiming that they have not worked in accord with them, and rather played into the hands of the manufacturer to defeat the Union.

Tax Payers.
Take notice, on and after Friday, Dec.
30th, 1887, I shall be compelled to levy on the property of all parties having failed to pay their taxes for the year 1887.

Sheriff of Craven Co.

ADVICE TO SMOKERS.
Mrs. WINDLOV'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.
Solely distributed by Regular Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of New Berne Academy will be held at the office of the President Friday afternoon, December 30, 1887 at 4 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.
By order of the President,
W. M. WATSON, Sect'y.

Mothers and nurses should always remember that disappointment never attends the use of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup.
Price 25 cents a bottle.
The close sympathy existing between the stomach and brain is noticeably exhibited in the headache resulting from indigestion. Laxador always cures headache, when caused by indigestion.
