We publish in today's issue the report of the committee on education to the State Grange at the annual meeting held in Tarboro in December. It requires unity and concert of action on the part of the people of any community to maintain and cultivate such unity is one of the objects of the Grange.

The impression abroad seems to be that Jones is to be executed to laybroause it is Friday we presume. Gov- gain. ernor Scales is of the opinion that Tuesday is just as good a day to hang a man as any other day and so he has set next Tues lay, the 17th day of January 1888 for the execution of the death sentence of Charles Frank Jones.

Railroads never bankrupt a community; they are civilizers as well as wealth producers

Onlow is a virgin county; its vast timber, fish and oyster interests, to say nothing of other interests and industries, has only to be tapped by a railroad to make it one of the richest as it is now one of the most behind counties in the State.

China presents from white and colored were numerous and valuable. We heard a young wan say that an occasion equal to this he had never eojoyed in New Berne. The guest smiled and told the young man that this exemplary affair is not in New Berne now. By this time the polite waiters handed around one after another about seventeen different varieties of refreshments, etc. Finally the guest decided, whether in New Berne or Craven county, the enjoyment was grand just the same Rev Carr, the Presbyterian minister, officiated. Mrs Dudley, looking like a bride of about twenty-nine, with her charming bride groom appeared beford the minister when the appropriate ceremonies were performed. The occasion was represented by the presence of white and colored. The continued bride and groom were the recipients of many valuable presents from some of the best white people of New Berne. day morning, January 11, A. D., 1888. in the 81st year of his age. Mr. Bryan was born in Newbern on the 12th day of January, A. D., 1807. He was possessed of an extraordinary constitution, and of remarkable health For over eighty years he scarcely knew what sickness was. For the past year his health has failed and on the morning of January the 11th, just one day from his 81st anniversary, surrounded by his eleven grown children who were bowed down with sorrow inexpressible. by a number of his family friends and grand children, soothed by all the attention that loving hands could bestow respected by all who knew him, the silver cord was slowly loosed, the single strand which but held his life in sus pense for several days, snapped and his when men are perplexed and the great strain of life is how to make buckle and tongue come together and how to make the two ends meet, then the lawyers smile, for it is their barvest time, then men seek counsel in adversity then they most eagerly seek those long heads that have served them in the day of their prosperity. But there is this difference. Then fees are reluctant, but counsel is more valuable. Then is the time to cling closer to a tried and faithful counsellor, for your business life is in his hands. But be ye sure of your man. The rule of qualification that Mr. Jefferson laid do n in politics is true also in the law:—"Is he honest, is he capable, is he faithful;" and the greatest of these is the first. Lawyers are up when business men are up; but when its neither up nor down lawyers are down. So we would like to know how it is with the lawyers. For their visage is to us a barometer from which we can calculate the tides and currents of business.—Elizabeth City Economist.

Enjoy Life. Fannie was just six years old and a and the joy of her parents' heart. was a member of the infant class in the Methodist Sunday school and was de-voted to her teacher and class mates. Until a few days before her death she seemed in good health but was too deli-cate and tender for the trying ordeals of this life, and when stricken with Diphtheria all anticipated the result. Suffer the little children, and forbid them not to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of Heaven."

Weep not loving parents. Fannie has only gone before to be with Christ and to welcome you at your coming.
