SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE.
PROSPECTUS F. 1888.

The holiday issue, now ready, is complete in itself, containing no serial matter. The cover is enriched by an ornamental border printed in gold. The price is as usual, 25 cents. It contains the most delightful stories, poems, and essays by distinguished writers, and superb illustrations.

Among the important articles to appear during the year 1888 are the following—Send for prospectus:

Robert Louis Stevenson will contribute regularly to each number during the year. He will write of many topics, old and new, and in a familiar and personal way, which will form new bonds of friendship between the author and his thousands of readers. In the first paper, entitled "A Chapter on Dreams," appearing in the January number, he relates incidentally, in connection with the general subject, some interesting facts concerning the origin of the famous story "Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Railway Accidents, by W. S. Chaplin, will be the first of an especially important and interesting series of papers on railways, their administrations and construction, including great engineering feats, famous tunnels and passes, and indeed, those branches of the subject which in this day engage the attention of the whole country. The illustrations which will accompany this series will be very elaborate original, and beautiful. The authors and the titles of the future articles will be announced later.

Dr. D. A. Sargent's papers on Physical Proportions and Physical Training will be continued by several of increasing interest, with as rich and unique illustrations as those which have already appeared.

Illustrated Articles of special interest will be those on the Campaign of Waterloo, by John C. Ropes; on "The Man at Arms," by E. H. Blashfield; two papers by Edward L. Wilson, illustrating results of recent Egyptian research; a further article by William F. Apthorp, on a subject connected with his recent contribution on Wagner, and many others of equal interest. Professor Shaler's articles on the Surface of the Earth will be continued, and articles upon two of the most interesting groups of contemporary European writers will be accompanied by rich and novel portrait illustrations.

Illustrations. The Magazine will show increased excellence in its illustrations. They will be more abundant and elaborate than ever. It is the intention of the publishers to represent the best work of the leading artists, and to promote and foster the most skilful methods of wood engraving.

Special notice. To enable readers to possess the Magazine from the first number (January, 1887) the following inducements are offered:

THE JOURNAL.

TO A JUNE ROSE.

royal Rose, the Roman dress'd
At feast with thee thy petals press'd
Augustan brows thine color hue
Mix'd with the three times ming'd with me.

Let's to the long Thracian draught I see!

What marvel then of host and guest
By love to song By Thee carest I

Has trembled on the half divine
O royal Rose.

And yet—and yet I love thee best
In our old gardens of the West.

Whether about my thatch thou twine
Or herbs, that brown-eyed maid of mine.

Wher'll thee on her lavy breast
O royal Rose.

Utilizing Niagara

There have been so many false alarms about utilizing the wasted water power of Niagara Falls that one hesitates to accept rumors of new propositions as likely to be carried out. The latest one which appears to have any backing, though not altogether an original idea, is to tap the Niagara River at some distance above the falls by means of a tunnel driven along the side of the river. The water would be distributed by means of lateral underground conduits to turbines placed on the bank below the falls. These could give power direct to mills, factories, etc., and by electrical transmission, furnish light and power to Buffalo and neighboring towns. It is claimed that by adopting this system the scenery will not be disfigured, and that the amount of water drawn off will not appreciably lessen the quantity flowing over the falls. It has always been a source of wonder to those who have studied the ground that some plan has not long ago been adopted which would meet the engineering requirements without impairing the grandeur of Niagara. The first attempts were certainly not in the right line, the small power taken off by the paper mills, etc., being accompanied by disproportionate injury.

Niagara is not to be measured by hundreds of thousands of horse power and millions of money, it is true, but the visitor's first impression is a vivid realization of the amount of waste perpetually going on, which might be avoided. The State and the country can afford to pay a good deal to keep up the show, but surely there is margin enough, without reducing Niagara to the condition of some of the smaller falls, where the water is turned off from a dam for the gratification of tourists who can afford the luxury.

Electrical transmission of power, which was thought not many years ago to be a mere dream of the cranks, is now shown to be of practical, economical utility. It has been adopted successfully in so many places and under such different conditions that it is reasonable to forecast a great future for it. So far as is known at present, it is the most promising mode of utilizing the natural forces, such as winds, currents, tides, and terrestrial electricity. Eng and Min Jour.

THE EDITOR'S PRIZE. Mr. A. K. Hawkes has gained a national reputation as a practical optician, and his celebrated spectacles and patent spring eyeglasses are known throughout the United States. We are writing this article with a pair of his New Crystallized lenses, and they seem to us as transparent as light itself, and with them the finest print is as clear as in youth.—Editor Christian Advocate.
