I thought the attack on me coming as it did from a professed prohibitionist, was unkind and uncharitable, but as the editor is so unlike all other white people in this world and not subject to the ordinary influences which control mankind, I concluded to treat him as a prohibitionist in good standing, always wanting a full jug-

The trouble with him seems to be, that the "campaign jug" which I turned over was empty. Now being a genuine prohibitionist, I thought that was the very best condition in which I could deliver it to my successor; but if the prohibition editor of the Free Press desires a full jug, he may gratify his desires by calling on either of the three full blast whiskey saloons of Kinston which flourish here now because jug full prohibitionist did not vote in our last local option election. Like Saul at the stoning of Saint Stephen, the editor and those like him 'stood by and con-sented' to the victory of the whiskey men at that time and by their non-action there they are just as responsible for the presence here now of the Kinston the presence here now of the Kinston whiskey saloons as any rum sucker who voted for license.
