The Most Agreeable

First Cotton Bloom.

Mr. Calvin Debruhl from Deep Gully brought in the first cotton bloom of the season yesterday. It was from the farm of George Walker on Hon F. M. Simmons' plantation near Rocky Run.

The first was sent in on the 21st of June last year by Mr. Jackson Pittman of Pitt county.

By mail last night we received one from Mr. Frank Watson on Mr. J. L. Tucker's plantation near Belle Ferry, which must have opened one day before the one from Mr. Simmons' farm. So Pitt county takes the lead this year.

Literary.

Mr. Carl Schurz, who is yet in Germany, and was recently entertained by Prince Bismarck, is preparing a thorough study of Bismarck's career and of its bearings on the political situation in Europe. It will appear in an early number of the Forum.

The tendencies of the times is apparently to divide spiritualists into two classes—swindlers and fanatics. Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, the eminent specialist on brain diseases, will contribute a forcible paper in the July issue of the American Magazine on "Spiritualism and Like Delusions," in which he will show that spiritualism is at best a form of mind insanity. Other features of the paper will be an untechnical description of the scientific means conjuror-mediums have used, including among other things the chemicals used in picture painting.

Correction.

EDITOR JOURNAL—I desire to correct the report in your paper of yesterday in the case of Citizens National Bank of Raleigh vs. C. Dowd, Receiver of the State National Bank of Raleigh. The facts are as follows: On the Friday before the State National Bank broke on Monday there was an exchange of checks between the plaintiff and the State National Bank, and the State National Bank owed the plaintiff a large sum of money, for which the State National Bank gave its check on a bank in New York, which check was protested. The State National Bank was insolvent six months before it closed upon the Monday forenoon. Upon these facts the plaintiff contended that it had a lien on the funds of the said bank and entitled to be paid the full amount of the said indebtedness to the plaintiff at the time the check was given.

Coalition in Craven County.

EDITOR JOURNAL—Under the caption of "Craven County Politics," published in your paper of the 21st inst., you say "Let a thorough examination be made, and a comparison instituted between the work of the county officers put in by the coalition movement and their predecessors, and if there has been no improvement let the old set come back." A better administration was promised the people and it ought to be shown wherein they have had it.

We were surprised when we read the above, as we had supposed you were, from the statements published in your paper in the past relative to the accounts of the ex-sheriff and the ex-county treasurer of our county, informed of some improvement and some benefit the county had received by the change made in the county officers.

It has been clearly shown that the school fund has been almost doubly increased in its receipts and a large sum of money amounting to $1,110.58 which had been withheld from the county has been unearthed and recovered by the coalition movement.

So far as can be observed the present officers are performing their duties faithfully and honestly, and according to law, and the monthly statements required to be published by the sheriff and county treasurer are being made regularly, so that all can see what is being done with the public money. If the present officers should fail in any of their duties, or should withhold public funds, as has been clearly shown in the case of our former sheriff and county treasurer, we say turn them out and punish them according to law, and put in a new set and not "let the old set come back," or, in other words, "swap the devil for the witch." We do not believe in condoning crime, nor offering excuses for crimes or neglect of duty, as some of the opponents of coalition have done by their words and deeds. We are satisfied that the present officers are honest and faithful to their duty, and there is no evidence wherein it can be shown that they are dishonest or that they have failed to perform their duties.

As the "old set" has been put forward to be voted for again for the respective county offices, and there are men who are endeavoring to force them upon the people through the instrumentality of their political dupes, we say that coalition is a necessity in our county affairs, and should be adopted by all good men, both white, colored, Republican and Democrat, as a remedy to save the county from the disgrace of electing men who have shown by their words and deeds that they are neither worthy nor fit to be the officers they seek.

THE CHICAGO CONVENTION

N. C. TEACHERS' ASSEMBLY

Sixth Day
MOREHEAD, JUNE 21, 1888.

They come in crowds—thirty go by half dozens. The air this morning was so quiet that many would be catchers of Spanish mackerel were thoroughly disgusted, having arisen at an early hour for the purpose of engaging in their favorite sport. But at 9 a. m. there was a glorious Southern breeze, making the assembly hall a place of pure and unadulterated light, as the pure, fresh air swept through it.

Opening hymn: "Jesus, Lover of my Soul."

Devotional exercises conducted by Rev. J. F. Love, Bayboro, N. C. President Alderman welcomed to the Assembly Mrs. Gen. J. E. B. Stuart. He announced as committee on competitive examination on N. C. History, Messrs. N. C. English, J. P. Duckett and J. T. Alderman.

Dr. Hume read a report on the Study of Shakespeare. Capt. O. B. Denson moved the adoption of the report. Carried.

Dr. Hume then in some detailed statements expanded the ideas mentioned in the report.

He was followed by Prof. Alderman, Messrs. C. H. McIver, W. A. Blair and P. P. Claxton.

Resolution offered by Prof. J. T. Alderman, to the effect that the thanks of the Teachers' Assembly be hereby tendered to the Press of North Carolina for their great interest in education and favors to teachers. Also that the Teachers' Assembly Hall be tendered to the N. C. Press Association for their meeting here in July.

Spoken to by Secretary Harrell, and the author of the resolution.

On motion of Prof. J. T. Alderman, a committee was appointed to whom the resolution was referred. The committee are Messrs. M. C. S. Noble, J. T. Alderman and R. H. Lewis.

MISS LUCY ROBINSON OF GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE THEN READ A PAPER ON

FEMALE PHYSICAL CULTURE

The paper abounded in beautiful passages, classical allusions and strong statements. Attention was directed to the fact that physical culture had engaged the attention of mankind from the earliest ages. The fearlessness and candor of the reader ought to make an impression upon our lady teachers, for her words are all "words of truth and soberness." Miss Robinson strenuously objected to the high pressure system of education. This lady is certainly a mistress of her subject, and the college which has the pleasure of having her as a teacher may be congratulated on having such a thorough instructor in this much neglected branch of study.

THE NEXT BUSINESS WAS ### COMMUNICATE

Zelus Dead.

The well known dog Zelus has met the extreme demands of nature's laws and is no more. He was taken quite ill on the evening of the twentieth and continued to grow worse up to the morning of the twenty-second when his enfeebled system succumbed to the disease which had undermined it and he died.

The deceased was a noted canine in many respects. Endowed with unusual intelligence he won the love of all who knew him intimately, but there was a rigid guard always maintained around his acquaintance and he would not have dared to pass that line without a proper introduction and a consent of some one already well known to him. He loved his friends ardently, but for his enemies he had no feeling of kindness.

Among the former he regarded all of the human race especially those who who were kind to him, and among the latter he esteemed all rats and small dogs of the speaking order. His life was an exemplary one, he had no special calling and he gave it his undivided attention. The front gate was his citadel and beyond that line with out the counterpane (laid) ever to pass and the baby carriage was never allowed to pass out except under the voluntary consent. It cannot be read however that his character was unimpaired for some years ago the veterinarian was started that he was a nocturnal visitor of poultry and diverse turkey coops with felonious intent to dig and purloin, but like all honest canine he promptly laid a public trap, which before the late lamented dog had been which exhaustive investigation will be remembered by some of your readers as eventuating in his death and a jury of the peers.

His life had been full of adventures and dangers. He once was injured by a truck thrown at him by an over zealous driver, a young lady when a cat leaping before the wheels of Zelus frightened the driver, he was stung when he fell full way when a cat was trying to clear the way for itself, and his motives were entirely unselfish, stood by the horn of their own.

At another time his life was nearly taken by a shot gun which was discharged against him, where he was larger than that of the dog, but he was "being in bad company."

The age of the deceased is not directly known, but it is supposed to be quite advanced because he had the best of the family, and when the old dump earth receives his remains to its embrace and the green grass shall have sprouted on his grave the name and fame of a long line of beautiful dogs will be forever lost.

Watchful Young Men.

One of the important means of religious improvement is watchfulness. How many influences are around us that are adverse and fatal to religious growth. If we would grow in grace we must continually keep our eyes and ears open. We must daily look within and around, with a purpose in view. We must examine every doubtful thing by the standard of the Word. How often we are overcome by the tempter from prayerless inattention. How wide awake we must continually be to forestall the great enemy of our souls. Our Saviour's command in the garden of Gethsemane should be heeded and obeyed by all who would like holy lives. "Watch and pray that ye enter not into temptation." We need to be ever on the alert for the first approaches of Satan and the occasion of his temptations. Every victory he gains over us increases his power and diminishes our strength to resist him. Let us above all watch the motions and suggestions of the Spirit, or we may fail to secure His heavenly help. We should watch for opportunities to do good. They strengthen the Christian graces. Then we should also watch the indications of divine providence. When these are observed they increase our faith and prepare us for usefulness and heaven. Then let us continually watch, for the devil is continually watching to tempt us and ruin us. God, the judge of all the earth, is watching with intense solicitude our struggle after holiness. Cheering thought.—Watchman.

Y. M. C. A., can we watch for an opportunity to do good, and then not do it? What good will watching do if it is not carried out? It is time for the young men of this town to watch. They have been silent long enough. If the success of the town lays to their watching, why not commence it now? God is watching us, there is no doubt about that, but are we watching his interest here? It does not seem so. This is a very "cheering thought," is it not?

There are at least one hundred young men in this town, who are members of the Young Men's Christian Association, and from the small attendance of its devotional meetings I will venture to say that there are not fifteen of this number watching its interest at all. This is a very cheering thought to the officers and the Association, is it not? They are certainly given poor, and very poor, help from the men. They cannot do all the work, that is certain. Now why can't you come to their aid, and help them in building up the Association and bringing in new names? Young men, you must watch, and let your watching commence at once.

IS CONSUMPTION INCURABLE?

Read the following. Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with abscess of lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."—Jesse Middlewar, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Trouble. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at R. N. Duffy's drug store.
