THE ISSUE UNCHANGED.

Mr. Blaine is a smart man, but he is not a great statesman. In his long career in the House, the Senate and the Cabinet, he has done nothing to impress his genius on the institutions of the country. Not a single measure of financial relief, domestic economy, foreign policy, or international comity ever originated in the brain of James G. Blaine. He is a magnetic man who attracts by personal bearing, pleasing address, and the skillful manipulation of issues formulated for partisan warfare.

It is no small assumption for him to come before the American people and assume to change the issues of a great campaign. Foreign travel seems to have inflated him with false conceptions. Mr. Blaine will not be able to change the national issue from a reduction of taxes to a reduction of wages.

The surplus is too large, and the demand for reduced taxation is too urgent to be disregarded. The cry for cheap clothing, cheap fuel and cheap lumber has gone up from every city, village and township in the land and it cannot be drowned in torrents of stump oratory, nor smothered with any of the devices of political legerdemaine.

Blaine's audacity is superior to his wisdom. The workingmen know that while wages cannot be voted up or voted down taxes can be. And they will vote that unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation, and must be stopped.

Nor can the Republican Senate change the issue, by a tariff bill constructed to meet the needs of a party, rather than the wants of the country.

country which possesses all the conditions for producing these things, economically and successfully, is the supremely folly. Thousands of trains laden with the very articles which we should produce come from Northern States and pour them out in our depots and go back empty. This is what has become of the $8,000,000,000 which we have received for our cotton crop since the war. This is the trouble with us as a people.

And now to add to our embarrassment and to further augment our burthens the "Bagging Trust" proposes to force us to pay to a few men the enormous sum of $2,000,000 on bagging. We can and should raise in the South Atlantic and Gulf States all the jute that would be required to wrap our cotton and to make all the bags we need. Its cultivation is as simple as possible and the appliances for manufacturing it are not costly. The Progressive Farmer a year ago suggested that the cotton farmers of the South should investigate and consider the expediency of manufacturing our poorer grades of cotton into wrapping for our staple. This could be done, and we believe we can demonstrate that it can be done advantageously.

This, among other great questions, should engage the attention of farmers all over the South. If we ever succeed—if we ever come up to the full measure of the grand possibilities of this God-favored section, we must devise ways and means by which we can control our cotton crop; and to do this we must raise our own supplies at home.—Progressive Farmer.

How to Improve One's Self.
Propose to yourself an object that is noble; pursue it from motives that are high; let what is best in you take the mastery, and you shall be ranked with the wise and good long before you are fully either. And as you go on in the course of improvement the idea of your better self will become more definite, and the life of this idea of wisdom and goodness will be clearer and stronger in you.

In all right courses of life a man resolutely desirous of becoming a wiser, a better informed, better disciplined, more useful individual, will find his thoughts, both of the end and the way, get clearer as he proceeds in his work. He sees more truly and more brightly what it is he wants; he sees more fully the means for its attainment; and with better prospect both of the end and the way, there comes increased motive for the self-improving effort of the journey.

Try it. Try to compute your artificial wants—the number of things which you fancy come under the list of must have's, merely because other people possess them, and not because you would not be quite as well and as happy in their absence. Try it for one week whenever your fingers are tempted to daily with your purse strings.

Record in your memorandum book what in view of this you sensibly resolve not to buy, and see what a nice little sum will be left you for real necessities. It is seldom by these last that one is hampered and annoyed. Make the experiment, and see if it is not so. A just economy is not niggardness; one need not be a miser, in avoiding the extravagance of a spendthrift.

MRS. JOE PERSON'S REMEDY
WILL DO FOR CANCER.
CANCER CURED—DEAD.
RINGWOOD, N. C., May 2, 1887.
MRS. JOE PERSON:
Dear Madam—Most gladly do I give you my name to place before the public bearing testimony of the miraculous cure effected on me by your most valuable testimony. Fifteen years ago I was troubled by what seemed to be little scales appearing on the right side of my cheek under the eye resembling dry meal bran, which I could remove when I shaved, but they would return again in a short time, soon an enlargement appeared under the same eye, attended with itching and burning sensations and sharp, darting pains from the affected place to the eye, causing great difficulty in closing the eye, and to sleep. Sometimes it would feel better, but never at any time disappear. Some physicians pronounced it eczema, others chronic erysipelas, and all advised me to let it alone. That I did until two years ago, when a little scab began to form right under the eye, resembling a wart, which could not remove, in size and appearance it soon grew to be as large as a strawberry, and the scabs came off and left the place entirely raw. Having fear of a cancer, began to use various kinds of salves to heal it up, but never succeeded. I consulted with physicians of great experience, they said it looked suspicious of it, and advised me to have it cut out or burnt out at once. I did not wish to do either, and being persuaded it was in my blood, I resolved to try your Remedy, as it had been recommended to me. I did so with the most happy results. I can say I am a well man. I cannot say too much for your Remedy, it is worth its weight in gold. Before I had used one bottle I was hopeful, and at the expiration of five weeks the sore was entirely healed, the scales or roughness of the skin all gone, and left me a new man. I will give one similarly affected any further information they may desire, and can only say, if the public will give your Remedy a trial it will speak for itself, and your success will know no bounds. God speed the day that must dawn upon your future prosperity. Yours most truly,
JAMES CARTER ARRINGTON.
I send for pamphlet containing testimonials of cures made among our home people, and indorsements by well known citizens and druggists of North Carolina. Price $1.00 per bottle; $5.00 per half-dozen bottles; Wash 50 cents per package; $1.50 per half-dozen packages.
