YELLOW FEVER QUARANTINED. Although poor old New Bern has received ridicule and abuse from her sister towns, she is still prepared to say there is not nor has there been one case of yellow fever this season, and with the present prevention of the physicians and city council, with the assistance of the proprietor of the Only Cash Store in North Carolina, at Humphrey & Howard's old stand in New Bern, there will not be.

Hence the proprietor, Hill Humphrey, wishes to say to the people of Northern North Carolina they need not be afraid to visit New Bern, that his quarantine against high prices is a protection for all.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO CONSUMERS Having put my delivery wagon on the street, I am now in a position to furnish all my customers with FIRST CLASS Groceries at short notice and a very small profit. I defy competition, warrant my goods, and only ask a trial to convince the most doubtful. Now some of my friends say that my advertising and my wagon don't pay me (with my small profits), and that I will soon break. Let me be the best judge of that. I am still paying 100 cents on the dollar, my property is in my own name, and I am determined to sell good groceries cheap.

Very respectfully,
THE GROCER, E. B. HACKBURN.

NEW BERNE has set her sails for prosperous breezes.

THE Republican party is cornered on every issue now before the country.

A MAN named Sine recently died childless in Cincinnati, O. He was, so to speak, a sine qua non, and he adjourned sine die.

SOME papers are firing at the Morning Star. Just as a boy shoots off his gun to show he has a gun. He didn't expect to hurt anything.

THE Baltimore American says that Candidate Harrison is a growing man. He can afford to be. He is only five feet, five inches high.

THERE was a killing frost Thursday night in the New England States, Northern New York and Michigan. The damage inflicted is very great.

ONE rose does not make a garden. No, but if every man will plant and cultivate the flower he loves best, we will have the most beautiful garden the world ever saw.

We intended publishing the President's Letter of Acceptance but must defer it until tomorrow. We will not at present make any comments upon it. It is plain and conclusive, and addresses itself to the favor of the people.

While this time forward the Democratic campaign is to be energetic and aggressive. Hitherto there has been a disposition to wait for development, but the President's letter closes up the ranks and moves the whole line forward.

JUDGE THURMAN met his engagement at Newark, N. J., Saturday night. His physician urged him not to speak over twenty minutes. He spoke just half an hour, and went away thirty minutes better used. He fairly made the fur fly. The meeting was large and successful.

HARRISON is waiting to hear from Cleveland before he sends out his letter. He wants something to write about. Well, Mr. Cleveland's letter is out. Mr. Harrison now has something to write about, but he had better do some thinking before he attempts it. He has told facts to meet, and "facts are stubborn things."

I will meet any man half way who brings fruits and flowers to share with me. He who advocates the improvement of your town does more than this. He plants orchards and vineyards and flowers that will not only be sources of purest pleasure, but revenues of wealth from generation to generation. Meet him, join hands with him, and your bowers will be as the bowers of Paradise, and your homes the habitations of peace, plenty and happiness.

THE Wilmington Star says: "The success attending the efforts of the Acme Manufacturing Company of this city to furnish cotton planters with bagging to take the place of jute seems to have started a furor in the business. A dispatch from Charleston, S. C. referring to the matter, says the plants of several manufacturers have already been ordered in different portions of that State." This is most gratifying. Anything that indicates Southern progress resulting from Southern genius stirs our blood. It is especially pleasing that North Carolina has inaugurated an industry that promises to give employment to hundreds of our people, utilize our native forests without injury to a single tree, and bring relief from the oppression of a crushing monopoly.

THE Board of Trade had a good meeting last night. Further particulars tomorrow.

THE Democratic convention of the 9th senatorial district will convene at Pollockville today.

THE steamers Nannie B. of Stella and the Blanche of the N. & T. R. S. line are on Howard's ways.

THE news from Jacksonville last night was 12 new cases of fever and 3 deaths for 24 hours. Cases to date 618.

THE Defiance's cargo out yesterday consisted in part of 120,000 feet of lumber and four hundred bundles of wood pulp.

A revival has been in progress at St. Peter's church, Col. in this city for the past week conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. E. Smith. Great interest is manifested and many converts have already been reported.

THERE will be an important meeting at the Y. M. C. A. tonight. Besides other business to be brought up, it is the annual meeting for the election of officers. It is the duty of every member to be present if they can.

TOURNAMENT POSTPONED. Jas. W. Moore, Esq., received a telegram yesterday from Greensboro to the effect that the Firemen's Tournament, which was to be held today, had been postponed for two weeks.

STEAMER MOVEMENTS. The Defiance of the Clyde line sailed for Baltimore yesterday with a cargo of lumber, wood pulp and naval stores.

DROWNED. Capt. Gid Hoffman of Pamlico reports that John Henry Johnson, colored, was drowned in Goose creek on Monday by falling off his boat. His body never came to the surface after going overboard.

RAILROAD EXTENSIONS. Our Eastern section must wake up. We notice that a railroad is being projected from Burgaw into Onslow county. Our friends at Trenton have long talked of a railroad from Coee creek. By utilizing the road already graded from Coee creek thence the Atlantic road might build the line with comparative little cost. Once to Trenton it can be extended into Onslow county. Every such enterprise should be encouraged. The lumber business since on such lines will be a big business for many years when the country will then be sufficiently developed to sustain the road. Let the ball be put in motion.

More News for Coalitionists. C. C. Hatch informs us that he is about organizing a Coalition Club near Coee creek. He has twenty-four members already. Aside from State and National politics they recognize the fact it is time for the people of Craven county to unite for their interests. Let the good work go on.

Personal. Bureau Mr. Dewey, Esq., of Elizabeth City, is visiting his old home in this city. He comes to examine the workings of fire departments, inexhaustible wells, etc., for the benefit of the department of Elizabeth City.

Samuel Quimberry and Alonso Holton, Esq., of Pitt county, arrived on the steamer Carolina yesterday.

Mrs. W. J. Street, Miss Marian Radcliff, Miss Harriette Lane, Miss Emma Jordan, Mr. C. W. Whitty and Chief Engineer Severn of the cutter Stevens were passengers on the steamer Newberne yesterday for points North.

Pollock Street News. The fall trade seems to have opened auspiciously on Pollock street yesterday. First, there was a lively runaway of two horses and some buggy smashing. Later in the day a steam mill man and a lawyer met near the postoffice and after the usual salutations and hand-shaking began an emphatic conversation which soon turned into a sparring match under Marquis of Queensbury rules. Two friends stood by and saw "fair play." The Knight of Blackstone was putting in his blows with skill and earnestness, but the Knight of the Saw and the Sullivan of Dover crowded sail, causing Blackstone to give way and stumble over the stone step into the postoffice, the sawyer with a full head of steam following. At this critical moment a gallant painter dashed from across the way and with a postoffice clerk rushed in between them. Time was called and each taken to his corral. The friends who stood by have decided that it was a drawn game and a perfectly fair one on both sides. No damage done.

Turning Towards New Bern. There seems to be a somewhat general turning of the attention of Northern seekers of health and pleasure during the winter towards New Bern. We hear of constant enquiries for means of comfortable accommodation. If a number of modern houses were to be erected and offered for rent every one of them would be taken by Northern families. Northern sportsmen throughout this immediate section increase yearly, and this season there promises to be a greater influx of them than ever. They have begun to find out that the neutral territory around us, unmolested during the four years of war, is teeming with game of all kinds, and that the waters which extend for miles east of us and south of us are filled with fish and ducks in countless numbers. And then the delightfully balmy winter climate, with roses in full bloom all the year around, and the air tempered by the proximity of the Gulf stream, with a ride by rail of only one hour to the ocean, are bringing the invalid and the consumptive to our doors in search of vigor and health.

Surely no place has been blessed naturally as New Bern has, and the practical Northern capitalist is not slow to take advantage of the situation. Can we take care of our visitors? There is everything here but sufficient room. It would seem that our town is to become the greatest winter resort on the Atlantic coast. Freedom from malaria and the insidious influences of a more Southern latitude, yet with all the balminess characteristic of such a latitude, which admits of an open air life nearly every day of the winter, make it certain, if we mistake not, that New Bern is to be the great winter sanitarium of the Eastern Union. Make preparation for our guests. Let us have scooped hotels which will be able to shelter all who come. We are glad to see that steps have been taken in that direction, and we trust are long to be able to chronicle the commencement of the erection of a winter resort which will vie in splendor, comfort and magnificence with any similar hostelry in the country.

WORTH BROWING. Mr. W. H. Morgan, merchant, Lake Clay, Fla., was taken with a severe cold accompanied with a distressing cough and running into consumption in its first stages. He tried many so-called popular cough remedies and steadily grew worse. Was reduced in flesh, had difficulty in breathing and was unable to sleep. Finally tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and found immediate relief, and after using about a half dozen bottles found himself well and had no return of the disease. No other remedy can show so grand a record of cures as Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, guaranteed to do just what is claimed for it. Trial bottles free at E. N. Duffy's drug store.

The Journal and the Alliance. We cheerfully give space to the following received by Monday night's mail:

DOVER, N. C., Sept. 10, 1888. EDITOR JOURNAL.—The following resolutions offered to Dover Alliance by committee appointed to draft the same, were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, Certain newspapers have been publishing articles stating that cotton was not marketable unless wrapped in jute bagging; and the same being calculated to mislead farmers, therefore be it

Resolved, That we, by these resolutions, denounce such papers, and that we withdraw our patronage from the same.

Resolved, That we call upon the "Cotton Exchange" of New Bern, N. C., by these resolutions to commit itself as to whether it will receive our cotton wrapped in other than jute bagging, and to notify it by the same that in case it fails to do so that we shall use our utmost endeavor to stop all manner of trade with its city.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Progressive Farmer, New Bern Journal and Wilmington Messenger for publication.

Most respectfully,
F. P. OUTLAW, Sec'y.

We presume that this action of the Dover Alliance was brought about by the following item which appeared in last week's issue of the WEEKLY JOURNAL:

Farmers will remember that cotton packed in anything but jute bagging is unmarketable.

This item was based upon a statement in the Wilmington Star that cotton had been purchased in that city wrapped in other goods and had to be repacked in jute bagging. It was given as an item of information for farmers; surely not to injure them. This item was published on the outside of our Weekly on Saturday. On the following Wednesday on the inside of the same issue appeared this item:

The assertion that cotton is not merchantable unless it is packed in jute bagging is not true.

We regret that our friends of the Dover Alliance did not see this item. We made the correction the minute we ascertained that the first item was an error, and in the same issue of the paper.

We do not blame the farmers for cutting loose from any newspaper that attempts to mislead and injure them. But how in the world any Alliance, or any farmer who reads the JOURNAL, can for a moment entertain the idea that this paper opposes them in any good and lawful undertaking is beyond comprehension. The editor having spent the most of his life on a farm (not merely as a director of how and what ought to be done but having followed the plow, used the hoe, the spade and shovel, wielded the axe and maul) and knowing the many difficulties under which they labor, we have steadfastly, since our venture in journalism, urged the importance of organization. Prominent members of the Grange have given us credit for aiding the revival of the Patrons of Husbandry in this section. We were a member of this organization while engaged in farming and know it to be well suited for farmers. We know nothing of the Alliance (don't know that we are eligible to membership though we are confident that we are a better friend to the farmers than some who belong to it), but if it is a better organization than the Grange, we bid them God speed. We have never refused to publish anything sent us by the Alliance, but have published many articles of interest to it that were not sent and shall continue to do so notwithstanding our friends at Dover may imagine that we are not for them.

The Alliance is making a noble struggle against the Cotton Bagging Trust and every impartial reader of the JOURNAL knows that it is in hearty accord with them. As to the New Bern Cotton Exchange we commend the above communication to the careful consideration of its members. We are satisfied they will do all in their power to relieve the farmers of the embarrassment which the Bagging Trust has thrown around them, and will endeavor to make it to their interest to sell their cotton in New Bern. Our merchants too will defy competition in the sale of goods.

The Onslow County Alliance. Col. G. B. Pickett, in company with Col. J. N. Whitford, returned from Jacksonville on Monday and left for Carteret county on the down train for the purpose of talking to the people on the Alliance. They were at Jacksonville last Saturday, at which time the county Alliance was reorganized. They traveled with John M. Franks, Esq., near Richards on Saturday night, and left at 10 o'clock next morning, taking the Quaker Bridge road and enjoying a cheering rain all day, reaching Col. Whitford's plantation via Pollockville about 11 p.m.

Col. Pickett will address the people at Croatan in this county on Saturday next, the 15th.

A Correction. EDITOR JOURNAL.—I notice you state in your paper of Sunday morning that $1,000 was donated by the Equitable Life Insurance Society to the yellow fever sufferers at Jacksonville. This gives the impression that the Society's money was donated. The fact is that the $1,000 named was donated from the personal funds of Mr. Geo. T. G. White, Southern Manager of that Society. Respy. E. BERRY.
