NEWARK, and new ark of the covenant.
"THE epidemic is dying out" is the glad message that comes from Jacksonville.
REPUBLICAN principles illustrated at Chicago: "Reduce the poor man's loaf that rich men may loaf in business."
It is said that when Blaine heard that Hill was to reply to him, recollections of Ben Hill overcame him, and he had to retire for refreshments.
It is a little monotonous for us to announce every day that the Democratic prospect is brighter, but we must vindicate the truth of history and stand up to the racket, monotony or no monotony.
HARRISON is disgusted with his own town, the city of Indianapolis. At the great Republican mass meeting all the honors were paid to Blaine, and Harrison became disgruntled and left without ceremony.
A CHAPEL vine dispatch says that Buck Kitchin has Oliver Dobbery treed over in the mountains, and the children of the neighborhood are trying to smoke him out while the old women are heating the water.
It is the history of presidential elections that the more city tickets there may be in the field the greater will be the vote that is called out, every ballot carrying the national candidates, as well as the local nominees. It will be so in 1888, and all the better for Cleveland and Hill.

WARNER MILLER'S flag is at half mast. In concluding his speech at Ithaca last Thursday he said: "I do not come to beg your votes. I shall not be disappointed if defeated, only sorry for the shame resting on 6,000,000 people who are controlled by the liquor element."
THE New York Star of last Friday says: "Careful and conservative Democratic estimates of the vote of the State of New York at the coming election show a plurality for the Cleveland and Thurman electors of about 40,000. This computation has been made since the first day's registration in the city and the second day's in Brooklyn."

Have you registered? If you have not, do it today. Have you registered and afterward changed your place of residence? If so, you must register again. No man can vote unless he is registered for the township in which he lives. Look into the matter at once. Be sure you are registered, and be sure you vote.
Hon. A. M. Waddell addressed a large audience at the court house last night on the political issues of the day. He commenced with a review of the State of affairs in North Carolina under Republicans, and then passed to the discussion of national politics, gave special attention to the tariff. His answer was unanswerable and delighted every Democrat in the large assembly. Mr. Waddell was escorted to the court house by the New Berne, Cleveland and Fowle Club with band and torches. Many ladies were present, and Waddell was at his best. Craven county will give a good account of herself at the polls on the 6th of November.

DEMOCRATS BEWARE!
Some of the members of Craven county seeing the defeat of the Hahn ticket starting them in the face, are busily engaged in circulating among Democrats the report that the Southern Republicans would only vote for the Republican portion of the Coalition ticket, and not vote for Nunn and Russell. The report is circulated to prevent Democrats from carrying out their part of the agreement. They know full well that if the Democrats support the ticket as they did two years ago they are overwhelmingly defeated. These same fellows are trying to make the Republicans believe that the Democrats will only vote for Nunn and Russell and not vote for the whole ticket. They always resort to desperate measures a few days before the election, and lying is about as cheap as anything they can do.
Democrats and Republicans who desire to see Craven county prosper will vote the Coalition ticket, and all the strategy and falsehoods circulated will not prevent the election of that ticket.
The People Heeding.
Reports from the canvass of the Coalition candidates are encouraging. First, because many of those who favor the movement are finding time to go out and better inform themselves of the great need and value to be derived from Coalition. Second, because others who have not been in accord with it, are willing to go out and judge for themselves instead of relying on hearing one side of the subject only. That is all the Coalitionists claim—a fair and impartial hearing from the unprejudiced and those who want representation in the legislature who will have to be recognized.
This question was given birth two years ago. It was ably propounded from the stump. It was new to the people and they took hold of it with no little hesitancy, but facts are stubborn things and they felt compelled to give it an examination. From the statement of the case it was shown that this was the way and the only way out of an evil that had too long existed. It was not as pleasant a step as all desired, but it was best under the circumstances, and whatever is best is right. Coalition has taken root and it is exerting itself into a power that is going to be felt because it is a necessity for the welfare of, not one, or certain individuals, but of the community. The wiry political dictator and leader has seen his day. The people are thinking for themselves and are no longer willing to be told what they must do. Measures and principles that will redound to their benefit is what they clamor for and is what they are going to have.

A Telephone Line for New Berne.
At the last meeting of the Board of Trade a resolution was offered by Mr. Geo. H. Roberts, requesting the committee on City Improvements to inquire into the possibility of establishing a telephone line in this city.
Mr. James Redmond is chairman of the committee and is desirous of securing the names of all persons who are willing to take stock. Our business men all remember the great advantage of the line here in 1882-'83, which would have been continued but for the exorbitant price charged. Mr. Redmond wants to secure names with the view of ascertaining the cost of re-establishing a line. It is a matter worthy of the consideration of all business men and we hope they will give Mr. Redmond their names at once.

OFFICE OF
GEORGE ASH, THE CLOTHIER.
NEW BERNE, N. C., Oct. 14, 1888.
DEAR SIR—
Your kind favor to hand and contents noted. Many thanks for your kind suggestions on business matters. I am myself a great believer in advertising and have often been convinced of its value. But has it ever occurred to you how difficult it is to get up a good advertisement—one that should meet all its requirements, what a task it is to tell in limited space and novel manner of all the bargains that a merchant has labored so hard to provide for his customers? Take my case for instance; here I have spent nearly a month in the Northern markets, spending both time and money in getting together an aggregation of the goods that would astonish the natives; were they but to know it! How I am burning to tell them of my $2000 Suits, that are so handsome and of such excellent quality that the suit recently exhibited in the House of Representatives as the greatest bargain of the Century is nothing compared to it.
How I would like to speak of my fine imported French Worsteds and English Corkscrews that are, notwithstanding the high tariff, so cheap and such elegant garments that no American citizen could withstand the temptation to purchase one, were he but to see them.
I would very much like to tell the public of my fine Prince Albert Suits and stylish overcoats, and the prices at which I sell them to have them go faster than I could replace them.
How glad mothers would be to learn that I am now selling single knee pants separate from the children's suits.
And what do you think of an elegant Gent's Kid Glove, worth $1.50 that I sell for 50c?
And how could I introduce space crowd a description of my line of Hats, that comprise the Yonanas, Tuniap and Muller looks and are bought from first hands and sold at unheard of low prices, and how I am giving away a pair of the novel and beautiful Hatters' Hats I am giving away to everybody. If you can help me out in my business you will oblige me.
In regard to your inquiry I would state that the Batters 2500 Shoes of which I am so proud, and so well because the hundreds who have bought them are daily testifying to their merits.
Mr. J. P. Blevins of Pamlico is still with me and desires to be remembered to all his friends. He expects a big trade from his only this fall.
Work for the Long Island Dyeing Establishment of which I am still the agent, is coming in daily and giving great satisfaction. We charge nothing for carrying the goods, and from New York.
Trade in consequence of the big increasing daily and prospering now really bright.
With best wishes, I remain,
Yours truly,
GEORGE ASH

Janauschek at the Theatre.
The celebrated actress, Janauschek, will appear at the theatre next Saturday night. The Chicago Telegram makes the following comment:
Last evening a large number of admirers of profound and subtle art witnessed the world-renowned tragedienne Janauschek in a grand production of the musical and romantic play, a dramatization of Sir Walter Scott's novel of Guy Ranninger, entitled "Meg Merilies." The character of Meg Merilies is one calling for an artist thoroughly schooled and educated in the most difficult and arduous lines of professional art and gifted with the genius peculiarly adapted to the interpretation of complex character, being thus qualified in the higher ranks of dramatic art. Miss Janauschek is eminently fitted to wear the mantle of the late Charlotte Cushman. She has a voice that thrills and electrifies and by its pleading tones of anguish she wins from the strongest heart emotion and sympathy. She holds her audience spell bound by a more than wonderful magnetism and power of eloquence. After a long career she is still the true representative of the heroic in drama, still the great artist whose methods are unmodified. She is an actress who combines in her own proper person an unusual variety of dramatic qualities. She has a power and emotional force greater than Robert, a nervous and fiery intensity equal to Rachel, and a skill for elaboration and finish only equalled by her rival. The story is well known to all readers of English fiction.
STATE NEWS CONDENSED.
Charlotte Democrat: The Democracy will need all the energy and activity of the party leaders and workers in this campaign. The Republicans will make the last days of the campaign in North Carolina the most active of their campaign. Every man needs to do his duty. The peace, progress and prosperity of the State are at stake in this election.
Newbern Enterprise: We are still counting on a Democratic majority in the county of 2,000 and the prospect of getting it are brightening every day. The Enterprise force and the boys hunters of the town—what sewing is going on at a lively rate. The season for sewing has set in early, and farmers will be busily pushed then next with their farm work.
Greensboro Daily Patriot: The prospects of Wake Forest college are looking up as never before. In addition to the large attendance of students, much more interest than usual is being manifested for the pecuniary benefit of the institution. Several days ago Mrs. M. F. Yates, widow of the great Baptist Missionary to China, sent a gift of $8,500 to the students and fund, and it is learned that Mrs. John S. Carr, of Durham, will in a few days, make an addition of $1,000 to the same purpose.
News and Observer: Special from Endell, Oct. 12. By far the largest Democratic meeting for many years past was held here today. The crowd was not less than three thousand, and many estimated it at four thousand. Hon. Thomas W. Mason and Hon. F. M. Simmons held this large audience for nearly four hours without a break in the attention. Nearly one-half of the multitude was composed of colored men, whose enthusiasm for Simmons was as marked and decided as that of the whites. No better work has ever been done from the hustings.
Wadesboro Messenger and Intelligencer: The Carolina Central and Georgia, Carolina and Northern railroads are to erect a large and handsome union depot at Monroe. So far as we have seen Anson county leads the South in the varied substitutes she is using for jute bagging. A bale of cotton was sold in this market last week wrapped in a d bed quilts. To give some idea of the reputation Wadesboro has as a cotton market we merely mention the fact that yesterday a wagon drawn by six oxen and loaded with eight bales of cotton was here all the way from White Plains, S. C., over 80 miles from Wadesboro.

The season for sewing has set in early, and farmers will be busily pushed then next with their farm work.
Greensboro Daily Patriot: The prospects of Wake Forest college are looking up as never before. In addition to the large attendance of students, much more interest than usual is being manifested for the pecuniary benefit of the institution. Several days ago Mrs. M. F. Yates, widow of the great Baptist Missionary to China, sent a gift of $8,500 to the students and fund, and it is learned that Mrs. John S. Carr, of Durham, will in a few days, make an addition of $1,000 to the same purpose.
News and Observer: Special from Endell, Oct. 12. By far the largest Democratic meeting for many years past was held here today. The crowd was not less than three thousand, and many estimated it at four thousand. Hon. Thomas W. Mason and Hon. F. M. Simmons held this large audience for nearly four hours without a break in the attention. Nearly one-half of the multitude was composed of colored men, whose enthusiasm for Simmons was as marked and decided as that of the whites. No better work has ever been done from the hustings.
Wadesboro Messenger and Intelligencer: The Carolina Central and Georgia, Carolina and Northern railroads are to erect a large and handsome union depot at Monroe. So far as we have seen Anson county leads the South in the varied substitutes she is using for jute bagging. A bale of cotton was sold in this market last week wrapped in a d bed quilts. To give some idea of the reputation Wadesboro has as a cotton market we merely mention the fact that yesterday a wagon drawn by six oxen and loaded with eight bales of cotton was here all the way from White Plains, S. C., over 80 miles from Wadesboro.

"THE epidemic is dying out" is the glad message that comes from Jacksonville.
REPUBLICAN principles illustrated at Chicago: "Reduce the poor man's loaf that rich men may loaf in business."
It is said that when Blaine heard that Hill was to reply to him, recollections of Ben Hill overcame him, and he had to retire for refreshments.
It is a little monotonous for us to announce every day that the Democratic prospect is brighter, but we must vindicate the truth of history and stand up to the racket, monotony or no monotony.
HARRISON is disgusted with his own town, the city of Indianapolis. At the great Republican mass meeting all the honors were paid to Blaine, and Harrison became disgruntled and left without ceremony.
A CHAPEL vine dispatch says that Buck Kitchin has Oliver Dobbery treed over in the mountains, and the children of the neighborhood are trying to smoke him out while the old women are heating the water.
It is the history of presidential elections that the more city tickets there may be in the field the greater will be the vote that is called out, every ballot carrying the national candidates, as well as the local nominees. It will be so in 1888, and all the better for Cleveland and Hill.

DEMOCRATS BEWARE!
Some of the members of Craven county seeing the defeat of the Hahn ticket starting them in the face, are busily engaged in circulating among Democrats the report that the Southern Republicans would only vote for the Republican portion of the Coalition ticket, and not vote for Nunn and Russell. The report is circulated to prevent Democrats from carrying out their part of the agreement. They know full well that if the Democrats support the ticket as they did two years ago they are overwhelmingly defeated. These same fellows are trying to make the Republicans believe that the Democrats will only vote for Nunn and Russell and not vote for the whole ticket. They always resort to desperate measures a few days before the election, and lying is about as cheap as anything they can do.
Democrats and Republicans who desire to see Craven county prosper will vote the Coalition ticket, and all the strategy and falsehoods circulated will not prevent the election of that ticket.
The People Heeding.
Reports from the canvass of the Coalition candidates are encouraging. First, because many of those who favor the movement are finding time to go out and better inform themselves of the great need and value to be derived from Coalition. Second, because others who have not been in accord with it, are willing to go out and judge for themselves instead of relying on hearing one side of the subject only. That is all the Coalitionists claim—a fair and impartial hearing from the unprejudiced and those who want representation in the legislature who will have to be recognized.
This question was given birth two years ago. It was ably propounded from the stump. It was new to the people and they took hold of it with no little hesitancy, but facts are stubborn things and they felt compelled to give it an examination. From the statement of the case it was shown that this was the way and the only way out of an evil that had too long existed. It was not as pleasant a step as all desired, but it was best under the circumstances, and whatever is best is right. Coalition has taken root and it is exerting itself into a power that is going to be felt because it is a necessity for the welfare of, not one, or certain individuals, but of the community. The wiry political dictator and leader has seen his day. The people are thinking for themselves and are no longer willing to be told what they must do. Measures and principles that will redound to their benefit is what they clamor for and is what they are going to have.

A Telephone Line for New Berne.
At the last meeting of the Board of Trade a resolution was offered by Mr. Geo. H. Roberts, requesting the committee on City Improvements to inquire into the possibility of establishing a telephone line in this city.
Mr. James Redmond is chairman of the committee and is desirous of securing the names of all persons who are willing to take stock. Our business men all remember the great advantage of the line here in 1882-'83, which would have been continued but for the exorbitant price charged. Mr. Redmond wants to secure names with the view of ascertaining the cost of re-establishing a line. It is a matter worthy of the consideration of all business men and we hope they will give Mr. Redmond their names at once.

Janauschek at the Theatre.
The celebrated actress, Janauschek, will appear at the theatre next Saturday night. The Chicago Telegram makes the following comment:
Last evening a large number of admirers of profound and subtle art witnessed the world-renowned tragedienne Janauschek in a grand production of the musical and romantic play, a dramatization of Sir Walter Scott's novel of Guy Ranninger, entitled "Meg Merilies." The character of Meg Merilies is one calling for an artist thoroughly schooled and educated in the most difficult and arduous lines of professional art and gifted with the genius peculiarly adapted to the interpretation of complex character, being thus qualified in the higher ranks of dramatic art. Miss Janauschek is eminently fitted to wear the mantle of the late Charlotte Cushman. She has a voice that thrills and electrifies and by its pleading tones of anguish she wins from the strongest heart emotion and sympathy. She holds her audience spell bound by a more than wonderful magnetism and power of eloquence. After a long career she is still the true representative of the heroic in drama, still the great artist whose methods are unmodified. She is an actress who combines in her own proper person an
