It will be in order, at any time, prior to the 4th of March, to speculate in regard to Harrison's Cabinet, but it is an unsafe thing to bet on. Mr. Blaine is again to the front for Secretary of State.

THE Richmond & Danville Company is making an unusual record. The net earnings are increasing. For the last fiscal year there was a gain of $167,000 net, while including leased lines, the increase was $425,500.

It is always gratifying to see Charlotte engaged in some new enterprise. She always goes with her head up—shows her self-reliance and awakens confidence. The Inter State Exposition that she has inaugurated will no doubt be a grand success.

WADE H. HARRIS, Esq., of Charlotte, has announced the Daily News of that city. Mr. Harris has been connected with the press of North Carolina for several years, and the simple announcement of his paper guarantees a publication of high character.

THE JOURNAL is in receipt of a copy of a pamphlet entitled "Pickens or Pettigrew? An Historical Essay," by Capt. W. R. Bond of Scotland Neck, N. C., formerly a member of Daniels' N. C. brigade, and also a staff officer of the army of Northern Virginia. It is dedicated to the memory of those of Hill's Corps who fell at Gettysburg, and "whose fame has been clouded by the persistent misrepresentation of certain of their comrades." The pamphlet was issued by Hall & Sledge, Weldon, N. C., and is sold at 25 cents a copy. It is a complete vindication of North Carolina at Gettysburg and should have a wide circulation in this State.

LOCAL NEWS.

JOHN IRELAND.—Situation wanted. M. HARRIS & Co.—Horses at auction.

Extensive improvements are being made at Cogdon's mill.

A meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held on Friday afternoon, Dec. 14th at 4 o'clock in the lecture room of the Presbyterian Church.

The county commissioners were in session yesterday considering the bonds of the county officials and adjourned without passing upon the same until today.

A terrible tragedy occurred at Birmingham, Ala., on the night of December 9th. It is known that ten men and probably more were shot dead and numbers were wounded. A mob undertook to storm a jail and the authorities fired on them.

The ladies of the Presbyterian Sewing Society are earnestly requested to meet this (Wednesday) afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Margaret Smallwood. A full and prompt attendance is requested, to complete arrangements for the Bazaar, to be held next week.

The schooner Mattie E. Hiles, Capt. J. C. Simpson, bound from the West Indies to New Berne, put into Beaufort yesterday. She left here on the 17th of October and had a rough passage on both the outward and return trips. Her cargo consists of fruit which we learn is badly damaged.

We learn that the colored ladies of New Berne are talking of getting up a festival on a grand scale, the proceeds to be given to the fire companies of New Berne as a slight token of their appreciation of the services of the companies in protecting their lives and property for the last twenty years.

An unknown writer makes a suggestion in this issue of the "Winter Resort Association." The Association is anxious to do all in its power to advertise the city, but its means are very limited. The suggestion is doubtless a good one, but another good one is, that every man who feels an interest in making our beautiful old town a popular winter resort should put his hand in his pocket and bring out the money to help to pay the expense of a "write up" in the Sunday World.

There will be a business meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association in their rooms tonight promptly at eight o'clock. The following committees are especially urged to be present with full reports of the work of the Association for the past two months: Devotional, Missionary, Library, Entertainment, Reception, Invitation and Visiting, and also Gymnasium. As business of importance will come before this meeting the officers earnestly invite all members who have an interest in the Association to be present.

Among the passengers on the steamer Kinston on Monday night was the "King Fisherman" of Lenoir. He took rooms at the Gaston House, and after retiring to his room became long-some, then superstitious, thought of ghosts, spooks, etc., and to prevent the intrusion of these hobgoblins got up and turned his pocket wrong side out. He then slept without disturbance, got up next morning and paid the old town a high compliment for its quiet and peaceableness and freedom from ghosts.

Steamer Movements. The Vesper of the E. C. D. line sailed yesterday with full cargo. The Eagle of this line will arrive this evening and sail tomorrow afternoon.

Fair and Festival Tonight. The fair and festival at Stany Hall by the young ladies of Christ Church will be an occasion of rare enjoyment to all who attend tonight. A supper of substantial with innumerable delicacies will be spread. A large variety of fancy articles on sale, and best of all, an award of a valuable ornament to some young lady by a vote of the company present. A large attendance is desired.

Death of Col. B. B. Bridgers. The sad intelligence of the death of Col. B. B. Bridgers, President of the W. & W. R. Co., was received in the city yesterday by telegram to President Washington Bryan. The funeral services will be held in Wilmington today. Col. Bridgers was about seventy years old. He was once prominent in the politics of the State, having represented his district in the Confederate Congress, and his long services as President of the W. & W. Railroad attest his skill and executive ability in managing a great railway corporation.

Goldboro Moving for Railroad Extension.

Our vigilant contemporary, the Goldboro Argus, in its issue of Sunday morning, makes an appeal to the business men of Goldboro to attend the meeting on Monday night for the purpose of discussing the scheme of extending the A. & N. C. R. After giving the names of the committee appointed by the New Berne Board of Trade, the Argus says:

Great possibilities loom up for Goldboro upon the extension of the A. & N. C. R. R., as proposed, that are too comprehensive and important to be discussed within the narrow bounds of an off-hand newspaper article. They should be discussed in open meeting before and by the assembled intelligence of the city. Therefore it is that we urge every public-spirited citizen of Goldboro to attend the meeting at the Mayor's office tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock, and let us talk about these things and appoint a committee to confer with, and act with the committee from New Berne and represent Goldboro in the coming conference with Gov. Fowle.

Goldboro is quite a manufacturing center and is growing in that line, therefore the extension of the A. & N. C. R. is a question that deeply concerns its business men, and, indeed, it concerns every town east of Goldboro. There is now practically no traffic whatever between the people of Eastern Carolina and those west of Goldboro. There is occasionally an attempt to start a little traffic but the prohibitory tariff rates on the R. & D. puts an end to it. As evidence of this one of the JOURNAL staff walked into a store at La Grange not long since and observing some fine dried fruit enquired where it was from. "It is from up the country," replied the merchant, "and the freight on it was twenty per cent." Such is the tariff on goods coming East and the surplus corn that wants to go West is ought to go over the A. & N. C. R., is prohibited by similar tariff rates. The section of country east of Goldboro has been virtually bottled up for fifteen years and the people are beginning to learn what the matter. Aside from all these reasons, the A. & N. C. R. ought to be extended through the counties of Johnson, Harnett, Moore, Montgomery, Stany and Cabarrus to Charlotte. These counties need railroad facilities and a railroad would greatly aid in developing the lumber interest and farm lands of these counties.

There ought to be a movement all along the line for the extension.

Capt. W. J. Roberts' Telegram.

The following special telegram was received yesterday:

BEAUFORT, N. C., Dec. 11, 1888.—Accidentally drowned in the Straits, six miles east of Beaufort, Capt. W. J. Roberts, of the schooner Unity R. Dyer, while running an anchor during yesterday's gale. The anchor caught on the quial and sunk the boat. Capt. Roberts being unable to swim, was drowned. The balance of the crew swam until picked up by a lighter in an exhausted condition. The body will be dragged for today. Capt. Roberts leaves a helpless family, a wife and five children. He was a Mason, well known, being an old trader for Philadelphia and North Carolina ports.

THOS. DUNCAN.

The Fair To-Night.

Last night we had the pleasure of looking in on Stany Hall, then being beautifully decorated preparatory to the entertainment tonight. Judging by what we then saw, and the ladies engaged in the decorations, we venture to say that Stany Hall never appeared more lovely than it will tonight.

But the decoration of the hall is a secondary matter compared with other attractions of the occasion. Many articles of rare beauty will be on exhibition, and the supper will be superb.

Personal.

We are pleased to note that Rev. Mr. Guthrie, who was taken sick during the session of the Conference, is improving.

B. F. Mayo, Esq., of Aurora, is in the city. He reports that a grand tournament will be held in the town of Aurora on the 25th inst.

T. J. Sawyer, Esq., of Stonewall, is in the city.

Election of Officers.

The Rough and Ready Hook and Ladder Company, No. 1, at a regular meeting held last evening elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Limber L. Lewis, foreman; Samuel J. Taylor, assistant foreman; Ed Edwards, engineer; Richard Gulon, captain of hose; John A. Boone, treasurer; Charley Kinsey, secretary.

A Suggestion.

Why does not the "Winter Resort Association" get a write up in the Sunday World like Fayetteville did in last Sunday's edition?

If New Berne could be represented by this great paper it would prove an investment of incalculable benefit to the community, and bring us more Northern visitors and capitalists than through any other possible medium.

New Berne, N. C., Dec. 11th, 1888.

Sir Launcelot Du Lake.

In the city of New Bern, N. C., on Monday, 10th December, 1888, in the prime of his life, the 6th year of his age, died

SIR LAUNCELOT DU LAKE.

Lady was a Thomas cat of renown. His parentage was mythical, for he was found in infancy wandering forlornly in a stable. Compassion for his feeble years was felt by Sir L. Cumming and Sir Edward Smallwood, so he was reared under wholesome influences, in the lap of civilization and the hearts of society. He had his regular seat at the family board in his high chair, with his own plate and napkin. His manners were exemplary. When the bell sounded the regular hours for meals, he promptly took his appointed seat. Savory food might be within easy reach and might tempt him weary and hungry, but patiently he waited for the family, and by a friendly nudge and entreating look asked for his quiet and honest meal. He taught the young politeness and deference, ate with neatness, and carefully wiped his mouth but not always with the napkin.

His habitual dress was jet black, but not so was his nature, for on his breast was emblazoned the white star of nobility, and his paws bore the immaculate ermine of royalty. He always loved refining circles, but he was a warrior of genius and sinew. All Thomas cats had to beware of the mace of his trenchant claws when his nocturnal bugle of alarm thrilled the still air. He was the very soul of honor.

Sir Launcelot set an example of early rising. Perhaps he only ceased his knightly feat (nightly feet) of arms with dawning day. Anyhow he then hastened to find the bed of Sir Cumming and Smallwood, and rest with them until he could be refreshed by his morning meal.

He had many interesting domestic traits. Forgetful of chivalrous deeds of knight errantry, he would don his neat harness and nobly draw his little wagon with its loads of various supplies, or he would spend his hours of relaxation in playfully jumping, at a given signal, over the high, lifted hands of children in merry sport. Occasionally he went to prayer meeting, but was not commonly in a religious frame. (Alas! like many other gay spirits) though he thoughtfully watched for the dismissal of the congregation, that he might join the returning worshippers and escort them to dinner. (This example is more to be honored in the breach than in the observance.) But he was intelligent and amiable and learned many agreeable and entertaining feats under kind training of companions.

Alas! through some sad but unknown calamity he suddenly began to decline a few days ago, and looked on dear friends with mournful eye. He strove to be cheerful, and pursued the even tenor of his way. All in vain! Gentle hands ministered gladly to his troubles. But oatmint and kerosene, choice viands and soft carpets, could not arrest the fatal affection. Sorrowful and oppressed he withdrew some hours from human view. But he was found by weeping Sir Edward and Lady Green, breathing away with much difficulty his gallant life.

So early died Sir Launcelot. Sincere grief and honest tears unshrink his memory. A friend and a hero has gone! Faithful in his life, remarkable for excellent qualities, he departs with no stain on his character. Without father or mother he made a reputation for himself on two continents; and was most esteemed where best known. He died regretted by all. Who can fill his place? No Thomas-Cat will be more honored or more tenderly remembered than

Borne in fitting state by bereaved friends and admirers, with no clang of tolling bells or bustle of boisterous grief, he was gently laid in his last quiet home. Fragrant flowers speak cheerfully above his grave. Ferret aspirations were breathed that his shining virtues may live with equal beauty in many lifer lives, and their benign benedictions illumine many an earthly home.

Noble Hearted New Bernians.

EDITOR JOURNAL.—I desire through your paper, to express in some measure my many obligations to two of your New Berne people for kindly aiding me in raising money to establish a school library here. The two persons referred to are, Mr. C. T. Watson and Miss Minnie Eaton. Mr. Watson sent us a large bucket of fine oysters which were most useful to our ladies here in their festival held last week for the benefit of the library. Miss Minnie Eaton, once a student of mine, very kindly made us a present of two exquisite pieces of her fancy work which sold readily. They reflect great credit upon both her skill and taste, for I have rarely ever seen anything more artistic or beautiful than the articles above mentioned. These free-will offerings from your hospitable city are but additional links in the chain of evidence that proves the "Elm City" to be unrivaled for noble minded men and beautiful and accomplished women, with hearts ever alive to every good word and work.

D. L. ELLIS, Principal of Progressive Institute, Dunn, N. C.

If you have a sick headache take a dose of Laxador, we know you will find relief.

Mothers should take warning and stop losing their babies with laudanum while teething. Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup answers the same purpose, and it is known to be perfectly harmless. Price 25 cents.

When you can get 4 Old Virginia Cheroots for 10 cents, why do you pay 6 cents for one cigar?

SAVED HIS SIGHT.

Mr. A. K. HAWKES.—About a year ago I procured my first pair of glasses from some dealer, but they strained my eyes and caused them to ache. I then bought a pair of your Crystallized Lenses, and the effect has been wonderful, as a proof of which I do not use any glasses now and see as well as ever.
