We have examined the work and consider it one of the best, as it certainly is the largest and most complete, of American magazines. In literary and artistic excellence it is in advance of any periodical we have seen in many a day.

Believing it to be eminently worthy we commend it to our readers.

Railroad Extension-An Important Meeting. The committee appointed by the Board of Trade to consult the people in this section and Governor Fowle in regard to extending the A. & N. C. R. into the interior of the State, held a meeting on Monday night last.

Resolved, That an invitation be extended to the citizens of the counties of Carteret, Hyde, Beaufort, Pamlico, Craven, Jones, Onslow, Lenoir, Pitt, Greene and Wayne, to appoint committees to meet this committee in the city of New Berne on Wednesday the 21st day of January, 1889, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of formulating a plan for the extension of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad into the interior of the State.

Resolved, further, That all others interested in said scheme be invited to attend said meeting.

The object of this meeting is set forth in the above resolutions, and it is earnestly hoped that a full meeting and a full interchange of views shall be had. We must have concert of action; a plan must be adopted that will be calculated to enlist people in every section of the State in its favor; something that will redound to the interest of the whole State.

Our comments on Governor Seales' opinion of the condition of the A. & N. C. R. and the administration of Mr. Bryan were misconstrued by one of our most liberal and enterprising citizens. He thought the facts given in regard to the embargo on all traffic between the eastern and western sections of the State were intended as a reflection upon the administration of President Bryan.

Although the inference was far fetched and would hardly be accepted by many, yet we are ready to declare that no such reflection was intended. We have no, the least doubt that President Bryan and Superintendent Dill have made every effort to secure just and equitable rates of traffic on all goods coming and going beyond Goldsboro. But they have no lawyer by which they can force a powerful corporation like the R. & D. into terms of any sort. Start the A. & N. C. R. for the C. F. & Y. V., and when they see that it is going to carry the Eastern corn which it is entitled to, the embargo will be raised and they will be glad to get every pound of freight they can from this direction at reasonable rates.

The Family section of North Carolina is a stranger to the Piedmont section and these would be a happy complement of each other in many of the products of a wholesome and luxurious livelihood. Indeed North Carolina is a stranger within itself, made so by its miserably connected railroad system.

The Farmers' section of North Carolina is a stranger to the Piedmont section and these would be a happy complement of each other in many of the products of a wholesome and luxurious livelihood. Indeed North Carolina is a stranger within itself, made so by its miserably connected railroad system.

If a Hyde county farmer has a bushel of corn for sale and a Moore county naval store manufacturer needs it, the Hyde county man ought to come to the market of his Moore county brother on an equal footing with the corn farmer in the Ohio valley.

A woodland spot, with briars grew. Many long, long years ago. When a manly form with eagle eye, Began to weed and sow.

He toiled, like Peri's watchful search, For jewels rich and rare, To bear to heaven's own golden gate, To find an entrance there.

With raindrops glistening on his brow, Tardrops on his path, When lo! a sweet forget-me not - Its gentle fragrance cast.

And now close by the grand old Neuse Was a cottage stand; Within whose walls the even voice sings In unison with other lands.

White tassels in the waving corn Meets friendships, kindly eye, While bronze green cups, of fleecy lint, Hang in fancy drapery by.

Luscious fruits are sweetly culled By happy hearts and hands, While rich and poor are daily fed By one brave, toiling man.

Ah, idle hands, just plant a flower, Not asking why it grows, And in the dusk, twilight hour, Its buds, with life, will grow.

Prominent Southerners Visit President-elect Harrison.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 19.-Hon. Thomas Seddon and his associate, comprising the committee of Southerners from Birmingham, Ala., who called upon Gen. Harrison yesterday, were particularly impressed upon the Press correspondents that their visit was non-political in the general acceptance of the term. Inquiry, however, into the causes and circumstances leading to their visit and the formulation of the address they presented to the President-elect, discloses the fact that beneath this indorsement of the protection doctrine by the capitalists of Alabama lies what may prove to be a great political project.

Said one of the committee: "We regard the solid South as a thing of the past; it is gone forever. The election of General Harrison and the certainty of the admission of two or three new Republican States, strip the South of her former power in national politics. The break-up is upon us. We must look to the arranging of new lines, and in doing so we propose to make new alliances and to bring about a settlement of the perplexing race issue."

It is learned that the original secretly issued at Birmingham about the 20th of November, and sent to about one hundred of the leading manufacturers, capitalists and business men of Alabama, has never been published. An examination of this call is of interest. It sets forth the advantages to be secured by acquiescence in the verdict of the people for protection. It deprecates and rebels from a further continuation of the political supremacy in the South of what it terms "Bourbon Rule;" and, lastly, it outlines an ingenious plan for the creation of a new and independent Southern party, whose founders and followers shall initiate a political warfare against "Bourbon rule," and press that element until it calls the negro to its aid to save it from political death.

The new party will not antagonize the colored race or drive them from its membership, but it will be organized almost entirely by white men, who expect no support to speak of from the negro at the outset. Protection and fair elections are to be the corner stone of the new party, and its charter members are men of such unbounded wealth and influence that the movement assumes an important aspect.
