The railroad people all say that the holiday travel has been the heaviest ever known.

If Gen. Harrison has a Cabinet position for a Southern gentleman let it be given to Sam Phillips. He is honest and capable.

GEN. BOULANGER'S candidacy for a seat in the French Chamber of Deputies has been endorsed by the Republican national committee.

SOME days ago it was reported that the White Caps of Ohio had been suppressed, but they have broken out again and will probably break into the penitentiary.

QUEBEC wants to rival New York, and asks a subsidy of the government for the establishment of a line of swift mail steamers between Quebec and Liverpool.

The hue and cry against lawyers so common is as senseless as it is unjust. It is said that there are enough lawyers in the next Legislature to constitute the judiciary committee.

THE Star says: "Four thousand bondholders of the Panama Canal Company held a meeting in Paris yesterday and unanimously adopted a resolution for pushing the canal to completion.

It is now understood that Blaine will be Secretary of State, McKinley Secretary of the Treasury and Wanamaker Postmaster General. McKinley is a gentleman, the others are debauched partisans.

THE bitter Republican opposition to the appointment of Leon O. Bailey to succeed Sellers in the U. S. District Attorney's office at Indianapolis is excellent proof that he is in the right man in the right place."

THE Greenboro Patriot says: The most outrageous frauds were perpetrated in Mitchell county in the recent election, if all reports are true. Johnston will contest Ewatts' election. Even a Republican House cannot fail to seat him, if the charges of fraud are sustained.

THE Asheville Citizen says: Gen. Clingman has just returned from New York from a long visit connected with his electric light patent. The General has patents for two systems, the incandescent and the arc. He is confident from experiments made with them that they are superior to the systems now in use.

In the sixth senatorial district of the State of New York the opposing Democratic and Republican candidates have precisely the same name—Thomas Francis Grady they both sign themselves, and as Thomas Francis Grady each is known to family and friends. They are very much alike in personal appearance.

THE Wilmington Messenger says: Virginia is undoubtedly at the beginning of a movement of progress and prosperity that must place her in the front rank of progressive States. Her commercial supremacy among South Atlantic States is as sure as anything can be, and the time is coming, not in the far off, when the section from Richmond and Petersburg to the Chesapeake and Atlantic will present the densest population on this continent, when the largest commercial population of the United States will be found somewhere in the radius we have described.

LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
GATES & BARNUM—Dissolution.
J. W. STEWART—Mules for sale.

The funeral of John Lane Jordan will be held this afternoon at 3:15 o'clock.

The steamer Carolina brought in a large string of partridges yesterday evening.

But few oyster boats in the market dock yesterday. The Christmas cargoes have been sold out and a New Year's supply is gone for.

A party of six sportsmen came down from Kinston last night for a hunting expedition. They will take a tug from here down the river to the sounds for a few days.

Justice Brinson had before him yesterday a colored man and his wife for cruelly beating a small colored girl about ten years old. They were bound over for their appearance at the next term of the Superior Court.

Shipping News.
The steamer Vesper of the E. G. D. line sailed yesterday with a full cargo. The Eagle of this line will arrive today and sail Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Gin House Burned.
The gin house of Mr. John Aldridge about two miles from Kinston was burned on Friday night last. Origin of fire unknown. Loss partially covered by insurance.

Fine Stock.
The recent lot of mules and horses brought on by J. W. Stewart is pronounced by many to be the finest ever brought to Eastern North Carolina. The mules are all young, of medium size, close build, and especially suited for farming purposes.

Personal.
Mr. William Manly of Baltimore is spending the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Judge Manly.

Miss Ella Ives left yesterday morning on her return to Staunton, Va.

Mrs. George Collier and Mrs. R. T. Fulghum of Goldsboro are in the city. They were called here by the death of Miss Susan Oliver who was sister to Mrs. Collier.

Miss Alice Taylor of Mobile, Ala., is in the city visiting relatives and at the residence of Mrs. J. H. Becton.

Was it Unlawful?
It is reported that a warrant has been issued by a J. P. of Carter county for the arrest of Jackson Saunders for shooting Tom Hancock who was arrested a few days ago for crimes and misdemeanors. It seems that Hancock resisted the officer and posed. They were trying to arrest him without doing him bodily harm but in the attempt he succeeded in getting a pistol from them and threatened to shoot if they molested him. Saunders came up so Hancock ran off, and in obedience to the command of the officer fired upon him putting a buck shot through his thigh. From all reports Hancock was carrying things with a high hand, and the officer thought it necessary to resort to force for his arrest.

The question is if the posse could arrest him only by shooting him, did the officer have the right to order him fired upon and was the posse bound to obey said order.

If Hancock is such a character as he has been represented to be, whether the shooting was lawful or not we think the courts and the community will excuse Saunders.

Medical men often puzzle themselves over the large sale that Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup enjoys. Its great popularity is due only to the excellent qualities possessed by this household medicine. 25 cents.

If you want to feel well and lively, use Laxador. All druggists keep it. Price only 25 cents.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.
Mrs. Winslow's DOING'S SYRUP should always be used for children's ailments. It soothes the child, cures the cramps, sickly all pains, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

What He Has Done.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—I see that the Presidency of the A. & N. C. R. R. is troubling many of our people. It does not seem to me that a man's popularity should be so much considered as his business qualities; what we need is a man who will manage the road on strictly business principles. I know but very little about railroads or their management, but I do know that Mr. Bryan has given us the best facilities for shipping our truck of any one else; he has put us within 23 hours of New York, and given us ventilated cars; he, contrary to the expectations of many of us, moved the immense potato crop as fast as put on the road, and I don't think ever missed connection at Goldsboro; he ran a daily truck train when there was but little truck to carry; and all these things help the farmers.

I sincerely hope Mr. Bryan will be re-elected; for, although another might move our truck by taking Mr. Bryan's steps, yet he should be honored for his industry, at least this is the way it looks to one who trucks on a very small scale.

Kinston Items.

Mr. Jas. McDaniel returned to Wake Forest on Thursday.

There have been, up to date, 5,000 bales of cotton weighed here this season.

Dr. Carr of Craven and Mr. Lane, now of Georgia, but recently of Craven, were in town Friday.

Mr. William Mawborne and bride of Farmville, Pitt county, are spending a few days with relatives in town.

One of Craven county's citizens was in town last week inquiring if anybody had read "Clay's Eulogy in a Country Yard."

Mr. Henry Archbell, our energetic and enterprising baker, is repairing the frame building adjoining Mr. Pridden's brook store, for a home for his baking products. Let all lovers of good bread come and try Mr. Archbell.

P. H. Pearson, Esq., of Trenton, was in town on Friday. Though several of our first class young ladies have recently selected life partners, yet there are many more left of the same sort. Jones county is welcome to what it can get here.

Mr. J. A. Pridden received a very painful injury in his hand Thursday. He was driving a mule in a buggy. The animal ran away and threw Mr. P. from the buggy. He fell upon his right hand, dislocating the third finger. It is, the right hand, and very great inconvenience is the result.

Miss Carrie Iler of Jones county, came very near meeting with a serious accident on Thursday morning last. While horseback riding, her horse became frightened, at the foot of Queen street and ran along it at full speed till reaching the monument. There, as it was turning the corner near Mr. J. A. Parrott's pharmacy, Miss Iler fell from her horse, but was very promptly caught by her escort, Mr. Richard B. West, who was riding close at hand. She was carried into Hotel Tull and received kindly attention. No damage except fright.

The regulations now require that one cent shall be collected on the delivery of each letter advertised.

M. MANLY, P. M.

LOOK OUT FOR THEM.

The great reputation my spectacles and eye-glasses have attained throughout the U. S. has led unscrupulous persons to counterfeit them. There are none genuine unless the name of Hawkins is stamped on the frames and I would respectfully announce that I possibly supply no peddlers.

THE JEWELS IN WINTER QUARTERS.

Having returned from the various summer resorts, tugged through the Presidential campaign, and struggled through the fall business, the question of a winter resort next engaged the attention of the panel.

After a due consideration of various points, places and pleasures, New Berne won the cup in the race, and will enjoy the advantages of the presence of this august body from now until the budding and blooming of spring; or may be until the sultry nights of summer shall again summon the members to the hill country and the seaside.

The panel have now encircled in the suggest little harbor from the rigors of winter that even fancy can depict.

It is situated on the main road leading from the headquarters of a large cotton buyer in the east to that of two others in the west. From the northern boundary rises an elevated railway, that takes one up to the sample rooms, where the greatest variety of the fleecy staple is displayed and prepared for its mission to the great marts and mills of the world.

On the south, the vast accumulation of huge bales from the vici align themselves, as if endowed with intelligence, to await the change of ownership which furnishes them a sure transit to a more distant market. Which is plainly viewed through the open door and grand, stained glass window—the staining in Fly's most artistic style.

The interior of the Resort is all that luxurious comfort could ask. The heating apparatus, of the most improved pattern of what is known in dealers' parlance as the egg stove—furnished to the projectors at a cost of $2,37, including a pipe and cylinder—supplies an abundance of warmth on cloudy days, and with the aid of the sun in clear weather, renders the temperature quite summary. The furniture throughout is unique, tasty and was procured with the utilitarian idea uppermost in the minds of those who contracted for it. Everything is arranged on a substantial scale, and three of Fairbanks' 700 pounders are there to verify the assertion. The walls are frescoed, and further ornamented with glittering stencils scientifically arranged for a combination of beauty and service.

Within the enclosure of this magnificent place, considerable deposits of coal are found, as also an abundance of petroleum, from which the nearby offices draw their supply of the former, and of the latter the truck hands a sufficiency to grease their trucks and mix the blacking for marking cotton. A supply of water is always on hand, obtained from a well 160 feet deep, only thirty or forty yards from the door sill.

When all counted, there are twenty-one steamships of various sizes, which land within a rifle shot of the southern balcony of the building, which fronts on an excellent driveway to the passenger sheds and freight wharves of one of the largest steamer lines. And about thirty feet southwest of the Resort is the bridge that has more crossings in the course of the year than any in the city or county.

Such is a brief description of the winter resort of the Panel, and in which most of their future plans will be formulated. Meeting around the Exchange fire-place will only occur on red letter days, which according to the Statesville Landmark are days on which the Governor of this State feels it his duty to decline to commute the death sentence on the life of any one thus unfortunately situated. The panel will buckle down now in earnest and be a power in the land. Applications for membership are pouring in, and the black ball will doubtless be called into requisition to "keep the rascals out."

The latest census places the membership at 804 or 403, the enumerator declaring he had forgotten which. His report being closed at midnight, Dec. 24th, may save him from expulsion.

MARRIED.

At the residence of the groom's brother, Wm. H. McCosley, on Bear Creek, Wednesday, December 19th, at 3:30 p. m., Mr. Cicero S. McCosley to Miss Mary Alice, youngest daughter of Capt. Eden Yeomans. All of Bear Creek, Onslow county. Rev. Benjamin Ward officiating.

The welfare and prosperity of this happy couple is hoped for by the whole community, and may their lives and pathway be strewn with never fading flowers.

DEED.

In New Berne, N. C., on Thursday, December 27th, 1888, Mrs. Susan Moore Oliver, aged 76 years.

For many years she has been a sufferer from disease. She died calmly, quietly, peacefully, at peace with the world, at peace with her God. Her remains were taken to Christ Church, and from thence to the family burial lot in Cedar Grove Cemetery. Truthfully can it be said that a good woman is at rest.

John Lane Jordan.

Died, about 20 miles from New Bern, on Thursday, 27th December, 1888, at the age of 19 years, JOHN LANE JORDAN, from the accidental discharge of a gun.

This community is sorely smitten in the death of this promising young man. Just entering upon manhood's estate, studying diligently and progressively for his selected profession; full of earnest anticipation of a glowing future; an upright youth upon whom were centered the fond and laudable hopes of his family, JOHN LANE JORDAN has been summoned suddenly—oh, so suddenly—to another world and sphere of life. Mortally wounded, when returning from a hunting excursion, by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of a loved and loving companion, he yet lived about three hours.

In this terrible calamity, and while suffering greatly, he most fervently committed his immortal soul, in earnest prayer and supplication, into the loving hands of a faithful Saviour. A child of the blessed Covenant of Grace, he looked—as he had been long taught—to the God of the Covenant, and to the Christ who died to rescue the penitent and believing.

A worthy young man has gone from our midst. The hope of a household is dead. Young men weep for a bright young comrade. Sorrowing friends bow in sympathetic grief with stricken relatives. A pall and a dirge drop deep darkness over breaking hearts and blasted hopes. Where, oh where are light and comfort? Only in cherished memories of the loved one gone from the fireside, an amaranthine tribute to his dust, and a believing rest, as we weep, on the breast of Jesus, the Divine Redeemer. In this supreme hour of wrenching sorrow may the God of all grace minister consolation to each afflicted one.

"O faithful God, O kindest guide, Twere well that Thou wert at my side When blew those storms across my sea, That tossed me then so wearily.

Twere well I asked thy guidance, Lord, And well thou camest at thy word, For when these storms of life are past, Thou'lt land me safe in heaven at last!"

L. C. V.

The funeral of JOHN LANE JORDAN will take place in the Presbyterian Church at 3:15 p. m. on Sabbath, 30th December, 1888.

Rub the "painful points" thoroughly, when afflicted with neuralgia, with salicylate Oil, the great pain annihilator. Price 25 cents a bottle.
