By way of Paris the information comes that Gen. Lew Wallace is to be in the new Cabinet.

IF it hurts you to sneeze don't take snuff. Avoid everything that is hurtful to yourself, hurtful to society, hurtful to morality and truth.

"How is it that a Democrat can see good in the future?" Faith, is the answer. Faith in God, faith in American manhood, faith in the ultimate triumph of good over evil.

THE ministers of Indianapolis are trying to get Gen. Harrison to oppose the inauguration ball, but they have not succeeded in drawing from him any opinion what ever.

MAX O'RELL says: The Americans are full of unwarredness, and their country is getting like the land of conjuring. The earth is small, it has often been remarked, but America is large.

THE greatest French prose writer of the day, M. Ernest Renan, one day wishing to turn himself into a prophet of ill omen, predicted that, if France continued republican, she would become a second America.

GENERAL HARRISON may derive benefit by reading the lives of the Presidents, but it has been suggested that if he will avoid reading the Chicago platform he will make his task easier and the result better.

THE Wilmington Messenger has entered upon its third volume. This is a matter of congratulation to the public no less than to the able journal in whose prosperity North Carolinians feel an honorable pride.

JUDGE MERRIMON and Josiah Turner are added to the list of Senatorial candidates. If every neighborhood brings out a candidate Ransom may not be elected on the first ballot, but we do not believe a combination can be made to defeat him.

A PHENOMENON is reported from Dakota, a crevice in the earth emits a volume of steam, accompanied by a strong sulphurous odor and light colored smoke; there is a deep rumbling sound, and the ground in the immediate neighborhood is heated. Is it a volcano?

Gov. HILL, of New York, has dropped from his staff the gentleman who declared during the last campaign that he would rather have the drinking saloons behind him than the churches. By this the Governor clearly makes a concession to the moral sentiment of the country which should be recognized.

BENJAMIN HARRISON is studying the lives of the Presidents. He has concluded his perusal of the life of George Washington and has had the gratification of seeing something familiar. He will next take up John Adams, and will feel perfectly at home as he goes along. But when he comes to Thomas Jefferson he will be a stranger in a strange land.

THE issue of the Tradesman of January 1 will contain a list of every industry built in the Southern States in the year 1888, also every one enlarged and all that were projected. The leading branches show an encouraging increase. The total number of railroad companies organized in the South during the year was 253. The Tradesman will say that the figures do not so much show what has actually been built as they indicate the wide diversity and unmistakable drift of enterprise and endeavor in the Southern States, and demonstrate the rapid strides the section is making towards becoming the manufacturing region which its abundance of resources has fitted it for.

Capt. John A. Richardson has forwarded his resignation as collector of customs, having been appointed Register of Deeds of Craven county.

Mrs. D. M. Roberts, who had the misfortune to fall on a hot stove from an attack of vertigo, died yesterday evening. Funeral from the M. E. Church this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The colored people of New Berne and surrounding country celebrated Emancipation Day yesterday at Stanley Hall. The Rough and Ready hook and ladder company were in the procession with their uniforms and added much to the appearance of the turnout. The address was delivered by Jan. E. O'Hara, Esq.

From the West.
During the holidays we received a letter from our former esteemed townsman, Robert B. Lehman, Esq., renewing his subscription to the JOURNAL. It will be gratifying to his many friends here, as it is to us, to learn that he is actively engaged in the practice of his profession at Tacoma, Washington Territory. His firm is Doolittle, Pritchard & Lehman. The JOURNAL wishes him and his a happy and prosperous New Year.

Shipping News.
Five oyster boats, seven boats with produce, and five with wood, are lying at the various wharves.

Three schooners are loading lumber at Bladen mills for Northern ports.

Personal.
Miss Bertha Cutler returned to Greensboro Female College yesterday.

Mr. J. A. Powell returned to Trinity College yesterday.

Mr. J. J. Lane of this county, who has been South superintending a turpentine orchard, is in the city. He will leave for Georgia in a few days with a number of turpentine hands.

It Would Not Run.
About the richest joke of New Year's is said to have occurred on Pollock street. An old colored gent with a party of friends were walking through the city, and as they were taking in the scenes of lower Pollock, having become somewhat fatigued, they saw what they supposed to be a street bar standing ready to take passengers, and stepping in seated themselves with much gratification at the promised relief and pleasant ride. After waiting for the car to start rather an unreasonable time an investigation revealed the fact that the supposed car was a house on the move up the street and the hands off on a holiday. An immediate exodus of the old gentlemen and his party followed, he declaring as he stepped out, "do ole oman's allies make no sort of mistakes when she comes to town; don't believe she ever seed a street kyar."

Building and Loan Association.
The regular monthly drawings payable January 2d, 1889. Payments must be made promptly to meet at the National Bank.

J. R. B. COMBES, Secretary and Treasurer.

A Five Thousand Edition.
On or about the fifteenth of this month we will issue a special edition of five thousand of the WEEKLY JOURNAL for the purpose of thoroughly advertising the Fair in this section. The bulk of this edition will be circulated in Wayne, Lenoir, Duplin, Onslow, Jones, Carteret, Craven, Pamlico, Hyde, Beaufort, Pitt and Greene counties.

Our regular advertisers, those who run yearly contracts with us will get the benefit of the special edition. A few other "ads" will be taken at one dollar per square.

Talk up the Fair.
The merchants, cotton buyers and all other business men should from this time on talk occasionally about the Fair. When a customer comes in from the country and gets through trading, speak a word about the Fair; urge him to come and bring something from the farm to exhibit. This annual exhibit is capable of being of vast advantage to New Berne and this Eastern section, and it behooves every one, whether he be a stockholder in the Association or not, to speak a good word for it. There can be no such thing as fail in a community where the people are in earnest and united. From now until Feb. 15th, talk up the Fair.

Record for 1888.
The records in the Register of Deeds' office of Craven county show that during the year 1888 one hundred and eighty nine marriage licenses have been issued, seventy-nine to whites and one hundred and eighteen to colored.

Eight hundred and eighty-five chattel mortgages and eight hundred and seventy-eight deeds, real estate mortgages, liens and conveyances have been made.

So it seems that business has been quite active in matrimonial as well as in business circles. There has been 363 marriage licenses, 17 chattel mortgages, and 1682 deeds, mortgages, liens and conveyances recorded every week in the year. A pretty good year's work. It would be a great pleasure to record the fact that every marriage has been a happy one and that every chattel mortgage, real estate mortgage, lien, deed and conveyance has been a profitable investment for the grantor as well as the grantee. But of these things we are ignorant.

Feast and Christmas Tree.
At Memorial Chapel on George street yesterday evening the annual feast was given to the poor of the parish by the congregation of Christ Church. This has been heretofore given the feast of the Holy Innocents but was for sufficient reasons postponed to New Year's on this occasion. At the same time and place the Brotherhood of St. Andrew had a magnificent Christmas tree for the children of the Mission Sunday school which is held there under the auspices of this Order.

The whole affair was unusually pleasant, and a large number was there to enjoy the abundance of good things spread before them. The donors enjoying in the dispensation of the rich viands, equally as much delight as the recipients of them, and went to their respective homes feeling that it is indeed "more blessed to give than to receive."

The Baptist Almanac for 1889.
The N. C. Baptist Almanac for 1889, edited and published by Rev. C. T. Bailey, editor of the Biblical Recorder, Raleigh, N. C., is on our table. It is a valuable publication for everybody and a necessity for Baptist families. It contains, among other things, full statistics of the various religious denominations in the State and United States, complete State government directory, full court calendar, complete directory of all Baptist boards and institutions in N. C., besides an article on "What is Communism," biographical sketches, etc. Price 10c. Address Rev. C. T. Bailey, Raleigh, N. C.

Onslow County Items.
Mr. James Henderson and Miss Mary Oliver of White Oak, were married last week, S. L. Gerock, E. q., officiating.

Miss Josie Watson was seriously burned this week, her dress taking fire while she was near the fire place. Her life is in danger.

Mr. Geo. H. Melville of White Oak, had the misfortune to lose his pocket containing ten or twelve dollars in money and tax receipts for 1888, between Pollockville and New Berne recently. He is a poor man, and if an honest man has found his pocket book he will return it.

"Trouble commences early in life," we heard a young wife say, when she sent for a bottle of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup, to cure the baby.

In low material districts, which abound in the south and west, people find it necessary to keep a few boxes of Laxado constantly on hand. As a pure and powerful tonic it is a general favorite.

An Important Meeting.
All who feel an interest in the extension of the A. & N. C. R. and the consequent development of this section should attend either in person or by delegation the meeting called by the committee of the Board of Trade to assemble in this city on Wednesday the 9th instant.

The reason for this movement is apparent to everybody that has been brought to know that the policy adopted by the R. & D. towards the A. & N. C. R. R. has destroyed all traffic and interchange of products between the people of the East and other sections of the State. Unless that policy can be modified by the creation of a railroad commission and the embargo taken off of our Eastern products it is absolutely necessary that the A. & N. C. R. be extended to the F. & Y. V. on some terms.

The existence of the present system of railroad traffic in North Carolina is not creditable to the genius and wisdom of the people of a great State. It remains to be seen how long the grasping corporations are permitted to destroy the business and industry of a portion of the State to build up markets and towns of other States.

Pro and Con.
A few days ago we published a communication from John Humphrey, Esq., an intelligent farmer of the county, showing what advantages the A. & N. C. R. had given him as a trucker the last year or two.

Today we publish one from Mr. Lewis Grady of Kinston complaining of high freight charges and discriminations against him.

We are willing to publish short points of communications on the workings of the A. & N. C. R. over the signatures of the writers.

If the people have grievances they ought to let them be known. Mr. Grady certainly has cause to complain and he makes his complaint over his own signature, and it does not appear to be grounded on prejudice against the present management of the road. We think, however, that he should have made his complaint first to the superintendent or general freight agent. There must be some mistake in regard to the discrimination against him. We are certain the managers of the road will not undertake to sustain such palpable discriminations.

The Theatre Last Night.
The Van Tassel Company held the boards at the theatre last night in the highly sensational drama, "Hidden Hand." From the crowded house present it was suggestive that the troupe has met with a full appreciation. Miss Van Tassel kept the same reputation she won the night before—in being able to please, though at times we consider her a little pert. In her original dances a most hearty applause was elicited. The negro character was not long in becoming a favorite. Also Black Donald and Herbert Grayson carried well their parts. The house was a crowded one and all seemed to join in the applause.

We think the profanity engaged in during the play could be left off with better effect.

Tonight they appear in "Sweet Sixteen."

Why is It?
KINSTON, N. C., Dec. 31, 1888.

EDITOR JOURNAL—I am a fruit dealer in Kinston, and, with other fruits, deal in Florida oranges. I have had several shipments from that State during the fall and winter, all with excessive freight charges attached. On the 10th of December last five barrels of oranges were shipped to me from Brooksville, Fla., a point on the Southern Gulf Railroad near Tampa. They reached me last Christmas day with $9.00 charges to Goldsboro and $2.40 from Goldsboro to Kinston. By what route they reached Goldsboro I do not know; but with such heavy charges they may have come by way of "Asia, Spasia, and Yoder side of Hullsboro."

I do complain, however, of the excessive charges made by the A. & N. C. Railroad from Goldsboro to this place, which was 45 cents per barrel. Oranges were shipped to other dealers here from Goldsboro a few days after I received mine, on which only thirty cents per barrel were charged. Now, how is it that I am charged eighteen cents per barrel more than other dealers here on the same class of freight from Goldsboro? Is it because I am a radical and prohibitionist, or is it because the management of the A. & N. C. Railroad have no system of regular local freight to govern them? This road, instead of inviting freights, seems to have adopted the Rob Roy plan—

"Let him take who has the power, Let him keep who can."

Is this just, is it fair, is it lawful, is it honest? Let our Legislature look into these extortionate and excessive charges of our railroad.

Respectfully,
LEWIS GRADY.

For Reading Clerk of the House.

Mr. H. A. Latham has claims superior to any other contestant. He was prize speaker at the University where he graduated, paying his way by his own efforts meanwhile. He has always been a sterling Democrat and for the last three years has devoted his time talents and earnings to the cause of Democracy. His work and influence have not been circumscribed by the boundaries of one county, nor of one district, but they won a potent factor in the big Democratic gains of the East in the last election—his paper circulating in every nook and corner, and it a recognized Democratic exponent. He is capable and deserving. Give us Latham and let the East be recognized in the officers elected of the House.
