consecrated to the service of their country, temporary defeat brings no discouragement."

HERE is something that will be gratifying to Hon. Henry Cheatham, and his friends, from the Cincinnati Commercial: "Something is said very often about the control of the National patronage in Ohio during the Harrison administration. One day we are told Sherman will control it, and then that Foraker will control it, and then that if some Ohio man is put in the Cabinet the control will wander abroad. Gen. Harrison is a believer in referring to the Republican Congressmen as to appointments, and the probability is he will throw the responsibility upon them as long as they behave themselves." Just think how Dockety, Hayes & Co., will feel with Cheatham in control of the National patronage in North Carolina!

GOLDSBORO was written up and illustrated in Sunday's New York World.

SWIFT GALLOWAY declines being a candidate for Reading Clerk of the House.

A CONFERENCE between leading Presbyterians of both sections indicates a strong probability of the union of the church North and South.

ONE of our Irish friends says that it is very queer there is such a stir about the surplus and the Mills bill. "Why the—don't they take the surplus and pay the Mills bill?"

OF a Railway Commission the News and Observer says: "Properly formed it would be of general advantage, tending to the promotion of business and the upbuilding of the State everywhere."

It is reported from El Paso that a clerical mob attacked President Diaz's palace in the city of Mexico, but were repulsed with great slaughter, in which seventy-two priests were killed, and two thousand prisoners were taken, and two hundred priests, with their bishop, were arrested next day and ordered to be shot."

THE Greensboro Workman says: "The great seal of the Confederate States of America, which was made in England, but only reached Richmond just before the close of the war, has been presented to the State of South Carolina by Col. W. E. East, of Washington, into whose hands it fell at the collapse of the Confederacy."

THE greatest strike the country has ever known is said to be possible at hand. A Chicago special says: "The railroad transportation of the country will simply be paralyzed by it as it will be a fight to the death between organized labor and organized capital. The firemen, brakemen, switchmen and every class of organized railway labor will be arrayed on our side."

THE Wilmington Star says: During 1888 in North Carolina there were two agricultural implements works built; there were six breweries erected; nine tobacco and cigar factories; forty-one cotton and woolen factories; eight electric light plants; twelve mining and quarrying companies; three oil mills; forty-five water works; five railroad companies organized. This is commendable and encouraging progress.

THE letter addressed by Mr. Cleveland to the Massachusetts Tariff Reform League, at its late annual gathering in Boston, is worthy of the man and the occasion. In it the President says: "So long as the advocates of tariff reform appreciate the sentiments in which our institutions had their origin; so long as they apprehend the forces which alone can guide their operation; so long as they, in the spirit of true patriotism, are

What Eastern North Carolina Needs.

New Berne is making telephone connections through Jones, Carteret and Onslow counties, having already extended the line to Mayville on the border of Onslow. The JOURNAL notes the fact with no little satisfaction, and says that quick communication with every neighborhood is what is needed, and laments the want of a railroad from New Berne into Jones and Onslow. The first thing you know the Atlantic Coast Line will have a road extending from Wilmington through Onslow, by way of Kingston, Greenville and on to Norfolk. Then New Berne can get into Onslow by running up to Kingston, and taking down the Wilmington line, and onto this city by the sea, if you wish. How do you like that neighbor?—Wilmington Messenger.

The writer of the above paragraph is thoroughly North Carolinian, and his devotion to Eastern Carolina has long been tested; it is strong and sincere. He has, perhaps, written more on the subject of internal improvement, and written more intelligently, always advancing practical ideas, than any other writer of the last quarter of a century. He is always ready to sound the alarm when the vitals of our trade centers are about to be pierced by the enemy, the interest of his State and specially his section being the incentive that inspires his pen.

The great North and South lines of railway that cross North Carolina have but little or no interest in our seaport towns. They are diligently seeking to drain every foot of territory contiguous or tributary to our ports. The paragraph quoted above is a good illustration of what they intend to do, and the Clinton branch road, the Tarboro branch and the Scotland Neck branch which we learn is to be extended to Washington is evidence of what they have done. If the Atlantic Coast line builds a road into Onslow it will most likely branch off from its main line at Burgaw and gathering the products of that rich country it will very naturally take them over the route that will give it the longest haul and pay the best—take them North instead of to Wilmington. The people of Wilmington, Onslow, Jones and Craven ought to insist on a line of road direct from Wilmington to New Berne; they ought to insist on State aid by means of convict labor as the opening up of the country will bring the State lands into market and make them taxable property and the products of the intervening territory will be marketed in Wilmington and New Berne and help to swell the trade and commerce of these North Carolina towns instead of those of other States.

Unfortunately for the East the main East and West line of railway passing through the center of the State, is operated and controlled by a North and South line, a corporation that is hostile to the building up of any seaport town in North Carolina.

The Messenger will agree with us in the assertion that Eastern Carolina is pre-eminently a grain growing country, and New Berne being easily accessible by the various creeks, rivers and sounds ought to be the center of the grain trade. We well remember when the farmers along the Trent had their barns on the banks of the river where the corn could be easily transferred to the boats and brought to New Berne. But all this is changed. The Western grain grower is brought right to our doors and his products brought in competition and given an advantage over the grain growers of Eastern Carolina. The town of LaGrange, with its large and prosperous schools, is supplied with meal from the Richmond mills, and west of Goldsboro not a bushel of corn or meal can be shipped from New Berne because the high freight rates take all the profits. What does the Messenger think of 22 cents per hundred pounds on corn by the car load from Goldsboro to Greensboro? Is there any encouragement to grow grain to ship under such a tariff?

It seems to us that our only hope is in striking for the O. F. & Y. V. With the main line of this road extended to Wilmington and a branch connection with the A. & N. C., and a direct line through Jones and Onslow from Wilmington to New Berne we will begin to develop Eastern Carolina and our own seaport towns will reap the benefits of such development.

Returning to School.

The New Berne boys who have been home during the holidays have returned to their respective schools. Messrs. Shepard Bryan and Joseph Rhem go to the University and will sustain the reputation of our city and county at that institution; S. M. Brinson will do the same at Wake Forest; Powell, Daniels, Holland, Roberts and Willis make up a good representation at Trinity; Hill and Duguid maintain a soldierly bearing at the Davis School, and George Ransom returns to Old Virginia. Success to you all boys; may you ever sustain the honor and reputation of your city and county.

JAS. T. LEWIS, C. M.

Committee on fire department reported an accident to one of the Atlantic engine horses at a recent fire from too rapid or careless driving, and suggested an ordinance against driving faster than a rapid trot in going to fires.

Councilman Williams moved that the city attorney be requested to draw up an ordinance to that effect. There being no objection the attorney was requested to draw up the ordinance.

The following ordinance was reported and on motion to adopt the vote was unanimous.

BEET ORDINANCE.

Sec 1. That the horses drawing the steam fire engines belonging to the fire department of the city shall not, at any time, be driven at a faster gait than a trot.

Sec 2. That the driver violating this ordinance shall for the first offense be fined $10, and for the second dismissed from the service of the city.

Committee on finance reported the tax collected amounted to about the same as to that date a year ago, and recommended that steps be taken for the collection of taxes to be taken immediately.

Councilman Thomas appeared and took his seat.

Sanitary committee reported that the account of Morgan & Clark had been settled, and also that the ordinance in reference to trash left in the streets was not promptly obeyed.

Chairman committee on police reported that one of the policemen had been resisted and assaulted, and recommended that the policeman be firmly sustained by the board in discharge of their duty. He also highly complimented the police force in the discharge of their duty, and said they were all sober men—did not drink at all—athing that had not been known in police circles for many years.

Committee on streets and pumps reported complaints of violation of ordinance in regard to obstructing the streets with merchandise.

On motion the marshal was instructed to publish sections 27, 28 and 31 of chap. 3, and to notify the public that in five days after publishing the law will be rigidly enforced.

Committee on wharves and docks, and ordinances and licenses made no reports.

Committee on cemeteries reported cemeteries in good condition.

On motion of Councilman Gray, Messrs. Edwards & Clark were requested to furnish the board an explanation of their account as by resolution at November meeting.

On motion of Councilman Williams the lamp on corner of West and Queen streets was ordered to be removed to Pasteur street.

The matter of paying the quarantine guard for services rendered on Sundays was brought up by Councilman Thomas. On motion of Councilman Williams it was ordered that they be paid the same as other days—75 cents, the vote being unanimous.

Regular monthly bills allowed.

A bill of Mr. D. G. Smaw was referred back for an order to be attached.

On motion the minutes were adopted as read.

Madge DeVille Gignilliat.

Died, in Darien, Georgia, on 15th December, 1888, after a short illness of pneumonia, at the age of 19 years, Madge DeVille Gignilliat, daughter of Norman and Hattie Singleton Gignilliat.

Madge was descended on her mother's side, from the well known families of Shine and Singleton in Craven county, N. C. The many friends of the deceased will hear with sorrow of the death of this young companion, who a few brief years since was among them in New Berne at school and socially. Numerous friends were won by her unusually sweet disposition and amiable manners.

While in New Berne she made a profession of religion and united with the Presbyterian Church. Her Christian life thereafter was consistent and exemplary. She enjoyed the walk with Jesus. So she died in the comfort and triumph of an humble and steady faith in that Divine Redeemer whom she loved and served while in health.

May the young in this community lay seriously to heart the lessons of this sad warning and others that have of late come so startlingly. Like this estimable young woman may they while enjoying life's duties and pleasures, be also spiritually so prepared by Divine Grace that they may be ready whenever the Master cometh.
