A BILL authorizing the erection of an iron bridge from Fortress Monroe to Elizabeth City, Va., has been favorably reported by the Senate committee on military affairs.

ON Thursday in the Senate Mr. Sherman presented the conference report on the bill to incorporate the Maritime Canal Company of Nicaragua. It was agreed to. The bill now goes to the President for his approval.

THE leading officials of the present Administration are preparing to migrate. Secretary Fairchild's residence is for sale, and Secretary Bayard has about consented to dispose of his and permanently remove from Washington. It is expected that John Wanamaker will purchase the residence at present leased by Secretary Whitney. Attorney General Garland will retain his residence. Messrs. Vilas and Dickinson will return to the West whence they came. Endicott will make Boston his home, but is expected soon to visit his daughter in England.

THERE has been frequent reference in public prints to the President's eloquence when his wife's name has been mentioned in his presence. A lady who dined lately at the Executive Mansion found her gaze riveted on Mrs. Cleveland, who was opposite her. Turning to the President, near whom she sat, she made some flattering remark as to Mrs. Cleveland's beauty. The President quickly replied: "Yes, she is beautiful, but as much as people admire her beauty, it is to me nothing in comparison to the loveliness of her character. In all my life I have never met a sweeter or more amiable woman. I see no little of her that I begrudge the hours wasted out of her presence while I am at my desk. So at these dinner parties I have ordered the floral decorations put low so that at least I can look across the table at her."—Baltimore Sun.

That Bill of Cost.

Solicitor White feels that the notice we give of the extraordinary bill of cost presented to the county commissioners on the first Monday did him an injustice. He assures us that he used all diligence in his power to ascertain who could be found and convicted out of the several hundred presentments made for failure to list taxes. He has not the least doubt of the guilt of nearly if not all of the parties indicted, but the trouble is in getting them to the court house.

It was not the JOURNAL's intention to wrong Mr. White. We were struck with the immensity of the document, and, without an explanation, we think our remarks were very mild. Some more efficient and less costly means must be adopted to collect poll taxes.

New Berne and Augusta—A Union of Hearts and Hands.

We take pleasure in transferring to our columns the Virginia News' account of the marriage of Mr. Charles F. Bryan and Miss Anne S. MacWhorter, a social event as interesting to New Berners as it was to the people of Augusta. Admitting that the bride is all that is claimed for her, she has found a life companion worthy of her love.

Seldom has a wedded pair set out upon the journey of married life with fairer prospects. All that can give charm to existence and span the future with the bow of promise is theirs in rich profusion and perennial beauty.

High noon was the fashionable hour for a stylish marriage today, and the pretty church of the Good Shepherd, on the Hill, was filled with a brilliant company to witness the nuptials of Mr. Charles Shepard Bryan, a popular young business and social leader in New Berne, North Carolina, and Miss Anne Adams MacWhorter, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George G. MacWhorter, a young lady loved and admired by everybody in Augusta. As beautiful as a rosebud and as bonny as a May Queen, she holds the hearts of her friends and never fails to attract the admiration even of strangers, who catch a glimpse of her sunny smile and her magnetic face. Her gifts are of a most superior kind, for she is as much a favorite in literary and amateur dramatic and artistic societies. She never looked better than in her bridal attire today, its exquisite proportions being set off to advantage with rare diamond ornaments, the gift of the groom and fortunate indeed is the gallant and graceful young man, who bestows this pearl and prize to the land of the Sky. He comes with a good name and bright prospects, and the regret of losing such a universal favorite is shared by the thought of her bright and happy future. Hosts of friends contributed to the good wishes and congratulations of this day, and not only was the beautiful little church decorated with greens and rare plants, but the temporary residence of the bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sturges, who are out from New York for the winter, was most exquisitely beautiful with spring like sprays and floral fascines in the middle of winter. Here, in the old Montgomery home, the wedding reception was held until 4 o'clock this afternoon, and the most beautiful hospitality accompanied the constant flow of wit and good wishes on this happy day. The festivity and friendly expressions continued until the young couple left for an extended Northern journey. The scene at the church was very beautiful, and the bridal party was made up from the younger element in Augusta society, with some special friends of the bride and groom from a distance. The Right Reverend Bishop Edwin G. Weed, of Florida, came up from Jacksonville especially to officiate at the ceremony, and his presence at the chancel and altar, where he formerly presided as priest and rector, was most natural and particularly appreciated. The sweet strains from the organ stirred and inspired all hearts, and the marriage service passed off in an impressive and most interesting manner. The bride was escorted by her father, and as they passed up the aisle the outburst of admiration was almost audible. The groom, accompanied by his best man, Mr. Fred Bryan, met them at the altar after the wedding party had taken position, and the ceremony then proceeded. The demonstrations of pleasure at the conclusion of the service and the congratulations which filled the day, proved the popularity of the lovely bride and will keep alive in her new home the bright memories of her wedding day.

The bridal party made a striking picture in front of the chancel. The bridesmaids and groomsmen entered separately, preceded by the ushers, and the bride's mother was escorted to her place by Mr. W. W. Montgomery, jr., a near friend and college mate of the groom. Leaving the church the couples were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Bryan, Major and Mrs. MacWhorter, and Miss Hattie Ganahl with Mr. F. C. Bryan, Miss Crowella Doughty with Mr. W. W. Montgomery, jr., Miss Louise Connelly with Mr. Henry Lester, Miss Rosa North with Mr. Wright Steamman, Miss Mary G. Smith with Mr. Matt. Manly, and Miss Carrie Crane with Mr. Joseph Ganahl, jr. The ushers on the occasion were Messrs. Arty Ganahl, L. G. Doughty, F. M. Butt and Henry North.

Inherited Blood Poison.

How many people there are whose distress from sores, aches, pains and eruptive tendencies are due to inherited blood poison. Bad blood passes from parent to child, and it therefore is the duty of husband and wife to keep their blood pure. This is easily accomplished by a timely use of B. B. B. (Bismuth Blood Balm). Send to Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, for book of most convincing proof.

James Hill, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "My two sons were afflicted with blood poison, which doctors said was hereditary. They both broke out in sores and eruptions which B. B. B. promptly controlled and finally cured completely."
Mrs. S. M. Williams, Sandy, Texas, writes: "My three poor afflicted children, who inherited blood poison, have improved rapidly after a use of B. B. B. It is a Godsend."

J. R. Wilson, Glen Alpine Station, N. C., Feb. 13, 1889, writes: "Bone and blood poison forced me to have my leg amputated, and on the stump there came a large ulcer, which grew worse every day until doctors gave me up to die. I only weighed 120 pounds when I began to take B. B. B., and 12 bottles increased my weight to 180 pounds and made me sound and well. I never knew what good health was before."
