D. R. H. LEWIS, of Raleigh, Specialist in diseases of the Eye and Ear, will be in New Bern during the Fair, 20th and 21st February, and may be consulted in the room over R. N. Duffy's drug store, corner of Pollock and Middle street, or inquiry may be made at doctors Duffy's office. [113 d w d.]

FERTILIZERS for Truckers and for Cotton Planters, at GEO. ALLEN & CO.

JAMES REDMOND, WHOLESALE LIQUOR DEALER, has just received a good assortment of Native Wines and Brandy, and also some of the famous California Wine known as the "Angelica," made from the famous and delicious Angelica Grape. This Grape is only successfully cultivated in the Southern part of California; it is a very delicate grape and requires certain conditions of climate to bring it to excellence, which conditions are only met in that paradise of the United States. The native North Carolina Wines and Brandy from the vineyard of Garrett & Co. and J. Wharton Green are of very superior quality and are very pure. [113 d w d.]

HAVING MADE A LARGE purchase of Lorillard Snuff which calls for quite a sum of money, I am compelled to ask all of my customers, whose accounts are over due, to come forward at once and settle. I assure them that I do need the money and they are causing me great inconvenience by delaying. I have reduced the price of my Fine Butter to 35 cents per pound, it is extra nice and newly made. My parched Coffees are just splendid. Try a pound and be convinced—25, 30 and 35 cents per pound. To any merchant in or out of the city I will sell Lorillard Snuff by the keg at 40 cents per lb., less 2 per cent off, for cash. Very respectfully,
THE GROCER E. B. HACKBURN.

THE commerce of Philadelphia is declining.

THE famine in China is on the increase; 300,000 people are in a starving condition.

MRS. CORELIUS VANDERBILT has decided to mark Marion's Grove with a suitable monument.

PRESIDENT CARNOT has decided to request M. Melvin to form a Cabinet with M. Floquet as President of the Chamber.

THERE is now no doubt that we shall have an extra session of Congress, commencing soon after the inauguration of Harrison.

BY a vote of nine to five the House Committee on appropriations will report a bill favoring the entire repeal of the tobacco tax.

CLEVELAND believes in fidelity to duty at all times. He goes on making appointments just as if he expected them to be confirmed.

KNIVES are ready for Harrison. It is impossible to reconcile Republican differences, and the unsuccessful party will stab the President.

THE begging letters which Mrs. Harrison receives from people who wish her to intercede with her husband, to secure them offices number about twenty-five a day.

HE was a German, but she was French. It was a boy, and they named him Bismarck Boulanger Wolf. Now if there isn't blood shed in that family, then a rose by any other name would smell as sweet.

THE Norfolk Landmark says "The best thing that General Harrison can do for the Southern country is to ignore it in all political respects. It is getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances and it cares nothing about Cabinet honors."

GEN. ALGER has called Senator Sherman to account for having charged him with bribery at the Chicago convention. "Pistols and coffee for two." Cabinet portfolio for none.

COL. ALLEN became the wonder of an hour by reporting his interview with Blaine, and now another North Carolinian, in the person of Capt. Ward, goes into print says, and says, "I presented to him (Harrison) the resolutions of the Republicans of North Carolina endorsing Oliver H. Dockery for any office that the President might see fit to honor North Carolina with."

THE Southern States pay an average of 88 cents per capita for education; we do not pay half that much. Compare our State in any way on the subject of education with the other States of the Union and it will be found it is far below the average. It is rather humiliating to write these facts, but the people should know how we stand; facts should be laid before them, for it is for them to say what is to be done in the matter.—Durham Tobacco Plant.

LOCAL NEWS.

The Fair opens today.

There were a large number of arrivals at Hotel Albert last night.

A large fleet of oyster boats was at Moore & Brady's cannery factory yesterday.

The cornet playing of Prof. Franklin at the M. E. Church Sunday night was much admired by those present.

Governor Jarvis will arrive today. He has many friends in this city who will be glad to shake his hand again.

A large crowd arrived last night on the regular train. A special will arrive from Goldsboro this morning at 10 o'clock.

Among the many interesting exhibits from abroad at the Fair will be a flock of Canadian wolves which will arrive today.

The marshals of the parade are requested to meet this morning promptly at nine o'clock on the corner of Broad and Middle streets.

During the Fair the postoffice will probably be closed every afternoon. Purchase your stamps and get your mail in the morning.

The beautiful little operetta Red Ridinghood will be presented at the theatre Thursday evening by the scholars of Miss Leah Jones' school.

Mr. Chas. Bell offers two premiums for the Fair. First, a set of silver bangle bracelets to the best player at tennis among the young ladies. The other is a child's silver set for the finest and largest baby under six months of age.

The Harry Lindley troupe appeared at the theatre last night in the humorous play "Lime Kiln Club." Harry Lindley is a good comedian, and some of the support carried well their parts. The intermissions were pleasantly filled with beautiful renditions on the piano.

A telegram from Senator Ransom announces that owing to the absence of Senator Vance it is impossible for him to leave the Senate to visit the Fair. It would have been a great pleasure to have had Senator Ransom with us, but as Senator Vance is to be here we must excuse him.

Capt. E. B. Roberts has received from Capt. D. W. Etheridge, of Roanoke Island, a bottle of wine made of grapes from the original Souppernong vine which was first discovered on Roanoke Island; also several twigs from the vine. He also has a piece of the ballast brought over by Sir Walter Raleigh which was thrown overboard in order to effect a landing, and a twig of a live oak which grew on the fort erected by the colony. These will be exhibited at the Fair.

Shipping News.
The steamer Newberne of the O. D. line sails for Norfolk today at twelve o'clock. The Manteo of this line will arrive this morning.

The steamer Vesper of the E. C. D. line sailed yesterday with cargo of lumber, cotton, etc. The Anala of this line will sail tomorrow.

The steamer Tahoma arrived last night bringing a number of visitors and articles for exhibition at the Fair. Pamlico's contribution is quite extensive and interesting. The Tahoma will arrive again today about noon with passengers from lower Neuse.

Welcomes.
The JOURNAL, in behalf of the people of East Carolina, welcomes to the Exposition that opens today, the sons and daughters of the South, the citizens of other portions of our common country, and the people of the wide, wide world, who have come to cheer us and partake in our triumphs, to witness the progress and development of this section of the Union, and bask for a time in winter sunbeams that give health and beauty and joy and gladness.

You will find in this modest display of the products of our fields, our forests and our streams, only intimations of the beauties, riches and wonders, yet to be revealed, and which will continue to evolve through the ages.

We lay no claim to supreme excellence in any department of the Exposition. We have not aimed to eclipse all other expositions in the richness and variety of our exhibits, but we trust that all who honor us with their presence will enjoy their stay among us, and return to their homes with proper conceptions of the present advantages and future prospects of East Carolina.

A Great State, But Poor Statesman.

The Wilmington Messenger notes the fact that an engineer eminent in this country and Europe, has said that he can easily obtain thirty feet of water on the bar at Beaufort harbor.

Yes, there is no doubt but nature has done a great deal for North Carolina, but her sons have done very little for her. Governor Dudley, Dr. Caldwell and Governor Morehead had the wisdom to project lines of railway, with lateral lines, leading to her ports, but the statesmen that followed in their wake lacked the wisdom and foresight to carry out their policy. Beaufort harbor possesses advantages as a port superior to many of greater pretensions, and it would now be a large shipping point but for the fact that it is against the interests of certain railroad lines. The roads which the people of the State built have been diverted from their original purpose and turned to the advantage of towns and cities in other States, while North Carolinians living in different sections of the State and producing different crops and manufacturing various goods are forbidden to trade or have any business relations whatever with each other.

In view of these facts it is really sickening to see some of our North Carolina papers coming to the rescue of the railroads in their opposition to the railroad commission bill. Such a bill as some of them are clamoring for would be no relief at all. We want a commission that can force the railroads to give fair and just rates. The JOURNAL has time and again shown how these corporations have destroyed traffic between the people of different sections of the State, always citing the facts; yet we seldom see a paper in the State condemn it. They are all very solicitous about the rights of the railroads, but how about the rights of the people? Ought not a man living in Durham be able to obtain sweet potatoes from Carteret as cheap as a man in Baltimore or New York? Ought not the people of Raleigh be able to eat lettuce from a New Bern mill with as little cost as if it came from a Richmond mill? The railroads say no, and many of the newspapers say the railroads ought not to be interfered with by commissioners of the State. We are glad, however, to know that there is a Cooke in the House of the General Assembly who is equal to the occasion, and that a majority of the members of the House are on the side of the people. Pass a bill that will be effective or not pass one at all.

We begin to want to see the exercise of some statesmanship in the management of North Carolina railroad matters. Railroads can kill or make alive. They have chosen in North Carolina, for the last fifteen years, to kill out North Carolina towns and make alive Virginia towns. It is about time a halt was called.

Close the Stores.
It has been suggested, and the suggestion is a good one, that the merchants close their places of business today from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. that all may be present to hear Governor Fowle open the Fair.

This is the Governor's first to us as Governor, let us therefore show our appreciation of his visit by attending the grounds and hearing his opening address. Close the stores and let the world go.

A LUCKY AND NECESSARY For rich and poor who wish to enjoy good health, and who do not wish to resort to those numerous "miraculous" medicines and concoctions, is the concentrated California liquid fruit remedy, known as Fruit.

R. N. Duffy, agent, New Bern, N. C. [113 d w d.]

Vance and Beck Coming.
A telegram received yesterday afternoon from Washington City announced that Senator Vance would arrive here on Wednesday morning and Senator Beck expects to be with him. These distinguished gentlemen will visit the Fair on Wednesday and Thursday.

The Parade This Morning.
We are requested to urge all our citizens to join in the parade this morning. The program is published elsewhere. All the carriages that can be brought into line with citizens should be out. Our Governor has honored us with his presence—let us properly appreciate the honor.

Governor Fowle Arrives.
Governor Fowle and staff arrived last night, escorted by the Governor's Guard commanded by Capt. Bernard. Lieutenants Whitehead, Cross and Linnhan.

The Governor and daughter, Miss Helen, were received at the depot and taken in a carriage to the residence of Clement Manly, Esq., where they received calls from many friends during the evening.

Earthquake in Southern California.
SAN BERNARDINA, Cal., Feb. 7.—We experienced a severe shock of earthquake last night at 9:20, Pacific time. I was reading when the rumbling sound proceeding it warned me what was coming, and I at once pulled out my watch and timed it. It lasted twenty seconds and was from northwest to southeast. My home rocked like a cradle, and I had a good laugh at my family scampering out doors. The old timers say it was the severest shock they have ever had in this part of the State. My little black-and-tan terrier cried with fright. My old family horse neighed in terror, and the chickens squawled as though a coyote was among them. Windows and crockery rattled loudly, and a large hanging lamp suspended from the ceiling began its oscillations, which continued for thirty minutes before stopping. I have not heard of any of the high buildings in the city being injured beyond having plastering on the walls shaken off. Immediately after the shock a strong smell, like gas from burning anthracite coal, pervaded the air for some ten minutes.
