GENERAL LONGSTREET'S declaration that "caste still holds in the South" is absurd in every sense except that decent people there do not care for and will not have thrust on them the company of blackguards and the associates of blackguards.

THE World says: The Department of Agriculture has already had an enlivening influence upon a great American product. It has raised a crop of candidates for President-elect Harrison's eight Cabinet places. But Warner Miller seems to be the prize early York cabbage.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS: Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea.

LOCAL NEWS.

Last day of the Exposition. Quite a snow storm last night, but the Exposition will be as interesting today as ever.

A colored man who expressed a desire to attend the Fair upon being asked what was the especial attraction to him replied that he wanted to see the "wild gentleman shoot."

Those who have not visited the Exposition should do so today. There will hardly be such a crowd as on previous days, therefore those who do attend will have a better opportunity to examine closely the exhibits.

Of course everything about the parade of the fire department yesterday was spoken of in the highest commendation, but what attracted most attention was the very beautiful and tasty new uniform of the Atlantic Company. It was a rich dark green double breasted sack coat and light corduroy pants.

We were pleased to meet so large a number of the members of the General Assembly on the Exposition grounds yesterday. Among them was Thos. H. Sutton, Esq., who opposed, for good reasons, an adjournment of the Assembly, but who feels a great interest in the development of our section and was anxious to attend the Exposition.

The Eastern Carolina Dispatch line entered on its third year yesterday, and from observation as well as the statements of those connected with it, its volume of business steadily increases. During the past year it has materially added to its local connections, and is apparently winning friends all over this section.

The steamer Vesper of the E. C. D. line arrived last night with a full cargo of general merchandise and will sail at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The Annie of this line will arrive tomorrow.

The steamer Tahoma will resume her regular all round trips tomorrow morning, leaving at 7:30 o'clock.

The Kinsy School. The appearance of the Kinsey School at the Exposition grounds, escorted by a detachment of the Davis Cadets, was truly a beautiful sight.

The Way to Make Oysters. A Western member of the General Assembly while passing through the machinery hall and witnessing the very interesting display of the S. H. Gray M'g Co., discovered two large tubes of wood pulp which shows the last stage before being pressed into cakes.

Personal. We had the pleasure of meeting yesterday Mr. G. C. Ramsdell, of Warren Junction, Va., and Mr. Alexander Hunter of Washington, D. C.

Red Riding Hood. Notwithstanding the inclement weather a large audience greeted the pupils of Miss Leah Jones' school in their entertainment at the theatre last night.

Where all did so well it would be impossible to discriminate were we able to do so; and judging from the hearty applause given, throughout the evening, we think the audience was of the same opinion.

It is no injustice, however, to say that the piano accompaniments by Miss Hattie Harrison were elegantly performed, and the instrumental duet by Misses Jones and Claypool was excellent, while Mr. Willis gave one of his best vocal solos in bass.

The Wood Man, Wolf, Red Riding Hood, Robin, Ma and Grandma, were characters well sustained throughout, and as said at first, all did well.

But of Miss Leah to whose patient training the whole entertainment was attributable it may be truthfully said, "It is not for mortals to command oceans, But she did more, deserved it."

THE EXPOSITION.

Over Five Thousand People Present. Various Amusements.

The Exhibits, Etc., Etc.

THIRD DAY. The third day of the Exposition opened auspiciously. The Davis Cadets, one hundred and fifty strong, commanded by Col. A. C. Davis, and the Kinsey Female School of La Grange, about seventy in number in uniform, were on the grounds and added much to the interest of the day.

Governor Fowle, Minister Jarvis and Senator Vance were on the grounds. The Governor and Senator Vance had already been heard from, and this being Minister Jarvis' first day, and the first visit to New Berne since his return from Brazil, a speech was demanded of him. The ex-Governor was glad to be with us once again and from the great depths of his heart he felt grateful for the kind remembrance of himself by these people.

Lying on the end of the table, over which these drawings and paintings were hanging was a package of earthen ware plates, which were fastened together by a growth of oysters, mussels, clams, and other kinds of shells, and upon the tag was stated the fact that they were dredged from the bottom of Pamlico Sound, at a depth of 100 feet of water.

Quite a number of very remarkable articles are displayed on this table, but we have not space to mention them. The most interesting portion of this exhibit to the general visitor is that part of the room devoted to antiquities of all kinds from a piece of the shroud taken from the mummy of the third Pharaoh to a silver spoon upon which one of the most noted men of the State cut his first tooth.

At 12 o'clock there was a parade of stock which was large and creditable. A balloon fifteen feet in length was sent up and excited much interest as it was borne to the southwest, going higher and higher and further until lost to view.

THE TOURNAMENT. At 1 p. m. the tournament was announced and ten Knights were entered. A cold rain set in before the tilting was completed and the Knights agreed to draw off after three rounds.

During the afternoon the Fire Department made its annual parade and extended the line of march to the grounds where they were reviewed by Mayor Meadows, Governor Fowle and ex-Governor Jarvis. The parade was a fine one, such as our firemen usually get up annually.

THE FIRMEN'S PARADE. The drill and parade of the Davis Cadets was also one of the interesting features of the afternoon exercises.

There were many other interesting features during the day to amuse and entertain the large crowd. The main building was packed throughout the day with spectators passing to and fro looking at the many curious and interesting exhibits. Among them were about seventy-five members of the General Assembly. These gentlemen were all favorably impressed with the get-up and arrangement of the Exposition, there being but one complaint and that was, there was not room for so large a display.

It was our intention to go into details of several of the departments in this issue but owing to the jam in the building we have to be contented with finishing this.

THE LADIES' DEPARTMENT. In yesterday's issue we took a casual survey of the second floor of the building, and only succeeded in finishing a very incomplete mention of the needle work, plain sewing, etc. The works of art, produced by our own citizens and institutions of learning next claim the attention after leaving the sewing exhibits.

Drawing in pencil and crayon, painting both in oil and water colors, and on canvas, board and silk, all are represented in a very creditable way. Foremost in number of articles, and noticeable also on account of the talent displayed is the exhibit of the "Kinsey School, La Grange, N. C." A number of studies by pupils in the art of drawing and painting show careful teaching and great aptness in the use of the brush and pencil. We are informed that this very excellent institution is growing in popularity every year, and its standard compares most favorably with any institution of its class in the State. A sailor, in water colors, with a pipe in his mouth, engaged in mending a rope, and a horse's head, by a boy of twelve years, hanging near the same attracted our attention. It is a matter of impossibility to draw any distinction when it comes to the crayon pictures they all were very excellent in the pose and finish.

Quite a number of very remarkable articles are displayed on this table, but we have not space to mention them. The most interesting portion of this exhibit to the general visitor is that part of the room devoted to antiquities of all kinds from a piece of the shroud taken from the mummy of the third Pharaoh to a silver spoon upon which one of the most noted men of the State cut his first tooth.

We entered the culinary department just in time to see a fresh and lovely young lady seat herself near the display of bread and butter, and we were just going to ask her some questions when her sweetheart came along and engaged her in conversation, and of course we can only say that the array of good things would make a man who had just gotten up from a big dinner hungry and a hungry man would become a raving maniac in five minutes if he looked at the exhibit that long.

Governor Jarvis' Address.

One of the special features of yesterday was the address of ex-Governor Jarvis. He spoke to his audience in North Carolina and his audience was honored that he should have been here. His address was one of the most interesting of the fair, and it was a great pleasure to hear him speak. He spoke for one hour and his audience was greatly benefited by his remarks.

We would like to have seen him, we think that if we could have seen him we would have been greatly benefited by his remarks.
