FERTILIZERS for Truckers and for Cotton Planters, at
GEO. ALLEN & CO.

JAMES REDMOND, WHOLESALE LIQUOR DEALER, has just received a good assortment of Native Wines and Brandies, and also some of the famous California Wine known as the "Angelica," made from the famous and delicious Angelica Grape. This Grape is only successfully cultivated in the Southern part of California; it is a very delicate grape and requires certain conditions of climate to bring it to excellence, which conditions are only met in that paradise of the United States. His native North Carolina Wines and Brandies from the vineyards of Garrett & Co. and J. Wharton Green are of very superior quality and are very pure.

HE who can take advice is often superior to him who can give it.

THE press of the day is the photograph of the world.—Chauncey Depew.

Oh, how unlike the complex works of man, Heaven's easy, artless unnumbered plan.
—COWPER.

"WELL, the Railroad Commission has failed. Rip Van Winkle forever.

POETRY consists of three things: Invention, expression, inspiration.—Schlegel.

"WHEN luck knocks at the door it often finds the man inside too lazy to lift the latch."

NOTHING is so strong as gentleness; nothing is so gentle as real strength.—Charity and Children.

WHAT now? The patriotism and manhood of the Governor and our own stout hearts and strong arms.

THE Railroad Commission is a failure: More monopolies, more impositions, and worse than all more barriers between the East and the West.

No, no, the farmers didn't do it. It was a miscarriage caused by the inclemency of the weather, financial constipation, contraction of the brain and general debility.

"THERE is nothing new under the sun," said Solomon, and it may be remembered that old Sol. was something of a paragraph writer himself.—Terre Haute Express.

THE Homiletic Review says: "Shakespeare's name has been found spelled in twenty-three different ways from Chaksper to Schakspeyr. But on the title pages of all editions of his work published during his life it is spelled as at the beginning of this paragraph."

TOMORROW Benjamin Harrison will be inaugurated President of the United States. The above sentence was written after much study and calm deliberation, and we have no doubt it is correct. If anybody claims it as theirs, down goes our glove.

THE N. Y. World of Thursday says: "General Harrison has not yet completed the list of his constitutional advisers nor definitely settled the positions of those already selected. No compromise has yet been effected between the rival factions from New York. General and Mrs. Harrison dined last evening with President and Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Folsom being the only other guest present.

"If I might make the songs of a nation, I care not who might make its laws," was the deliberate assertion of an ecclesiastical statesman. There is large meaning in the declaration. Laws appeal to reason and conscience simply, song makes its appeal to the whole mental, moral and spiritual man. It things its fascinating spell over the whole emotional being especially, and leads it captive.—Dr. McNally.

NATIONAL BANK—Statement.
DAIL—Old Virginia smoking tobacco.
W. B. BOYD—Amer. Fraternal Circle.

The county commissioners will be in regular session tomorrow.

The cabbages on the truck farms near the city are looking splendid.

Regular prayer meeting this Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the office of Geo. N. Ives, market. All men are cordially invited to attend.

The Young Ladies' Aid Society of Christ Church will hold a shadow pantomime at the Memorial Chapel on George street on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Admission 15 cents.

Two colored boys got into an affray yesterday when one stabbed the other in his breast with a knife and took to his heels. He was not arrested at last accounts, but the stab was not a serious one.

Bro. Creevy of the Economist, gives a splendid write-up of our Fair. We intend to copy his article, all save the last paragraph, in a few days. Our politest bow for that last paragraph, but regret that others more deserving were not included.

E. S. Street has introduced at his livery stables on Middle street a spiral spring buggy. Its peculiarities over other buggies are, that it rides easy over a rough road. He is getting a lot of them and other vehicles and is filling up his stables with suitable teams for pulling them.

Congdon & Son are cutting out big work at their mills near the depot. A large dry kiln and planing mills, constructed of brick, are nearing completion and plans for other buildings are laid out. The machinery for putting in the gang saws has arrived, and in about one month logs will be jerked up and cut into boards so fast that one will hardly know what is going on.

Aaron White, col., started out yesterday with a mule hitched to a cart loaded with sundry articles of merchandise and a boy. The mule became frightened, or because of being a mule, ran up Broad street at a break neck speed without regard to consequences. The goods were scattered, the cart upset and the boy thrown out with force. He was taken up and carried to a physician's office in an unconscious condition, who examined his wounds and treated him accordingly.

James City Incorporated.
The bill to incorporate James City has passed both branches of the General Assembly and is now a law. If Senator Green or Representative Hussey will send us a certified copy of the bill we will publish it in order that candidates for municipal honors in the new town may begin to fix their fences.

Honored Abroad.

At the annual meeting of the managers of the "Boys' Home," February 20th, the most remarkable and influential charities of the city of Baltimore, Hon. Louis McComas, member of Congress from South Maryland district, was elected to deliver the annual address in Ford's grand opera house, March 15th, and John S. Long, Esq., of this city, was appointed his alternate. This makes Mr. Long the orator for 1890.

In Deep Water.

Our townsman, Jas. W. Moore, Esq., has been in deep water recently. He went up Neuse a few days ago on official business, per steamer, and when arriving at Jolly Old Field the steamer rounded up to the wharf as usual, and Mr. Moore being in a hurry to step ashore forgot that there was a tremendous freshet in the river and stepped off into nineteen feet water instead of four or five. He was in a pickle, without salt, but a friend kindly loaned him a dry outfit, after he had been reclaimed on board the steamer, and he landed home per A. & N. C. R. last night high and dry.

A Model Farm.

The farm of Dann & Willett, situated about a mile from the city, with Stewart's team, is rapidly approaching a model farm. In a few years we expect to allude to it as "The Model Farm of the East." It is in reality between two and three miles to the stock farm, but riding out with John Stewart, one will not call it more than a mile.

The truck farm proper of these gentlemen, lies near the city between the cemetery road and Neuse River and is already a model of neatness, and well managed in all its appointments. Oaks Farm is beyond the National Cemetery, and was purchased a year or so ago by these gentlemen to be put in condition for a stock farm. They are progressing finely. Barns, stables and other out buildings are all constructed after the latest and best models. We were surprised on entering one of these barns to find thirty-six milch cows, each in a brake and being fed with cooked food. These supply milk for the city. Besides there were other dry cattle, sheep, hogs and horses, thoroughbred and graded, an Eclipse windmill to pump water and a large steam boiler for cooking food. The green fields of rye, oats and cabbage, the stately oaks in the large grove surrounding the residence, good fences, good bridges and good roads will soon make Oaks Farm the attraction of this section.

Senator Lucas on the Commission Bill.

Of the many advocates of the railroad commission bill in the Senate, the people had no warmer or more zealous friend than Senator Lucas of the second district. He, like thousands of others in Eastern Carolina, can see no good reason why Raleigh should eat corn from Kansas instead of from the eastern counties, or why the railroad traffic of North Carolina should be regulated by Sol. Haas in Richmond. We copy a portion of his speech as published in the News and Observer:

Mr. Lucas said as a business man and a farmer he desired to say a few words on the pending bill. He was not at war with the railroads. He favored the prosperity of every road already built and hundreds of others which he hoped to see built, and he had their best interests truly at heart. He would not say one word to damage them, but there should be a medium between them and the tolling masses of the people. The bill under consideration was only to regulate freight and passenger tariffs within the State. The rates are now regulated in North Carolina. Is it done by a North Carolina railroad commission? No! They are regulated by Mr. Sol. Haas of Richmond, Va. He regulates the rate for nearly every pound of freight on railroads in North Carolina. Have these Senators the interests of North Carolina at heart? Of course they have. Now why do the people of Raleigh and Charlotte eat corn from the State of Kansas? He said Senators had said they would not be controlled by the clamor of newspapers. He would ask them if they did not desire, during the political campaign, to have newspaper clamor for the interests of the democratic party and individual interests. He would be governed and controlled by the clamor of an honest, hard working constituency, who, by their suffrages, had sent him to the Senate of North Carolina to look after their and the State's best interests. He had talked with many North Carolinians and every one had expressed himself for such a bill as the one now under consideration. Senator Vance had told him that it would be a great mistake for the democratic party to fail to create a railroad commission. Senators on this floor were circumscribed by senatorial districts but Vance was North Carolina at large and had ever been found doing and advising that which was for the prosperity and best interests of North Carolina. Nine hundred petitions representing 60,000 of the best people of the State are calling for the enactment of such a law as this bill creates. He wanted the bill to pass and no fooling about it.

Funny; Very, Very Funny.

"It is better to laugh than sighing," says the old song, and that such is the opinion entertained by the generality of mankind. The large audience everywhere attracted to witness that most laughable of comedies, "Skipped by the light of the Moon," would seem to abundantly prove. "Skipped" will be seen at the Theatre on next Thursday evening, and our amusement patrons are promised a rare treat in this production of which the Pittsburg Leader says:

"The strangest, quaintest, oddest, drollest, funniest, most ludicrous characters, scenes, situations, sayings and doings, are embodied in this play. Humor of the most unostentatious, rollicking, jovial, side-splitting character, is its distinguishing feature. Such laughter as it evokes wherever it is produced has never before been heard within the walls of any theatre in this city."

As a valuable remedy for dyspepsia, sick headache, torpid liver, and such like diseases we can recommend Laxador. It is for sale by all druggists. Price only 25 cents a package.
An unpleasant passenger in a street car is crying baby. In such cases Dr. Bull's Baby Balm should be given to the little sufferer to ease his troubles. Price only 50 cents a bottle.

Receives a Foreign Call.

Falling Spring Presbyterian Church, one of the largest and best equipped churches in the Valley of Virginia, has made propositions to Rev. L. C. Vass, D. D., to become its pastor.

Dr. Vass has also had propositions about undertaking ministerial work in England, on a salary of £400 sterling, or $2,000 per annum.

The people of New Berne have been very fortunate in having able and learned preachers to minister to their needs which has quite often been recognized from home.

Shipping News.

The steamer Newberne of the O. D. line arrived last night and will sail for Norfolk at nine o'clock Monday morning.

The steamer Deane of the Clyde line arrived from Baltimore yesterday morning with a cargo of general merchandise, which was discharged, and sailed on return trip last night with a cargo of lumber, naval stores and cotton.

The steamer Vesper of the E. C. D. line arrived yesterday with cargo of general freight. The Annie of this line will arrive today. The Vesper will sail Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Personal.

Rev. J. L. Winfield, Principal of Centreville Academy, Pitt county, was in the city yesterday. The Academy is in a flourishing condition we are glad to learn.

H. C. Carter, Esq. was in the city yesterday on his way to Hyde county, his former home. He now lives in Greensboro.

FAME IN FLORIDA.

FROM AN ATLANTA DRUMMER.
MR. A. K. HAWKES, Atlanta, Ga.:
Dear Sir—You doubtless remember me getting a glass of you nearly three weeks ago. I had then given up all hopes of ever being able to read again. The last three weeks, however, with the use of your glasses my eyes have been wonderfully benefited, and I have been enabled to do a great deal of reading, the first I had done in two years, and moreover I have great hopes of their entire recovery in a few years. I cannot too highly recommend your glass to my friends. Yours respectfully,
