Murphy Bulletin: While the peach prop will be short, we cannot refrain from remarking that the huckleberry crop will be unusually large this year. -The well on Mr. Ben. Posey's place is some 85 feet deep. While a colored man was recently digging in this well he was overcome by the gas, was hauled up and remained unconscious for a

Asheville Citizen: The stores of G.W. Davis and Norris & Cooke, at Demy, this county, were broken into and robbed Monday night. From the former the burglars secured $65 in cash, besides a lot of provisions, clothing, etc. while the latter was completely gutted of its contents. No clue as to the identity of the thieves has been discovered. and detectives have been employed to work up the case.

Asheville Journal: The wheat and oat crop, it is said, is almost ruined for lack of rain. The meadows, too, are suffering from the same .- There is something strange about the spple and peach crops; in some parts of the country the trees are full, while in other sections there is little promise of fruit -The clover is dying for want of rain and it is likely that the butter supply will be cut short and the present price of that commodity may be expected to Twin City Daily: Mr. James Lloyd Waggomer who lives in Yadkin county. ten miles north of Yadkinville, arrived in Winston on Thursday in search of a madetone with his little ten-year-old son, who had been bitten on the Tuesday before by a rabid dog. He was informed that he would find one in the possession of Mr. J.L. Beard, auctioneer Cheap John's. The stone was applied to the wound on the left arm at 10:30 p. m., and at once adhered with great tenacity and remained for thirty-two hours. Mr. Thos. Royal's wife, who lives in Yadkinville, was bitten by the same dog on Tuesday morning and was taken to a madstone some distance below here. The boy is doing well.

Statesville Landmark: Though a cool dry May is what is needed for wheat, we are threatened with a short wheat erop, which goes to prove that proverbs like signs sometimes fail in dry weather.—The revenue officers made a raid in Wilkes last week and captured and destroyed a good deal of property. They cut up a still of an old moonshine brother who is 95 years of age. He made no sign while they were cutting up his still but he blinked and grunted when they poured out his tulu.
—While the family of Mr. E. L. Mo-Hargue, of New Hope township, was at breakfast one morning about two weeks ago, the family dog attacked Mr. Mo-Hargue's mother, Mrs. Rhoda Mc-Hargue, an old lady of 90 years, pulled her from her chair to the floor and bit her severely before he was beaten off. She was painfully bitten under one eye and elsewhere.

Charlotte News: A News reporter yesterday afternoon took a drive through the county and found that the cotton crop is not so bad as some people seem to suppose. The cotton lands, as a gen-eral thing, are well worked and the cotton is clean and promising looking. The reporter noticed, however, that some cotton fields are so badly in the grass that the cotton can hardly be seen, and he observed that the farmers who owned these grassy fields are the very ones who are complaining loudest vary ones who are complaining loudest about the prospects. The cotton has a fairly good start, and a rain would bring it all right. The damage to the plants by frost was so slight as not to be worth noticing. — Mrs. S. B. Griffith, of Sharon township, was accidentally hurt yesterday, and the probabilities are that she will never recover from her injuries. Mrs. Griffith, who is 55 years old, was leading a cow: when the animal suddenly jumped around and threw Mrs. Griffith heavily to the ground. Her thigh was broken.
