would only have been $50."

A CONVENTION of citizens of West Florida, who are in favor of the annexation of West Florida to Alabama, will meet at Chiply, on the 4th of July, to adopt measures to that end.

THE per cent. of insanity among farmers' wives is greater than among any other class, and it is constantly increasing. They work too hard and are left alone too much.—Detroit Free Press.

"THERE are twenty-four arbitrary rules laid down in the books for raising poultry, and yet the farmer who disregards every one of them always has plenty of chickens and eggs to sell."

"THE army worm was not known in France until after the war with Prussia, and now he is such a pest that the country would give millions of dollars to get rid of him.
He isn't spoken of by the French as a worm, but as "that Dutchman."

THE Atlanta Constitution says traffic managers of the railroads running the Southern watermelon territory estimate an increase in the crop over that of last year of at least 2,000 car loads. The superintendent of the Savannah, Florida & Western roads also reports that the Le Conte pear industry is growing at a surprising rate.

"CANADA is a country of enormous resources and of enormous extent. It contains 3,470,000 square miles of territory, or about 40 per cent. of the area of the whole British empire—a country three times as large as British India, sixteen times as large as the German empire and forty times as large as England, Wales and Scotland put together."

"THE Japanese have not failed to show the possibilities of electric machines in this country. They have electricity in Japan now, but they don't know how to use any "blocks of steel" that they have upon them.

They not only require each voter to write the names of the candidates he wishes to vote for, but write his own name upon the ticket, and stamp with his own seal. This is somewhat slow, but as a fraud blocker it will fill the bill.—Wilmington Star.

ONE of the most remarkable feats in modern journalism was achieved by Mrs. Isabelle B. Harrows, of Boston. She wrote a verbatim report of a speech made in German by Carl Schurz, which she turned into English while her pen was flying across her paper in stenographic characters. To write stenographically and translate from German to English simultaneously was a remarkable piece of shorthand reporting. But when a woman will, she will.—Detroit Free Press.

If the President shall carry out his purpose of visiting North Carolina in October he will be treated with that courtesy which North Carolinians well know how to extend to high officials. Two Presidents have visited North Carolina —Polk and Buchanan—both Democrats—and they were warmly received. Partisanship was buried in a common purpose to do honor to the man who was for the time the Chief Executive of a great and free people. If Gen. Harrison shall visit this city he will be cordially received and will return to his official duties with no cause to regret a visit to a State that has certainly furnished three Presidents and there is reason for saying four.

The Superior Court.
Court convened Friday morning at 9:20 o'clock.

The case of State vs. Jesse Dunston for the murder of Joe Herring, col., was taken up. J. E. O'Hara, Esq., representing the prisoner, Solicitor White, the State.

A special venire of one hundred had been summoned. The following jurors were chosen: W. A. Thomas, N. S. Richardson, Geo. F. Hill, John Dunn, J. J.
Tolson, John T. Hill, Joseph Nelson, John E. Hanney, col., E. S. Street, B.
Sweet, W. H. Johnson, col., H. Paralleles, col.

Dunston is a small boy, gingerbread color, and appears to be between twelve and fifteen years old, though it is said that he is sixteen. It is also reported that he has neither father nor mother living.

The State proved conclusively that Dunston, about the eleventh day of January last while in a quarrel with Joe Herring, another colored boy about the same age, struck Herring on the neck with a knife, inflicting a wound which caused death on the same day, and that an officer of the law was near by and hallowed to them to stop the fight.

The evidence for the prisoner showed that he and Herring were employed at the livery stable of E. S. Street; that they were engaged in carrying water to a lot of mules; that when through the prisoner went to the stables and went about his work; that Mr. Young, the superintendent of the stables, sent Dunston to call Herring, the deceased, to his work; that Herring came in crying and cursing and told the prisoner that he was going to beat him for that, and the prisoner replied, "You had better keep your hands off of me;" that Herring was, a few minutes afterwards, seen advancing on the prisoner and striking him with his fist, and that the prisoner backed without striking to the sidewalk where he struck the blow with the knife.

At the conclusion of the testimony the solicitor stated that he would not ask a verdict for murder, but would insist on a verdict of manslaughter.

The case was argued with considerable zeal and earnestness by both the attorneys, and after His Honor's charge to the jury, in about fifteen minutes, returned a verdict of not guilty of murder, but guilty of feloniously taking the life of Joe Herring.

Thaddeus Mumford stood indicted for throwing a brick at a railroad train. He pleaded guilty and the court heard the testimony. His Honor stated that he usually sent parties to the penitentiary for this offense, but he would simply suspend judgment in this case and let the defendant pay the cost. If he did not behave in the future judgment could be prayed in this case.

Court took a recess to 3:30 o'clock.
In the afternoon session Fred. Mosley, col., was put on trial for F. & A. J. E.
O'Hara and Manly & Gulon appeared for the defendant. After hearing the testimony the defendant submitted to a verdict of guilty. He was then put on trial for abandonment of family, which was dismissed for want of jurisdiction and remanded to the Justice who took his recognizance to court. Judgment in the first case, twelve months in county jail and cost.

Virgil Sparrow and Esther Sparrow, indicted for forcible trespass, obtained a verdict of not guilty.

The jury was discharged and the court took a recess to 9:30 Saturday morning, when motions will be heard on the civil docket.

Henry Bergh is Dead.
But the reforms he worked so hard to inaugurate survive him, and the amelioration of the condition of the brute creation is still the cherished object of many philanthropic minds. To all animal used in harness there has been no more torturing invention than the whip. The whip in the hands of an unmerciful driver is well known to be most cruelly used, and the poor beast all out and scared had not the most remote privilege of remonstrance.
Writing under the application of the lash, many a poor, lame, sick or starved animal has dragged along in unguaranteed pain and misery until death furnished the only relief possible.

But the days of the whip are numbered and that instrument of torture to the flesh will soon take its place with that other relic of barbarism, the whipping-post, among the things of the forgotten past.

Thanks to the inventive genius of a type in the JOURNAL office for an invention that will do away with that horrible implement in future teaming. The invention is but little less creditable to the brain than in the heart of the feeling little grub.
The invention is so simple as it is understandable, and uses that not in operating the invention, but in the invention. He will ask for no patent nor any pecuniary reward whatever, but will rest contented to have his name go down to future generations coupled with that of the illustrious gentleman whose name stands at the head of this article.

In this view of the subject he has generously consented to the publication of a description of his invention. He takes a thin, limber strip of lumber such as the edgings thrown out at Mr.
Steinhilper's mill, and fastens one end in the vehicle in which he rides, the other running and bending gracefully over the back of the animal to a point about twelve inches beyond the nose of the beast. On the end of this he suspends a bunch of green forage—the more inviting the better. This the animal rushes forward to bite, when with remarkable agility and precision the forage maintains the distance in advance and will continue to do so no matter whether the gait be a walk, trot or run. The chase thus undertaken it is not in the nature of the animal to give up nor the forage to falter, so the ride may be continued for a time entirely at the will of the occupant of the carriage.

For mules and ill-fed horses a bundle of fodder or sheaf of oats or hay may be used with an equal success. We shall look forward to the ready adoption of this humane invention, and shall not wonder if the founder of Rome shall find a namesake in the later days of the nineteenth century whose glory will equal his own at least in the eyes of the beast of the field.

Glosing Exercises of New Berne exercises were begun with prayer by Rev. Dr. Vass; then followed the marks, very pleasantly awarded the prizes.

Mr. James Thomas was then intruduced. Taking "Education" as the subject of his address, Mr. Thomas entertained his audience for about half an hour in a most delightful and instructive manner, evincing a depth of research and thought and a natural grace and beauty in delivery, couching his thoughts in an elegance of language that was charming.

After the address President Long made a few closing remarks and the address was dismissed with benedictions by Rev. Dr. Vass.
