THE PENNSYLVANIA HOREOR. Thousands of Lives Lost.

Most Terrible Calamity of the Kind in the History of the Country.

Columns of newspapers received la night are filled with heartsic unts of the awful situation in Penn sylvania. It seems that previous counts were not at all exaggerated, but the loss of life rather underesting The loss is now estimated at from 6,000 to 8,000. Below we give selections from the latest telegraphic despatches:

the latest telegraphic despatches:

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 3.—The situation here has not changed, and yesterday's estimates of the loss of life do not seem to be anagerated. Six hundred bedies are now lying in Johnstown and a large number have already been buried. Not less than fifteen hundred straugers are here.

Of the Episcopal church not a vestige remains. Where once it stood there is now a placid lake. The parsonage is swept away, and the rector of the church; Rev. Mr. Dillon, was drowned. About two hundred persons had taken refuge in Alma Hall, and were on the second, third and fouth stories. The scenes were most agonizing. Heart rending shrieks, sobs and moans pierced the gloomy darkness; the crying of children mingled with the sobs of women. Under the guardianship of the men all took more hope. No one slept during all the long dark night. Many knelt for hours in prayer, their supplications mingled with the roar of waters and the shrieks at the dying in the surrounding houses. waters and the shrieks of the dying in

JOHNSTOWN, June 8.—Developments of every hour make it more and more apparent that the exact number of lives lost in the recent horror will never be known. All estimates that have been made up to this time are conservative, and when all is known will doubtless be found to be too small. Over one thousand bodies have been found since snartes today, and the most skeptical concede that the ramains of thousands more rest beneath the debrie above Johnstown bridge. The population of Johnstown, the surrounding towns and the part of the valley affected by the flood is, or was, from fifty to fifty-five

Meeting of Justices of the Peace and County Commissioners.

A foint meeting of the board of county commissioners and justices of the peace convened in the court house on

Watson was elected chairman of the board of justices,

The chairman of the board of commissioners submitted the estimates for the current year, or rather stated that it would be necessary to levy to the full limit of the law for current expenses. On motion the following levy was made:

General State tax 25 cents on the one hundred dollars valuation, 75 cents on the poll; 12; cents on property and 37; on poll for schools; 3 cents on property as to the right of the county to apply and 9 cents on poll for disabled Confederate soldiers; 26 1-6 on property and 781 cents on poll for general county purposes, making the total 661 cents on property and two dollars on the poll.

The special tax for the bonded debt came up. The commissioners recommended that the same amount as last cear, 50 cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of property, be levied.

Justice Brinson, after discussing the matter, moved that the levy be 45

A question arose as to who was chairman of the joint meeting. After considerable waste of time it was decided, and all seemed to already know, that the chairman of the board of commissioners was the chairman of the joint Considerable discussion followed Mr. Brinson's motion to make the levy 45 in which the county debt was thoroughly discussed and ventilated. The facts prought out showed that the debt is 193,500, less $5,000 in bonds that have been purchased by the trustee of the sinking fund and about $3,000 in cash in the hands of the trustee. So the onded debt now outstanding amounts to between $85,000 and $86,000.

This brought on another general disssion about the financial troubles o On motion of Justice Brinson, Justice the county in which Senator Green offered no suggestion for relief and gave no reason why he did not pass the bill as requested. Justice Hancock strongly opposed issuing class vouchers thereby giving one creditor of the county advantage over another. Some mention was made of applying the Pamlico fund for that purpose, or of applying it to the discharge of the bonded debt.

This brought Chairman Bryan to his feet, and he gave an explicit statement this fund as it pleases, and showed the absolute necessity of applying it to the support of the poor. He said there were but few who understood the nature of the debt of Pamlico to Craven. His statement was very explicit, sufficiently so for anyone to understand.

Pending further discussion the joint seeting adjourned.
