H. P. CHEATHAM, North Carolina's negro Congressman is busy in Washington trying to get offices for republican constituents in his district. Speaking of Cheatham the Alexandria Gazette says: "A good deal of surprise was manifested among the large number of white people who were assembled in the ante-room of the Public Printer at the Government printing office here a day or two ago waiting to be received, when a colored man, accompanied by a white woman, who came in after them, walked by them, and merely nodding to the doorkeeper entered Mr. Palmer's office. The negro was H. P. Cheatham, a member of Congress from North Carolina, and the woman one for whom he wished to obtain an office."

TEACHERS IN COUNCIL. A GOOD SAIL AND A BIG SPEECH. Wednesday was the day the boatmen gave a complimentary sail to the members of the Assembly. About 500 went aboard and were taken to all the principal places of interest. During the day the usual matrimonial talks were carried on. Secretary Harrell says that he can count sixty marriages as the result of the last Assembly. This should be an incentive to all seeking husbands or wives. The Atlantic Hotel was never in better order. The building is out in first class order, the clerks are gentlemanly, the servants are quick, active and smiling. The manager informs us that he can accommodate 600, of which 400 are now on the register. The evening exercises consisted only of the president's address. When it is known that Prof. Geo. T. Winston, of the University, spoke, something was said worthy the attention of every teacher in the State. Prof. Winston said he had to speak for Senator Vance and also for himself. He said he would say all the sense and Vance all the nonsense. We took copious notes and give the JOURNAL the following synopsis: After welcoming the members of the Assembly he paid a tribute to the nobility of the teacher's life. "He is not the power of merchandise or dominion of fleets and armies, of steam and electricity; in the solitary school-house, unknown by the world and unnoticed even by the passing traveler, mind and soul are at work upon mind and soul. As the sunlight silently, but powerfully calls from the earth his mighty forests and clothes its valleys with verdure and beauty, so the schoolmaster pours the light of knowledge upon the rich soil of childhood, and, planting there the seeds of a noble ambition, fills the world with workers and thinkers, with scholars and statesmen, with heroes and martyrs." The progress of education in North Carolina during the year was noticed as indicative of popular interest in intellectual culture. The Assembly was congratulated on the appointment of E. A. Alderman and Chas. D. McIver as educational missionaries, and these gentlemen were humorously designated as the bishops of the profession. The body of the address was a discussion of the four things most needed for the advancement of education in North Carolina, and an appeal to teachers to elevate their profession by their own lives and work. The things needed for our teachers are: 1. A better conception of their profession. 2. The application of common sense to the business of teaching. 3. The localization of lofty ideals in their pupils. 4. The leading of lives in harmony with their teaching.

Beis always planting the seed whose harvest his eye will never behold. But he prepares the soil as carefully each year, with the same loving patience and the same hopeful enthusiasm, as if his eye beheld the golden fruit of its nobler living than he has created. "Like coral insects multitudinous, The minutes are whereof our life is made, They build it up, as in the deep's blue shade, As grows the house of light, and thus and thus." For both there is an end. The populous Sea-blossoms close; but minutes, that have paid Life's debt of work, are spent; the work is laid. Before their feet, that shall come after, We may not stay to watch if it will speed. The hand, if on some lute it string his song Live sweetly yet; the hero, if his star Doth shine. Work is its own best earthly meed; Else have we none more than the sea-born throng Who wrought these marvelous isles that bloom afar." Tomorrow is children's day, and promises to be both interesting and profitable.

These have been appealed to, directly or indirectly, to invest in something that would afford employment to the industrious classes, and as there has been no favorable response it has been found necessary to organize on the co-operative plan, which has done so well elsewhere. This plan has features which should commend it to all the people, but especially should it meet with hearty encouragement from all owners of real estate, because it will greatly enhance the value of their property.—Greensboro Workman. The Teachers in Europe. The North Carolina Teachers Assembly European party, comprising one hundred and ten persons, will sail from New York on the "Georgia" at 9 a. m., July 4th, and return to New York about August 21. The trip occupies six weeks time, and all are expected to arrive at their homes about August 23. Letters may be addressed to the party "care of The Quebec Bank, 4 Waterloo Place, Pall Mall, London," or "care of The Quebec Bank, 4 Place de l'Opera, Paris," and they will be promptly received. Any special instructions from home may be sent to the Secretary, Eugene G. Harrell, to either address given above, and they will have careful attention. Information as to the general movements of the party will be given through the daily News and Observer, from time to time. The longest stops which the company will make will be six days at Midland Grand Hotel in London, and six days at Hotel St. Petersburg, in Paris.—News and Observer. Saved from Consumption. Several physicians predicted that Mr. A. B. Rowley, druggist, of Chicago, would soon have consumption caused by an aggravated case of Catarrh. Customers finally induced him to try Clarke's Extract of Flax (Papillon) Catarrh Cure. He says: "The result was unprecedented. I commenced to get well after the first application, and am now, after a few weeks, entirely cured." It will do the same for you. Price $1.00. Try Clarke's Flax Soap for the Skin and you will use no other. 25 cents. All of Clarke's Flax Remedies are for sale by F. S. Duffy, druggist.

Alban Hale, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, writes: "The best selling medicine I ever handled in my 30 years' experience is Electric Bitters. Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at R. N. When Gen. Andrew Jackson visited Concord, N. H., after his presidential term had expired he was entertained at Oase Hotel, at that time the leading hotel of the State. The proprietor, wishing to do honor to his distinguished guest, provided a banquet and arranged to serve it with considerable style. With the first course the General surprised the waiter by ordering oysters and milk, and refused all other dishes, much to the disgust of the proprietor.—Boston Traveler.

Co-Operation. EDITOR JOURNAL:—Why don't our people look into the matter of erecting mills, etc., by the co-operative plan? Charlotte has engaged in this method of starting a manufacturing interest, and by the subjoined article it will be seen that Greensboro is on the move. In all particulars New Berne enjoys advantages equal, if not superior, to either of the cities named above. N. GREENBORO'S COTTON MILLS. An effort is being made in Greensboro to build a cotton mill on what is known as the co-operative plan, and such is the popularity of the idea that within a very short time about $20,000 of the stock has already been subscribed. By this plan, one share, at a par value of one hundred dollars, is paid for in trifling installments of fifty cents per week—much less than the cigar bill of many an impetuous youth. This plan has been found necessary because in most cases people who have plenty of money, and who can either stay in Greensboro or go away at their own option, and have no fear of coming to want, and who, by the way, are not much concerned about what becomes of the less favored classes, are expecting to reap without any great trouble to themselves either in plowing or sowing.
