"THE boys" of Philadelphia are getting plenty of what they don't want from the National Administration, and thus far little or nothing of what they do want. The President seems to follow the theory of the cheap boarding-house landlady, who said that she carefully studied what they didn't like and gave them plenty of it.—Philadelphia Times.

THE Sun has of late been urging Democrats to "get together," but does it hope to get Democrats together by abusing the great mass of the party, the overwhelming majority who stand by the tariff reform propositions that were embodied in the last national platform and were well-illustrated by Governor Hill in the speech above cited? All who do not sympathize with its folly are not fools.—Buffalo Courier.

HERE in the South are to be found the most fruitful lands that the continent can boast of, on which may be grown in the greatest profusion a wonderful variety of products. In addition to this the natural resources of the South are in process of rapid—indeed, we might say, phenomenal—development, so that in one way and another, energetic and industrious young men will be able to find hundreds of opportunities here.—Atlanta Constitution.

COLONEL DUDLEY, who was at first piqued and disgruntled at the refusal of the President to give him recognition, is so well satisfied with his profits from his pension practice, growing out of his influence with Commissioner Tanner, that he is willing, it is said, to do his share of the peculiar work his party now demands. He promised, it is said, to take charge of the "floaters" in Louisiana and in Montana in blocks of five. The Republican managers mean to carry both elections, feeling that they cannot afford to lose one possible vote in the next Congress, and they will not be too particular about their measures.—Boston Herald.

It is true that the present administration has been too busy in distributing the spoils of government and attending to other matters of weighty personal concern to develop the financial policy promised the country in the late campaign. But after four months of Republican administration the much-maligned financial policy of President Cleveland remains undisturbed by his political enemies. The millions of treasury surplus in untouched in the pet national banks, and Secretary Windom moves as cautiously as did his Democratic predecessor in purchasing government bonds. While the treasury situation shall remain without change, the only judicious mode of extrication from its embarrassments will be in pursuing the path of revenue reduction marked out so ably and so courageously in President Cleveland's message.—Philadelphia Record.

PRESIDENT HARRISON'S son is doing what he can for Democratic success in Montana by insulting all the Republicans who do not kneel in adulation at the feet of "Pa" Harrison. The President's son is part owner of Judge, which recently insulted the Republican leaders in the Cabinet and in Congress by picturing them as beasts groveling in abject submission at the feet of President Harrison, figured as a triumphant angel. The friends of Blaine, Sherman and the rest thus insulted in the cartoon were indignant and not pacified by the explanation that although the Harrisons have a financial interest in Judge the paper is controlled by the managing partner. The excuse will not answer for the reproduction of the insulting cartoon in Russell Harrison's Montana paper as a campaign document. It is understood by the Republicans of the embryo State as a notification that "Pa" Harrison's son will triumph over the rebellious Republican "beasts" in Montana as the angelic "Pa" triumphed over Blaine, Sherman and the other "beasts." There is loud growling among the Republican "beasts."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Meeting Monday Night.

That was a good meeting at the court house on Monday night. A good crowd was present, but one noticeable thing was that out of the one hundred subscribers to the stock of the co-operative factory less than half were present. But it was a good and profitable meeting nevertheless.

When the meeting had assembled, P. H. Pelletier Esq., was called to the chair, H. S. Nunn, was elected secretary and W. E. Snellings assistant secretary.

After roll call the chairman in a brief and explicit manner explained the objects of the meeting which were to take steps to formulate a plan of organizing and conducting a co-operative factory. He called on all present to give their views freely and unreservedly in the matter and designated Hon. F. M. Simmons to lead off in the matter.

Mr. Simmons responded in a talk of fifteen or twenty minutes discussing the matter from a business standpoint. He acknowledged that he had not given this question of a co-operative factory the thought that he ought to have given it. He had no experience in manufacturing therefore did not come to talk but to hear those who had been engaged in that business give their views. He thought a cotton factory would be a good thing but he did not want to see one started if it was to be a failure. The failure of the former factory was a calamity in the fact that it had set back manufacturing enterprise for years in the city. So far as he knew, it was the only cotton factory in North Carolina that had not paid. In the inauguration of another we might profit by the experience of the past and steer clear of the difficulties that caused failure before. And finally to succeed in any manufacturing enterprise we must conquer our pride and prejudices. It must not be considered degrading for reputable people to work in a cotton factory.

Mr. Washington Bryan was next called for. He had given the matter considerable thought; had an interest in the former factory which made such a signal failure and spoke as one of experience. Thought if the people of New Berne would start out shoulder to shoulder and subscribe the stock the mistake of the past could be avoided and the enterprise pushed to success. He did not think it necessary that even a majority of stock should be subscribed in the city in order to success. If we could not get it here let us get it wherever we can. He was heartily in favor of the movement and promised to do all in his power to make it a success. We must show that the enterprise is worthy of our support and if we could not raise money enough at home let us go abroad and bring the enterprise to a successful termination.

T. A. Green, Esq., was next called for. He was in favor of giving what had been subscribed to any manufacturing company or some man of ability and experience that will start a factory, if we could not raise money enough to start it ourselves. He, too, had been interested in the old factory to the tune of about $5,000, and he told of some of the difficulties in the way of success at that time.

Jas. A. Bryan, Esq., was next called on. He had no great experience in building a factory or how to run one. He spoke of the fine water power that could be obtained from the lakes in this county, and the advantages of operating factories in the country. The labor could be better managed there and experience has demonstrated that the most successful factories had been operated outside of the cities. He favored opening correspondence with the successful manufacturers of this State and ascertain what amount of capital they would require from us to induce them to join us in establishing a factory. He thought if it were known that a successful manufacturer would take charge of a factory it would be easier to raise $40,000 for the purpose that the amount already subscribed.

The chairman thought the discussion had diverged from the object of the meeting. The meeting was for the purpose of adopting some plan to start a co-operative factory. He guaranteed that a man could be found to manage it successfully if the money be raised. The labor of our town is our capital and we must employ it.

After some further discussion a motion, offered by Mr. Jas. A. Bryan, was adopted authorizing the chairman to appoint a committee to draw up a constitution and by-laws and formulate a plan of conducting a co-operative factory; to correspond with prominent manufacturers of the State and report at a subsequent meeting. The chairman appointed James Redmond, (Mr. J. A. Bryan was appointed but asked to be excused on account of being absent) J. H. Hankburn, T. A. Green and W. E. Snellings.

On motion the chairman was added to the committee.

After some further discussion relative to an advertisement in the Manufacturer's Record a committee consisting of J. K. Willis, T. A. Green and W. P. Snellings was appointed to aid in securing the funds to continue said advertisement.

On motion the meeting adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.

Fourth of July at Swansboro.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—After a storm generally comes a calm; such is the case here in our little town by the sea this week. Last week our program was for the celebration of the Fourth of July in our place. It was a very bad week of weather, rain and rain again, but we carried out in part our program, and notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather had a goodly number of visitors to see us, and the gods of pleasure crowned our undertakings with complete success.

The day opened stormy and rainy, and many of the citizens felt down in the mouth because preparations had been made for a grand ovation. About 10 o'clock in the day, however, the rain ceased a little and the people began to come in, and by the time the boat race commenced, which was a few minutes after 1 o'clock, p. m., a large crowd was in attendance.

The boat race was the first on docket, oration and speaking next, may-pole festivities to follow, and last, grand ice-cream, cake and lemonade festival.

Nine boats entered the race; the prizes were three beautiful flags to the winners in the race. The boats were classed in order according to size and length, there were three classes and three flags; entrance fee 25c. each, for the benefit of the church. The wind was southwest blowing a good breeze; distance from town to near banks and back, about four miles the round trip. Result as follows: Hattie V., Capt. M. V. Willis, first-class boat, made the fastest time and captured the first-class flag; Ada L., Capt. G. W. Littleton, second-class boat, won the second flag, and Lulu H., Capt. Joe Foster, was the winner of the third prize. All the boats did good sailing, and but for the weather double the quantity of people would have been here to witness the races. Mention ought to be made of the Cora S., Capt. D. J. Sanders, and Ida May, Capt. Z. Willis; these shuffles are excellent sailors, and might have done better under other and better circumstances.

Next we assembled at the church to hear the speaking. One of our speakers, Dr. J. W. Sanders, failed to attend, but on assembling in the hall we found our orator, T. E. Gilman, Esq., and our old war horse, Jas. H. Foy of Richlands, Mr. Foy came first, introduced by Mr. G. T. Farnell, and most of us know that friend Harry can make a good speech on anything he tries. Next our Tom, as we all call him, interested us about one hour in an excellent discourse. The house was crowded to its full extent with some of Onslow and Carteret counties most lovely women.

Next in order was the beautiful May-pole dance by the boys and girls, ten in number, all dressed as near alike as possible. The pole was about 15 feet high. The performance took place out doors, conducted by Mr. J. J. Ward and superintended by Miss Rosa Moore of our place. These exercises lasted about 45 minutes, and old people were here to witness what they never saw before, the May-pole dance.

Next and last, but not least, the festival doors were opened to the vast assemblage now gathered, and ice cream, lemonade, cakes of all kinds, confectioneries, and a large amount of love making and courting thrown in, flowed freely and plentifully until half-past two o'clock in the morning of the 5th.

The proceeds amounted to $81.00, so you see it did not look like hard times here. One cake sold for the prettiest girl brought $38.15. Miss Katie Holland was the successful one; her opponents were Misses Etta Harget and Daisy Sanders. The cake for the ugliest man was won by Mr. Odus Holland, who took it in good part. This brought about $8.00.

Thus passed off the Fourth of July in Swansboro. Though liquor was sold here no one was obstreperous in the least, and all passed off quietly and pleasantly, thanks to all concerned.

Our church now will soon be finished.

Farmers' Dinner and Picnic.

There will be a picnic and farmers' dinner at Street's Ferry farm on Friday the second day of August, under the direction of Spring Garden Farmer's Alliance. Our State business agent, W. A. Darden, has consented to deliver an address on that occasion.

We cordially invite all citizens in reach, and especially all farmers and their families to join us. Let us have a good meeting and give Capt. Darden a holiday reception. Bring your well filled baskets and let us have a pleasant and profitable meeting.

By order of the committee D. LANE, Secretary.

ALLIANCE NOTES.

GRAVEN COUNTY ALLIANCE. NEW BERNE, N. C., July, 4th 1889.

MR. EDITOR:—The Craven County Farmers Alliance met at the court house in New Berne on the 5th inst. The sub Alliances were represented by their quota of Delegates, all of whom seemed to take an active interest in every measure proposed for the good of the order. They endorsed the action of the National Alliance in regard to the use of cotton cloth for baling cotton and most of the winners of the country have already forwarded their orders for the amount required.

The business agency expects soon to be in good working condition and when its plans are perfected will doubtless render every aid to the members of the order in the way of the purchase of supplies, fertilizers etc. Very serious damage to crops from the recent rains is reported from all sections of the county, but the Alliance is still hopeful and is determined to work with energy and spirit. J. W. BIDDLE, Sec.

LENOIR COUNTY FARMERS ALLIANCE.

To our brother farmers of Lenoir County who are not members of the Farmers Alliance, Greeting:

At a meeting of the representatives of the Alliance of twelve Southern States at Birmingham, Ala., it was unanimously resolved to use bagging made from cotton. The object of this meeting was to thwart the unjust movement of the arrogant Jute Bagging Trust, who have set their heads to extort from the cotton farmers, millions of dollars. In order to help us the New Orleans, New York and Liverpool cotton exchanges have agreed to deduct tare, so as to make cotton equal to jute.

The Alliances will stand with the Birmingham meeting and the Trust knows it. Now in order to break us down, it proposes to sell its bagging cheaper than ever hoping that you are under no obligation to use cotton covering.

We take this method of asking you to stand by us and not the Jute Bagging Trust. If we fail now you may look in the future for cotton bagging to be sold only for trust prices.

J. M. MEWBORN, President. J. W. DALY, Sec. Kinston, N. C. July, 4th 1889.

Notice to Steamboat Companies.

The undersigned having been appointed by the Jones County Farmers' Alliance, at their meeting held in Trenton, July 5th, 1889, to confer with the owners of steamboats as to a fair and equitable adjustment of freight rates between Trenton and New Berne and all intermediate points both ways on all articles in transit on Trent river.

To accomplish this we respectfully ask the steamboat companies to send us sealed bids before the 10th day of August next, so we can report to the Jones County Alliance which will convene at Trenton, August 10th, 1889. July 8th, 1889.

JOSEPH B. BANKS, J. F. NOBLE, C. B. FOW, Committee.

DIED.

On Bear creek, Onslow county, of dropsy of the bowels, on Monday the 8th inst., after a painful and lingering illness of over twelve months, Mrs. Henrietta J. Riggs, wife of Mr. John B. Riggs, in the 35th year of her age.

Mrs. Riggs was a great sufferer in her late sickness, being confined to her bed almost daily for twelve months. During the last six months of her illness she was tapped by Dr. Hoyt six different times, and the immense quantity of forty-two gallons of water taken from her; as much as eight gallons and a half at one time, never less than five and a half at a time. What a great sufferer, but she bore her suffering with fortitude, and hardly ever complained.

We deeply sympathize with the bereaved husband and four smart children, with numerous friends and relatives to mourn her death. She was a good Christian woman, and all who knew her loved her for her gentleness and christianlike ladyship, but she has gone to that land where no more pains, no more sickness and no more sorrowing will be felt. We believe she has gone to a better land. W.
