It is sometimes the case that suspicion attaches to a good man, and, when it does, it is his duty to see that the State suffers no detriment because of his misfortune.

A CLOUD-BURST occurred Wednesday night, on the Santa Fe road, in New Mexico, which did great damage to the line; two bridges and several miles of track were washed away, and even steel rails were twisted into all kinds of shapes.

WHEN entire business houses are given over to dog furnishings, when dogs are given Turkish baths and have special attendants, special toilet combs, brushes and perfumes; when dogs sleep on cedar-down cushions, and eat special dishes off individual services, isn't it time we dropped the phrase "treated like a dog"? "Treated like a man" would have the better application in multitudes of cases.—Washington Post.

"PATIENCE, kindness and courtesy are better evidences of greatness than bombast, ill-nature and bad manners. This is warm weather advice; take it, act on it and keep cool."

NEARLY all the small boys who had intended to be Presidents have now changed their minds and decided to become sluggers. The pay is higher and the fame greater. The small boy, though, will outgrow both ambitions if he lives long enough.

SOUTH CAROLINA congratulates herself. Speaking of the slugging match the Charleston News and Courier says: "The pity of it all is that this fight occurred in a southern state; happily for our already badly disfigured reputation it did not take place in South Carolina."

A CHARLESTON, S. C. special, to the News Observer of the 11th inst., says: "A slight earthquake shock was felt here at 9.47 tonight. Duration of the shock was about three seconds; movements north and south, and the motion vibratory, accompanied by a slight noise."

A JAKSON, MISS., special of Thursday says: Governor Lowrey was interviewed last night. He said before he got through with all those who had anything to do with the fight the laugh would be on the other side. "I will see that every man, including the Queen and Crescent authorities, who aided and abetted the fighters, is prosecuted to the end."

It is not surprising that the native Republicans of North Carolina should feel considerably nettled at the partiality shown by Mr. Harrison to the Republicans of Northern birth in appointments to office. A. W. Shaffer, appointed postmaster at Raleigh; Palemon John, Collector of the Port, at Elizabeth City; G. Z. French postmaster and E. J. Pennypacker Collector of Customs at Wilmington, S. Cramer, Assayer of the Mint at Charlotte, and L. G. Estes postoffice inspector are all Northern men. Considering the number of Northern men compared with the native Republicans they have undoubtedly gotten a very liberal allowance of the official plums.—Wilmington Star.

A Sad Affliction.

Our La Grange correspondent, and the La Grange papers, bring us the sad intelligence of the death of Miss Ada Kinsey, the oldest daughter of Joseph and Fannie Kinsey. Ada was about nineteen years old and was just beginning to be of service in the school-room to her devoted father, who looked forward with bright hopes of making her an ornament to society and a useful woman to her fellow-creatures. But how often are our fondest hopes blasted! how often the swift-winged messengers of death come when we least expect them. The young girl as well as the old; all should be prepared to meet death. It is a consolation to know that this young lady had long ago realized the uncertainty of life and had prepared to meet her God.

We extend our warmest sympathies to the bereaved father and mother, brother and sisters.

Our Mayor as a Detective.

Mayor Williams has rare gifts as a detective. Yesterday a colored man who says his name is Henry Hoskins appeared at Stewart's stable with a set of harness which he offered to sell at $3.50. Mayor Williams was present and feigned to urge Mr. Stewart to buy them. But Mr. Stewart, believing that all was not right with the harness, refused to buy, whereupon Hoskins walked off. Mayor Williams jumped into a buggy after Hoskins had gone some distance and overtaking him remarked, "Bring your harness here and get up in the buggy and go with me to get the money; I will buy them." Hoskins at once took a seat in the buggy and in less than two minutes he was at the police station in care of the marshal and police. The harness, it is said, belongs to Whitty & Gates. A hearing will be had Monday morning.

A Mistake.

The Durham Tobacco Plant of July 10th has a splendid photograph of Edward A. Oldham and a sketch of his career as a journalist. In the brilliant description of journalistic life we find this paragraph:

In the winter of 1881 he accepted the position of managing editor of the Daily Commercial News of New Berne, N. C., afterward merged into the DAILY JOURNAL, which still exists.

This is a mistake. Neither the Daily Commercial News nor any other paper was ever merged into the DAILY JOURNAL. J. W. Harper bought the outfit of the Commercial News Company and formed a copartnership with the owners of the Kingston Journal, H. S. Nunn & E. E. Harper, and the new firm moved to New Berne and started the DAILY JOURNAL.

The Firemen's Trip to Wilmington.

The trip to Wilmington by the New Berne Fire Company promises to be one of the most pleasant and enjoyable of the season. The railroad fare will be very low. Wilmington is now appearing at her best with the State Guard encampment near by and a better time for pleasure and enjoyment could not have been selected by the company to visit it.

New Berne has no military company with the State Guard, but we have two fire companies that are equal to any of the military companies in whatever capacity they may be called to act. We wish to see a good representation of our firemen go on this trip. We know they will enjoy it and reflect credit upon our city.

The Wilmington Star of yesterday says: The New Berne firemen will arrive here next Tuesday afternoon, about 6 o'clock. They will be met at the Front depot by Wilmington Steam Fire Engine Co. No. 1, and escorted to the Orion, where a supper will be prepared for them. The New Berne boys will remain here three days during which time they will visit the Encampment, Carolina Beach and Ocean View.

U. S. Department of Agriculture. BUREAU OF ANIMAL INDUSTRY. Washington, D. C., July 1, 1889. MR. J. W. STEWART, New Berne, N. C.

SIR—This is to certify that on the 22d ultimo I examined the horses in your stable for glanders, with the result that I found no suspicion of glanders whatever. The horses were all well and in good condition, except five or six that were suffering from a mild attack of "distemper."

Very respectfully, F. W. KILBORNE, U. S. Veterinary Inspector. Under directions of Dr. Kilborne, having made continuous examination of J. W. Stewart's stables, I find the above distempered horses recovered and all in perfect health. R. P. WILLIAMS Mayor.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS.

From the State Papers.

Charlotte News: Farmers in town today report that they have about caught up with the grass, and are now having their own way. All report fine prospects for large crops.

Goldsboro Argus: One of our merchants was made happy on yesterday by a gentleman coming in and settling an account that had been standing since 1874. He was an honest man.

La Grange Spectator: It pains us to announce the death of Miss Ada Kinsey which occurred last Tuesday. She was 19 years of age, a daughter of Mr. Joseph Kinsey, and an excellent christian lady.

Wilmington Advertiser: The grape crop of North Carolina, and especially in this immediate vicinity, promises to be very good, although the fruit will not be ready for market as early by a few days it was last year.

Wilmington Messenger: Fishing at the black fish grounds near Southport is good now. A party on Monday last caught about four hundred in less than two hours. Rev. F. D. Swindell, who was one of the party, caught fifty-five.

Goldsboro Banner: The damage to low ground crops is great. Most of the farmers near the river and swamps report a portion or all their corn was destroyed while many also have lost cotton. The prospects for many are gloomy.

Leaksville Gazette: The corn crop on many farms in this section is badly in the grass, and much of it is most too large to plow.—The wheat crop was considerably injured in the shock by wet weather. Much of it was still in the field last Saturday and some shocks were green with sprouts.

Roanoke Hooket: The heavy rains of last week did a great deal of damage to crops and lands in this county, especially along the water courses and in the hilly sections. But we hope it is not so bad as many of the farmers say. Such calamities are usually exaggerated.

Charlotte Democrat: Mr. Sanders of this city calls attention to a disadvantage to North Carolina cotton abroad on account of lightness. Mr. Sanders thinks the bales should not run less than 475 to 500 pounds. We take the following extract from the rules abroad relating to American cotton: When contracts are closed in this manner, the weight per bale shall average 202 Kilos net (475 pounds American gross) for North American cotton excepting Texas which shall average 220 Kilos net (520 pounds gross.)

Satesville Landmark: The last rain fell last Thursday night. Friday was fair and the days have been growing warmer ever since. The farmers have got their wheat up (and it is not much damaged) and the cotton and corn are being rapidly cleared of grass.—A gentleman who has lately traveled from Greensboro to Asheville, stopping at intermediate points, reports the cursing among the Patriots on account of the recent Federal appointments in this district, as being both loud and deep. The latest talk among the Republicans is that Eaves' confirmation must be defeated.—Mr. I. H. Stradley, of this vicinity, returned a few days ago from a trip to his old home in Buncombe and brought back with him a tool chest which has a history. His father, James Stradley, was an Englishman and a soldier, and was with the Duke of Wellington in the great war which involved so much of Europe and which ended with the downfall of Napoleon. This old chest was at the battles of Laispel and Waterloo and all the battles of that great war, and was brought afterwards by its owner to America. He landed at Charleston and after a short stay there sought the mountains of North Carolina and died at Asheville three years ago aged 93 years. His son, Mr. I. H. Stradley, has inherited the old chest with its tools and drove through town with it Monday morning.

LA GRANGE ITEMS.

Officer Vincent is doing our "city" streets up nicely.

Why is it that our town has so few of the F. A. meetings?

Mr. F. A. Johnston came up from Morehead for a few days.

Mr. Frank McCoy left on Wednesday as agent for some publishing house.

Rev. W. E. Swain, formerly pastor of the M. P. Church here, was visiting in our town last week.

The fair and flower-like Miss Florence Love of Raleigh, who has been visiting friends here, returned to her home on Tuesday last.

The poem, "A Reply," in your last week's JOURNAL, was truly ahead of the average impromptu effort. The writer appears to have caught on to the clever knock and the proper tone at the offset.

How consolingly beautiful, how touching it is, to behold the crown of Christian glory upon the fair brow of youth—the royal robe of religion with its ermine of innocence upon their young shoulders, their tender feet safe shod in the sandals of sanctity, ready for that swift, sweet, solemn journey from mortality into the immortality of angels, where God promises us no more parting, no more pain. In the death of Miss Ada Kinsey, eldest daughter of Mr. Joseph Kinsey of our town, which sad event occurred on the 7th inst., this earnest preparation of the young and happy for the coming of the "Angel men call Death," was solemnly exemplified. Religious services were conducted by Rev. J. J. Harper, many friends and relatives attending. While we lament the loss of this young Christian, it is not for even this pen of sympathy to touch upon the anguish of the stricken family. God only can comfort them in their sorrow.

An Important Question.

"What shall we do with our boys?" This is a question that many parents are asking themselves. And a very important question it is. By all means the boys should be educated. Then arises the question, "Which is the best school to send them to?" The school should be first-class in every particular, and the charges reasonable. The Davis School meets these requirements. It is first-class in every particular. There is a large faculty of able professors. The best instruction is given in every department. Young men can complete their education at Davis School, or be prepared for the highest classes of any College or University. There is also a full course in Civil Engineering, a full Commercial Course, and a thorough preparatory Medical Course. There is no extra charge for any of these studies. Fuel, washing and lights are furnished free of charge. In another column will be found some particulars concerning Davis School.
