OUR CESAR.

"Now, in the name of all the Gods at once, Upon what meat doth this our Caesar feed, That he is grown so great?"

Washington press dispatches say that Acting-Secretary Batchelor has issued an order suspending all bills against the Treasury Department for telegraphing during the current fiscal year. This is based upon a letter from the Postmaster-General to the Secretary of the Treasury, in which he says: "In as much as the question of fixing rates for government telegrams during the current fiscal year is still unsettled, I have the honor to request that you please suspend payment of any telegraphic bills against your department or any branch thereof until official promulgation by the department of an order fixing the rates in question."

This is nothing less than absolute tyranny.

The facts are about these: Some month's ago Mr. Wanamaker decided that the Western Union Telegraph company was charging the Government too much for the transmission of messages, and demanded a reduction, even going so far as to state the amount that should be charged.

Mr. Green, the president of the company replied that it was impossible to make the required reduction. Thereupon Wanamaker addressed his letter to the Secretary of the Treasury requesting him to withhold payment to the telegraph company "until official promulgation by the department of an order fixing the rates in question."

Who gave Wanamaker the right to fix the rates of the Western Union Telegraph company? It will hardly be contended that the President has any such right; how then came the Secretary of the President in possession of such authority?

It may be that the rates are too high—probably they are—but, how is it that Wanamaker can buy his arbitrary dictum establish rates for a chartered company doing business in accordance with the laws of the land and the customs of the times? We do not believe that Congress can fix the rates, much less the President or a member of his Cabinet.

Caesarism is growing in this country; but nobody expected to see Wanamaker "bestride the narrow world like a Colossus," and from his elevation dictate to freemen, "and we petty men walk under his huge legs, to find dishonorable graves."

If Mr. Wanamaker can fix rates for the telegraph lines, why may he not fix the rates of railroad and ocean transportation? If he can regulate the charges in one branch of business, why not in all? "If he can usurp the rights of a corporation, why not the rights of the people? If he can fetter the telegraph companies, what is to be the limit of his power?"

"On what meat doth this our Caesar feed?" He is sustained and fattened by the viands that grow of consolidation. We have drifted from the old landmarks. The paths our fathers trod are being obliterated; and we are drifting towards imperialism.

John Wanamaker by his decree, deciding the rates of a company over which he has no legitimate control! "Ye Gods, it doth amaze me." Please observe, Mr. Wanamaker is not submitting a business proposition, to be accepted or rejected—he is issuing a department order. He not only prescribes future rates, but he requests the Secretary of the Treasury not to pay for services already rendered until he has brought the company to his terms. This is not only tyranny but it is downright dishonesty.

Congress must chain this Caesar, or the people may rise in the majesty of freemen and assert their power. But let it be remembered that Wanamaker is the agent of Harrison, who is rapidly gaining the unenviable reputation of being the weakest man who ever filled the Presidential office.

FUN WITH THE OLD MAN.

How He Amused the Tourists and Astonished the Pretty Waiter Girl.

He was a meek-looking old gentleman from the country, and as he took his seat at the dining room table the drummers looked at him over their soup-spoons. They noted his weather-beaten face, his wet hair carefully parted and brushed around over his ears, and his air of diffidence as he nervously fingered his fork; and when the waiter girl stood at his side and winked at the boot-and-shoe man, they were all attention.

"Soup" she asked.

The old man seemed a bit surprised at the brevity of the bill of fare, and fidgeted about as though waiting for her to say something more.

"Would you like to some soup?" said the girl with a side glance at the coffee-and-spice man.

"I ain't particular about soup, as I know of," answered the old man.

"Boil' mut'n capersauce, ross' beef, ris' lamb, ris' veal, fricasee chick'e, cole ham-tongue, chick'h-salad, boil' n' baked p'tatas," said the girl with lightning-like rapidity.

The old man looked kind of helpless, and the boys felt a little sorry for him as he kept his eyes fastened on the fork, which he shoved from side to side with his fingers.

"I guess I'll take—I guess you'll have to say that again," he said, looking up, and the girl rattled the whole thing off in exactly the same time as before.

The old man looked 'round the table and caught sight of the drummer winking at the girl; then he jerked his head around, and looking her straight in the face, he said:

"You may gimme s'm bile corn-beef n' cabbage, ross' beef veal n' mut'n, cole chick'n n' turkey n' tongue, n' s'm ham n' eggs n' codfish cakes n' sassage n' beef-steak n' a piece of punkin pie n' cup o' coffee, sis; n' now see if yer kin make yer little legs fly 'a fast as yekin yer tongue, for I wanter git home; there's a shower comin' up."

The girl hesitated, turned red, and then made a break for the kitchen, while the drummers laughed and the old man gazed out of the window at the gathering clouds.—Puck.

What "Hustling" Does.

The man of business and energy throws himself body and soul into his work. His invariable rule is business first, pleasure afterward. Politics, social enjoyment and the like are never allowed to interfere with business. They are secondary consequence, and receive attention after business hours only.

The community that seeks growth and prosperity is forever reaching out for some new development just beyond its grasp. Like the man of business, it is pushing unceasingly. Elections come and go, and social events come and go, but it is still devoting itself to business. The question is not whether the man has great business ability and the community great natural resources, near as much as it is whether he is a man of irrepressible pluck, and the community of irresistible push. The best business gauge of any community is its newspapers. A paper may be a personal organ more than a mouthpiece of the public, yet the general sentiment of the community can be pretty closely approximated by studying even this personal organ.

To a close student of the South we believe it is not a difficult thing to gauge the growth of a community by its local press. To use an expressive word, the press in a community of push and energy is always "hustling." This hustle may not be directly in the line of local development or improvement every time, but it is that restlessness ever on the alert for a good thing, whatever it may be. Such a paper is always getting what is called a "scoop" in newspaper parlance, and the community it represents is always attracting to itself new enterprises and new life.

On the other hand, where a paper is constantly stirring up the political pot to see if by some accident it has not overlooked some little incident, but seldom gives the business pot a stir, that constituency can safely be set down as conservative and listless.

A live town is always on the alert and never allows anything to escape its grasp. Were it to attempt to discriminate, it would lose many a good thing. It is like a magnet; it sweeps in everything within reach. A magnet that would attract a needle but repulse a nail would be of little use. A community that would strive for a cotton mill but overlook a saw mill would not be on the main highway to prosperity.

The Manufacturers' Record hopes to see every Southern community make everything secondary to business. What a boom many communities, now stagnant, would have if the local press would devote half the space and energy to local improvement and development that is now devoted to discussing political and like inconsequential matters.—Baltimore Manufacturers' Record.

Among Errors Ruinous to Health.

One of the most mischievous and most common is the indiscriminate and too frequent use of purgatives. Such medicines, if well chosen and seasonably resorted to, are certainly useful, but many persons select the worst, fly from one to the other, and employ them when there is no occasion, or their utility has ceased. To establish on a permanent basis a regular condition of the bowels, the finest alternative is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is botanic in origin, and a safe succedaneum for those objectionable drugs, calomel and blue pill; it does not gripe or drench the bowels like the ordinary evacuates, and it not only reforms irregularity of the habit of body, but remedies the disorder and inactivity of the liver and stomach, which usually accompany that condition. Rheumatism, kidney trouble, malarial complaint and nervousness are removed by the Bitters.

Self, trained in the best way and developed in the noblest parts, is ever giving itself out for the welfare of others.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for "diarrhoea." Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Beecham's Pills cure bilious and nervous ills.

PUBLIC SALE OF CITY REAL ESTATE IN NEW BERNE.

Monday, Aug. 5th, 1889.

NORTH CAROLINA, Superior Court. Craven County. } James C. Harrison, Adm'r of John O. Gardner, dec'd. Against Joseph E. and Sarah F. Gardner, heirs-at-law.

Petition to sell lands to pay debts, etc.

In obedience to a judgment of the Superior Court of Craven county, rendered in the above entitled suit, Feb'y 15th, 1889, I will sell at Public Auction to the highest bidder, at the Court House door in New Berne, N. C., on Monday, August 5th, 1889, at 11 o'clock A. M., the following described lots in the City of New Berne, belonging to the estate of John O. Gardner, dec'd, to wit:

1. Part of lot No. 294, on the north side of Pollock street, being 66 ft. 9 1/2 inches front by 142 1/2 ft. back, adjoining lot of B. B. Davenport on the east, and the lots of others, now occupied by Samuel Cook, described in a deed from Graham Davis, attorney, to John O. Gardner, recorded in Records of Craven county, Book No. 96, folio 68, subject to a mortgage of $300 part purchase money and interest on same from Feb'y 20th, 1888. The proceeds from the sale of this lot, or enough of the same, will be exclusively applied to the payment of said debt and interest.

2. Part of lot No. 301, bounded on the east by the lot of Misses Mary and Fannie Hay, on the south by lot No. 309, on the west by the lot now occupied by Rev. K. K. Hearn, and on the north by Pollock street, measuring 48 feet front on Pollock street, and the same width on back line (being 48 ft. by 107 1/2 ft.) now occupied by J. E. Avery and L. A. Bray and families.

3. Part lot No. 301, at the southeast corner of Pollock and Fleet street extended, measuring 68 ft. 9 inches front on Pollock street, and extending back 107 ft. to the line of lot No. 309—excepting that part of said lot now covered by the buildings occupied by J. C. Collins—now occupied by Rev. R. K. Hearn.

4. Part of lots Nos. 301 and 309, measuring 40 feet front southwardly from corner stone on Spring street, and 24 feet front from said stone northwardly on line of Fleet street extended, and extending back eastwardly as far as the buildings and fence, including the land conveyed by Elizabeth and Elijah Piver to John O. Gardner by deed dated Nov. 17th, 1880, now occupied and used by J. O. Collins as a store and dwelling.

Sale will commence at 11 o'clock A. M.

Terms of Sale—One-half cash; balance on a credit of six months, with notes to be approved. Title reserved until full payment is made.

DICKENS' WORKS.

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM.

Any subscriber to the DAILY or WEEKLY JOURNAL, who has paid for an advance, will be entitled to 10 per cent. discount on a set of CHAR. DICKENS' WORKS. For the money, this is the best edition on the market.

Compared with the cost of former, even recent days, it is amazing how the prices of standard books are now reduced. This is especially true of the works of Charles Dickens, and the most marvellous cheap edition of his works ever published is unquestionably the "Box" edition, now issued by John R. Alden, the "Literary Revolution" publisher, New York, Chicago, and elsewhere. It is printed in good clear, legible nonpareil type from the same plates as Appleton's Popular Library Edition, price per set $10.00, double-column pages, small quarto form, easy for the eye, convenient to handle, and is handsomely bound in cloth, in eight volumes as follows:

- | | |
|--------------------------|-------------------------|
| 1. Martin Chuzzlewit. | 5. David Copperfield. |
| 2. Bleak House. | 6. Mutual Friend. |
| 3. Sketches by Boz. | 7. Old Curiosity Shop. |
