Mayor Williams' Reply. We must confess that we cannot understand Mayor Williams. He sent a communication, which was published in Wednesday's issue of the JOURNAL.

chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, give for not voting in 1886? If my memory does not fail me, he, Guion, said after the election that Mr. Simmons and some of his friends had gotten him to assume a position of antagonism to the Coalition movement.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS.

Goldboro Headlight: It seems to us as far as we can observe in our rambles about the city, that there are comparatively few idle people here at present. Our city will soon boast of the first organized Artillery Company in the State.

This powder is a marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders.

ALL the indications show that tariff reform is gaining ground. In New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, and the great States of the West evidences of the fact are positive and overwhelming.

THIRTEEN thousand Republicans have been turned in since the great Civil Service Reform administration took hold. The two chief hoodlums, H. & W. evidently believe in the political cry.—Turn the rascals in.—Wilmington Messenger.

A SPECIAL from Liverpool of August 6th says, when the trial of Mrs. Ghybbrick for the murder of her husband was resumed this morning, the Judge delivered his charge to the jury. His remarks were strongly in favor of the prisoner.

MCKINLEY, "the high protection high priest of Ohio," is hedging. He is a candidate for speaker, and having been foremost in the advocacy of a high tariff he finds it necessary to declare himself in favor of a liberal revision. This shows which way the wind is blowing.

A GENTLEMAN who used to be a postmaster, but who isn't working at it now, was at the Ebbitt House last evening. "So you have tendered your resignation, have you?" asked a friend. "No," said he, "I have had my resignation tendered me."—Washington Post.

THE Richmond Dispatch does us the honor to copy our article on Virginia Politics, and gives us the pleasing assurance that all will be right in the Old Dominion. We do not doubt it. Virginians are always true to the demands of honor and right, and fearlessly stand by their colors.

MR. GURKIN, of Kentucky, a stock dealer now sells mules by the pound, and says it pays. His last customer was to deliver 100 head at New Orleans at fourteen and a half cents a pound, which would average him $129.50 a head.—Wilmington Star.

THE latest claim in regard to the seals is that they have a habitation and breeding ground absolutely within the jurisdiction of the United States, and that, therefore, this government has a right of property over them when they escape and taken in the open sea hundreds of miles from land. This claim is hardly less absurd than the pretension that Behring Sea is a "closed" sea.—Philadelphia Record.

FROM a Washington special of August 5th, we learn that on that day, Joseph J. Martin was appointed post master at Tarboro, North Carolina, vice Miss Mary Pender, removed. This is a reminder that North Carolina should erect a monument to Gen. Pender, and see to it that provision is made for his family. We don't know how this lady was related to the General, but the announcement that a Miss Pender has been removed from office in North Carolina stirs our blood.

DALL'S—Chickens. Ex-Sheriff Stinson has made his final settlement with the county for the taxes of 1888.

Some of the farmers of this and adjoining counties report excellent corn crops and a great improvement in the cotton crop.

The showers that have been falling every day for two or three weeks ought to have produced a good hay crop. A little fair weather now will enable our farmers to put in some good work in saving it.

THE LADIES DELIGHTED. The pleasant effect and the perfect safety with which ladies may use the liquid fruit laxative, Bryon of Figs, under all conditions make it their favorite remedy. It is pleasant to the eyes and to the taste, gentle, yet effectual in acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels.

In the face of certain erroneous rumors that have become current it is proper to state that Mr. Carr has no connection whatever with The Globe and is in no wise responsible for its policy and obligations. My statement that you should admit your opposition to Mr. Bryan to be due to your thinking Mr. Clark favors the latter, which you deny is the case, and claim you would deem it an honor to be in accord with such a gentleman, does not warrant your conclusion that I stated Mr. Clark favored Mr. Bryan, per se. Allowing you the largest latitude in construing my language, the most that you can obtain to justify your conclusion is that which you admit in your reply Mr. Clark can fairly and honorably do. "He may prefer Mr. Bryan to remain President of the road rather than some other particular person put in." That nothing more than this is allowable, is clearly shown by noting my language; "that the contest seems to have narrowed down to Bryan and Simmons." Per se, must have singularly monopolized the greater part of your intellectual repository. As the railroad question has your paper, "Is this the outcome of the common mind, seeing something grandly magnificent in a stray latin waf, which he found itself benighted in a strange land; or because per se has taken the form and shape of a future railroad President?"

In your earnest defence of Mr. Simmons, you do not deny the statement made by me in reference to the combination between him, Hancock and Hahn in 1888. I assume that you admit its truth; for if it were a mistake, your zeal in Mr. Simmons behalf would certainly have caused you to make a denial.

Your statement in reference to nine tenths of the people between Goldsboro and Beaufort being in favor of Simmons and opposed to Mr. Bryan is nothing but a bare unsupported statement in which neither myself nor any other person who has heard a full and free expression of opinion by the people can concur. I have seen a petition in favor of Bryan signed by nearly every truck farmer in this section.

Mr. Editor, you make a mistake when you say that I have narrowed the fight down to Simmons and Bryan. This has been done by pious friends, and as they have made the bed, let them lie in it without complaining.

So far as I am concerned, I am in favor of the peoples choice, and as I am satisfied that between Bryan and Simmons, the people prefer Bryan, I say to Gov. Fowle give us Bryan and the people will say well done.

R. P. WILLIAMS.

IN MEMORIAM. The sad announcement of the death of Miss Lizzie Slover cast a shadow of gloom over the community. So unexpected was it that many doubted the correctness of it. For some time past her attention around the sick bed had been unceasing, her strength failed, although only for a short time she was confined to her room, and up to within a few hours of her death such an event was not contemplated. Many ask why this sad dispensation of Providence? Early on Monday morning, peacefully, quietly, like the sinking of the sun below the horizon, the pearl dropped from its wasted shell and her spirit was wafted into the presence of her God. May God grant to her "A Throne in Worlds on High, A Crown of Immortality."

Sacred to the memory of ELIZABETH KING SLOVER, Daughter of Charles and Elizabeth K. Slover, Died August 5th, A. D. 1889, in the 44th year of her age. Miss Slover for many years was a member of the Presbyterian Church, an earnest worker as a Sunday-school teacher, an active member of the Female Benevolent Society. In her duties she exhibited remarkable zeal and earnestness. On Tuesday afternoon a large number of friends assembled at the residence of her father to pay the last sad solemn tribute of respect to her memory. The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Vass, and her remains taken to Cedar Grove Cemetery and there entombed. "Thou'rt gone to the grave, but 'twere wrong to deplore thee, When God was thy ransom, thy guardian and guide; He gave thee, and took thee, and soon will restore thee, Where death has no sting, since the Saviour has died." Newbern, N. C.

Wilmington Star: A gentleman from Brunswick reports the rice crop above Wilmington as seriously injured by the recent rains, which have prevented planters from giving their fields "the last hoeing," as the term goes. The crop below Wilmington, he says, is in much better condition and will give a good yield.

Washington Progress: We are informed by reliable sources that the farmers on the south side of the river in this county have the best crops they have had for years, especially in that rich South Creek section. We are glad to note this fact.—News comes to us from Hyde county that the crops are almost an entire failure. We hope that they will turn out better than expected yet.

Raleigh Call: A colored man who left here in the exodus movement some time ago landed in Mississippi. He didn't like that country. He wanted to come back but had no money. This did not deter him, however, for he started on foot and arrived a day or two ago, having walked all the way back. He says graveyards out there are as large as cotton fields here. He could stand such scenery.

Charlotte News: Mr. S. L. Leary, architect of this city, has just completed the plans for the new Trinity College buildings to be erected at Raleigh, and if Mr. Leary's plans are adopted the Trinity buildings will surpass anything in the State. The perspective of the main building shows a three-story structure with basement, and the design is entirely modern, with corner and center towers, round and square, porticos, recesses, etc. The cost of the building, according to Mr. Leary's plan will be $50,000. The building committee will be here next Tuesday to examine the plans.

Wilmington Messenger: A private letter from the drummer evangelist, W. P. Fife, dated Lambertton August 6th, says the revival there closed Sunday night. The meeting resulted in 180 profession of religion and sixty backsliders reclaimed. Mr. Fife will be in Wilmington this week on his way to Whiteville where he expects to have a revival.—The Rev. D. H. Tuttle arrived in the city yesterday evening, having come down from Wilson on ten days vacation. He will spend his time in Wilmington and Southport. Mr. Tuttle has hosts of warm friends here who are exceedingly glad to have him in their midst, but they will learn with regret that he has decided to leave the North Carolina Conference this Fall and join the Texas Conference.

Raleigh News and Observer: No death which has ever been announced in Raleigh will carry more sorrow to our people than the one which becomes the News and Observer's painful commission to announce this morning. Gov. Fowle last night received a telegram from his brother Mr. J. L. Fowle, of Washington, N. C., announcing that Mr. Bryan Satterthwaite died on Sunday night at Ocracoke, where he went about two weeks ago from this city, and where he was taken ill. He had been unwell before he left here and had started home fearing that a sick spell awaited him. The funeral and burial took place yesterday evening at his home at Washington. Mr. Satterthwaite was a nephew of Gov. Fowle and was his executive clerk. His home was at Washington where his mother resides. He was 22 years of age and was the "young lad" as he was then called who was in the buggy with Gen. Bryan Grimes at the time he was assassinated. He was a grandson of Hon. Fenner B. Satterthwaite one of the most distinguished men of Eastern North Carolina in his day and after whom Mr. Bryan Satterthwaite was named.
