What She Does Not Do

A good wife never abuses her husband's confidence. She never prefers charges against him in the presence of others, or confides the story of her marital wrongs to comparative strangers when he is absent. She never tells other people that he does not bring home money enough to keep the house in food, clothe her and the children, pay the rent, and appear respectable. She never makes pompous references to relations who would rather go without themselves than see her and the children starve. She never questions the ability of her husband to earn sufficient money at his trade or in his business, or seeks to render him incompetent and ridiculous in the sight of others. She never usurps authority in her husband's house, or makes him the willing or unwilling instrument of her resentment, petty spite, or malignant malice. A good wife never does anything of this kind: she would rather screen her husband's faults than to hold them up to censure. She would rather mend and patch old garments for her children than go hysterically to her friends for a loan. A good wife is always mildly proud, independent, self-denying, loving, seldom finding fault, but always endeavoring to render her home, be it ever so humble, as sunny and comfortable as her husband's circumstances will permit. We are religiously convinced that if wives, as a rule, treated their husbands with more respect, and reposed more confidence in their integrity, society would be spared many of the painful revelations which daily appear in the newspaper press. Husbands should be led - not driven; and should treat their wives as considerably as they wish to be treated themselves.

DICKENS' WORKS. HOW TO OBTAIN THEM.

Any subscriber to the DAILY or WEEKLY JOURNAL, who has paid one year in advance, will be entitled to 10 per cent. discount on a set of CHAS. DICKENS' WORKS. For the money, this is the best edition on the market. Compared with the cost of former, even recent days, it is amazing how the prices of standard books are now reduced. This is especially true of the works of Charles Dickens, and the most marvellously cheap edition of his works ever published is unquestionably the "DAILY" edition, now issued by John B. Alden, the "Illustrated" edition, published by New York, Chicago, and elsewhere. It is printed in good, clear, large-sized nonpareil type (from the same plates as Appleton's Popular Library Edition, price per set $10.00), double-column page, small quarto form, easy for the eye, convenient to handle, and is handsomely bound in cloth, in eight volumes as follows:

- List of the Vols. - Over 130 Illustrations. 1. Martin Chuzzlewit, 5. David Copperfield, Christmas Stories, Edwin Drood. 2. Bleak House, Sketches by Box, 6. Mutual Friend, Hard Times, Pictures from Italy. 3. Nicholas Nickleby, Tale of Two Cities, 7. Dombey and Son, Old Curiosity shop, American Notes. 4. Pickwick Papers, Reprinted Pieces, Great Expectations, 8. Little Dorrit, Oliver Twist. Price Per Vol. 45c. Per Set $3.00. Size of volume 5 1/2 x 7 1/4 inches; postage if by mail, 12 cents per volume. Sample copies can be seen at this office.

Notice. The undersigned, James C. Harrison, has duly qualified as Administrator of the estate of Michael Green, deceased, and hereby gives notice that he requires all persons having claims against the estate of the said Michael Green, deceased, to present them to the said Administrator, only entitled to pay for payment on or before the 25th day of August, 1889, or else this notice will be pleaded in bar of recovery. Persons indebted to the estate must pay without delay. New Berne, May 23d, 1889. JAS. C. HARRISON, Public Administrator, aug 23 d 89w
