B. & L. ASB'S—Money to loan.
E. W. CARPENTER—Mortgage notice.
Cotton, 9 3/4 to 10. Sales of eleven bales yesterday.
Gorton's Minstrels have been billed for the New Berne theatre, Oct. 24th.
J. K. Willis, the proprietor of Eastern Carolina marble works, was getting in new stock yesterday.
Mr. Charles Reizenstein left yesterday for New York, in the interest of the proposed electric light.
Lumber is being placed at the Fair grounds for the erection of a building to be used exclusively for the fish and oyster exhibit.
The first number of the North State Artisan, published at Durham, has made its appearance. It is in pamphlet form and both neat and new.
The mission prayer meeting of the young men of the Baptist church will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock in their church. The public is generally invited to attend.
Commencing yesterday, the steamers of the Eastern Carolina Dispatch were placed on their fall schedule, and will until further notice leave New Berne every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 4 p.m., and arrive here on Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday, four trips each way per week.
Long-Distance Hearing.
Saturday night a sociable was held at Stella, Carteret county, which is thirty-two miles from New Berne, and the music and chattering of the guests were distinctly heard here, over the telephone line. Mr. F. Ulrich, manager at the New Berne station, informs us that the line is now in the best of working order.
Shipping News.
The steamer Eaglet, of the E. C. D. line, sailed yesterday with a cargo of cotton, lumber, etc. The Annie of this line will arrive this morning and sail at 4 o'clock this afternoon.
Steamer Manteo, of the O. D. line, arrived last night from Norfolk. The Newberne will sail today at noon.
Steamer Defiance, of the Clyde line, arrives today and will sail tonight.
Opening of Hancock Street Methodist Church.
Last night at 7:30 o'clock the voices of a large number of people, who had assembled at the old church on Hancock street, filled the house with music, singing the hymn "Old Ship of Zion." It was the first time in many years a white congregation had assembled in this church. It was now to be reopened, having been put in a very neat and comfortable condition.
Rev. Mr. Crawford read selections from the bible and then made a brief talk regarding the reopening of the church and the series of meetings to begin. He said that probably for a hundred years the gospel has been preached from this pulpit. "Your fathers and mothers and grandfathers and grandmothers sat here to hear the word of God preached. At this altar, in this chancel, around these pews, I suppose thousands of souls have been born to Christ. And if we could see the spirits of the departed, we might look up tonight and see them watching over the services of this hour. Through war and fire and sword and pestilence this house has been preserved by God." He spoke further of the great work that might yet be accomplished in this old church.
Rev. Mr. Ricard followed Mr. Crawford. He said when he arose to speak in this church the memories of forty-five years came up in his mind. Then he was a boy in the ministry. He could recall the names of many who worshipped here then, but are now saints in heaven. In this church Methodism first got its footing in North Carolina. He prayed the blessing of God upon every one, saint and sinner, who had a part in the fitting up of this old church for use again.
After Rev. Mr. Ricard's remarks, all were invited to speak who felt so disposed and several lay members made short talks. Mr. J. V. Williams in his remarks alluded to the fact that Bishop Asbury had preached in this pulpit a hundred years ago. Mr. Lovick said that it was a happy hour to him. He was converted at that altar fifty years ago. And others spoke.
And now after a lapse of many years the old church is reopened and God is worshipped there again. Services tonight at 7:30 o'clock.
Get rid of that tired feeling as quick as possible. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives strength, a good appetite, and health.

ABSTRACT OF SERMONS.

Preached at the Various Churches on Sunday, October 13.

METHODIST CHURCH.
At the morning service Rev. Mr. Crawford preached from the text II Sam. 6: 10 and 11. Topical outline—1, The Ark of God and the incident recorded in the text; 2, Godly fear an essential element in religion; 3, God in the home brings blessings to all: First, described the building of the Ark of God; how sacred it was; a symbol of divine presence; how it regulated the movements of Israel, until captured by the Philistines; referred to the young man, who, lacking reverence, touched the Ark, and was stricken dead; God requires respect and reverence for holy things. Second, "The fear of God is the beginning of wisdom." How different people are affected by religion—some think it is all joy and love, but there must be with all this that fear which produces respect, obedience and love, not slavish fear. Practical—In the family teach the children to fear God and reverence sacred things; keep God in the home. At night the text was St. Luke II: 23. The preacher showed that there was no such thing as neutrality—a man may be neutral in politics, but it is not possible to be so in religion; in Christ is centered great principles which were manifested in his life and which must be accepted or rejected by every man. A man must be honest or dishonest, pure or impure, etc. Practical—If you are for Christ, show it by your life.
PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.
Services were conducted by a lay member, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Voss, being a day specially set apart by that church for prayer for the young men of the church, that many might be raised up for the gospel ministry. Services appropriate to the subject were conducted, and a short address delivered, based upon the 37th and 38th verses, and ix. chapter of Matthew. "Then saith he unto his disciples: The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few; pray ye, therefore, the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth laborers," unto his harvest."
BAPTIST CHURCH.
The subject of Mr. Battle's morning discourse was Hebrews ii: i. The text teaches, 1st, the great value of certain things described as "The things that were heard," 2d, the danger of drifting away from them, and 3d, that such drifting away would be most harmful, as evinced by the earnest heed enjoined. The inspired author has had sad occasion to deplore a disposition, on the part of his Hebrew brethren, to depart from the severe simplicity and moral strictness of the new dispensation, and return to a system adorned with a magnificent ritualism, and invested with all that is thrilling in historical association, venerable in antiquity, and sublime in poetry. The preacher here presented, with a few vivid sentences, the contrast between the two dispensations as it would appear from the sensuous side. He referred to the claim of the inspired author for the superiority of the new dispensation and pressed the argument of the epistle. He wished to say some things in a general way: 1st, Those teachings were not a confusion of brilliant apothems and inharmonious doctrines; they were orderly, systematic and progressive. They form a system, not in the sense of creed, but as the Psalmist spoke of the harmonious testimony of the stars before the perfected science of astronomy. Some things we have special need to give earnest heed to: 1st, Belief in the Bible as the unadulterated word of God. 2d, Respect for those doctrines which impart distinctive form to the teachings of Jesus and vindicate his claims to supreme wisdoms and authority—viz: The doctrine of the Trinity developed; the doctrine of sin developed; the doctrine of eternal punishment; the doctrine of salvation through faith. The preacher next discussed the value of ordinances under the new dispensation, and earnestly argued that it is sin to neglect the ordinances of the church. The preacher's peroration was a picture of the last round on the ascending scale, when the pearly gates swing open and the redeemed enter the temple of God in Heaven. In the evening, Mr. Battle preached an expository sermon upon Isaiah's vision, Isa. vi: 1-7. The central idea of which was, preparation for a noble and blessed career.
EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
The rector, Rev. V. W. Shields, being absent, there was no sermon preached Sunday. There was lay reading.
SYRUP OF FIGS.
Produced from the laxative and nutritious juice of California figs, combined with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds and headaches, and curing habitual constipation.

Sale of the Vyne Place at Havelock.
Papers were filed at the Register of Deeds' office yesterday conveying the large plantation of Mr. Gerret Vyne, at Havelock, to Mr. Isaac Shaw, of Philadelphia, the consideration being $18,000. Mr. Vyne and family will, when business matters are settled here, go to Philadelphia to live. They came to this county from Michigan a few years ago. Mr. Vyne said yesterday that he had enjoyed very much the friendship of our people since he has been here, and is reluctant to leave; but, owning large property in Philadelphia, he finds it to his interest to live there. When he came to this county about five years ago he was in very poor health. He is now a vigorous, healthy man. Our climate has greatly benefited him. Our people will be sorry to see Mr. Vyne and his family leave.

Hotel Arrivals.
The following are yesterday's arrivals at Hotel Albert:
W. L. Durant, Isaac Shaw, Phila.; G. Vyne and wife, Havelock; Chas. S. Bryan, W. B. Flanner, city; H. W. Shaw, New York; A. L. Boot, Richmond; A. M. Cunningham, J. H. Latimer, Chas. B. Walker, H. S. McCuskey, R. A. Williams, Atlanta, Ga.; Prof. S. C. Bragaw, Pollockville; G. W. Taylor, Washington, N. C.; L. H. Turner, Elmira, N. Y.; W. R. G. Smith, Greenville, N. C.; Miss Hannah L. Osgood, city.
