FORAKER and Mahone, Federal and Confederate, slaveholder and Abolitionist, are the two most anxious men in the United States. —Detroit Free Press.

It has been stated that Mr. Halford had resigned his place as private secretary to President Harrison, but it is now said that he is much improved and will resume his duties at the white house at once.

HEALTHY public sentiment in Montana has proved too strong for the schemers who are endeavoring to reverse the will of the people as expressed at the ballot-box, and there seems to be little reason to doubt that it will enforce justice in the end. —Boston Post.

UNDER the administration of Governor Foraker the benevolent institutions of the state have been turned into political machine shops, and allied with the rankiest kind of republican politicians. It is on their support that the Governor depends for re-election. —Toledo American.

IN the respect of showing the industry and hypocrisy of the Republican party and its chief candidate, the present campaign is a great one and one promising much for all the people of the State. They may have fooled the people for a time, but they can't do it always. —Des Moines Leader.

MARION knows well that the negro is easily organized, and can be driven like a herd of cattle under certain influences, but he knows well also that when the negro is openly arrayed against the whites, the latter under the instinct of self-preservation assert all their force, and the negro inevitably goes to the wall.

SINCE President Eliot of Harvard has announced himself a Democrat he is being pounced upon by all the fast organs of the country. Soon we shall learn that the scholarly head of the oldest and greatest institution of learning on this continent being a Democrat cannot read. He has read the party platform and histories. —Bloomington Bulletin.

THIS report comes from Washington that Gen. Baum accepted the office of Commissioner of Pensions on condition that he should have full control of the affairs of the Bureau and not be hampered as Tanner was. He must intend to move that Treasury surplus into the Pension Bureau. The only thing which seemed to hamper Tanner was the distance he had to reach for it. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
F. ULRICH—Octagon soap.
C. E. SLOVER—Hominy, etc.

It was real summer weather yesterday. The thermometer went up to 80 degrees.

The market quotations for cotton, seed cotton, rice, etc., are published on the fourth page.

Love feast was well attended at the M. E. Church last night with the usual exercises. A number of experience talks were made.

The first bale of cotton wrapped in cotton bagging was received at the Exchange yesterday and sold readily for 9.70, the highest figure of the day.

Merchandise of various kinds went cheap at the railroad warehouse yesterday. One man bought an iron safe that was locked and had no key for about three dollars. Two barrels of vinegar sold for less than $3. Some of the bidders were afraid to buy the vinegar—it might be sour. Two mill-stones went for five dollars. One man bought a half dozen broad-axes for ninety cents. Everybody struck a bargain, either a good one for a bad one. Watson & Street sold the goods at auction.

The Truck Market.
We received the following telegram last night:

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The market has advanced on green peas. We sold half barrel crates today at $4.00 to $4.50. Snap beans, $3.50. G. S. P.

Shipping News.

The Kinston arrived from up Neuse with cotton and naval stores yesterday morning, and left in the afternoon with a cargo of merchandise for Kinston. The steamer Eaglet of the E. C. D. line will sail this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Annie will arrive tomorrow. The steamer Tahoma will sail this morning at 7 o'clock.

Sudden Death of an old Colored Woman.

Thursday evening, the wife of Lewis Bryant, colored, was left alone at her home while her husband went to the Presbyterian church near the depot. On the return of Lewis he found his house securely locked up and all quiet. He forced an entrance and found his wife lying across the bed dead. Coroner Oden was notified, and upon examination, deemed an inquest unnecessary. The woman was between sixty and seventy years old and had been in feeble health sometime. It is thought there was trouble of the heart.

Personal.

At Hotel Albert: Morris H. Norden, Philadelphia; J. H. McKoy, jr., N. C.; Max Pineus, Norfolk; James A. Bryan, Ohio.

TRAMPING AROUND.

A Journal Reporter Keeps His Eyes and Ears Open.

The reporter shouldered his pencil and note-book and started out yesterday to "take in the city."

Some people talk about our schools. They say that New Berne has better educational facilities now than we have had for years—perhaps the best we have ever had. No doubt about it, we have good schools. They are not as well patronized as they should be, but this is owing to the fact that they are young and are not widely advertised yet. By the way, we passed by the Academy Green about nine o'clock and they were singing at the High School. It seemed that the teachers, pupils, and all, were singing like they meant it. They sang well, too. The reporter was glad to know that vocal music is taught at this school. Music, vocal or instrumental, in its highest sense, is productive of nothing but good.

The reporter got to thinking about manufacturing industries, so he dropped in to see one of the prime movers in the "co-operative manufacturing company" project. We had not heard from it in some time.

"Well, what has become of the co-operative manufacturing movement?" "I don't know. You will have to ask those other fellows. I have done my part so far. But, I'll tell you, it is a good thing, and all we need is to go to work. We are going to try to have a meeting next week and get a charter and then we will be getting into it. Oh, if those other fellows would do their part!"

"How much stock was subscribed?"

"Well, there is about $18,000. That is enough to start on. Of course we would have to mortgage the machinery, but there would be an income of about $300 a week from stockholders' regular weekly payments, and the thing would move right along without any trouble. But some people are 'skittish' about these things. They can talk, but when it comes down to business they tremble and give up. You talk with others, and stir 'em up a little in the JOURNAL."

The reporter struck out to interview another man on the subject. He didn't seem to want to talk much about it. So we came right out and asked him: "Is the movement dead?"

"Well, I don't know. It would not be dead if a more enterprising set of people had the thing in hand."

This sounded to us like the co-operative movement was in a state of very poor health. It had been given no exercise and consequently became weak and feeble. The reporter began to feel sorry for the poor infant.

"Do you think anything will be done in the matter?" we asked.

"It is doubtful. A thing of that kind is hard to start. It ought to be put into successful operation. It is a good thing to build up a town. But the people won't take hold of it."

The reporter bid him good day and left. We thought about it as we strolled along. Here is a "movement" almost dead. It is just lingering on the strength, the impetus, it received when an enthusiastic meeting was held and the thing originated. It has not been fed, it requires food, and the logical conclusion is that it must die if it is not fed. It is perhaps on its death bed. Shall we save it? If so, we've got to work quick. Is it worth saving? If not, knock it on the head, kill it, put it out of misery, and let's start something else. No town can afford to nurse half dead enterprises unless there are strong hopes that they will recover and prosper.

Should we have more factories? Oh, yes, yes, sir. Everybody admits that there are great natural advantages here for manufacturing industries. "It would pay, too, yes, sir." This is what they say.

Why, the secretary of the Board of Trade receives letters every week making inquiries about the inducements offered for the establishment of manufacturing here. A few days ago a man wanted to know what inducements and encouragement we could offer a paper mill. Another wished to know what we would do toward having an establishment for the manufacture of baskets, etc., put up here.

Why don't we get them here? These are the industries this section can support so easily—wood-works.

But we were going to say that the park question "is not dead, but asleep." This is not the season, you know, for patronizing parks, but next spring, right after the fair, the people will talk about the park, and by May it will be open.

Late in the afternoon the reporter unfortunately ran up on a sportsman, who, with his gun, had been out walking. He wouldn't let us look into his bag, but just collared us and told us more—than the JOURNAL could print in condensed form. After we got away from that fellow we were fit for nothing but to go home in search of something to brace us up.

A Strange Death.

A colored citizen, who is well known on Commercial Row, was found last Thursday on the sidewalk in an unconscious state. His friends surrounded him and endeavored to restore the poor man's senses. They sponged him with cold water and administered other restoratives, but they could see no signs of returning life. So they had the body carried home on a drey. The coroner was summoned and he pronounced the cause of death to be whiskey—he was dead drunk. He got mad when the coroner gave his verdict.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS.

From the State Papers.

Evangelist W. P. Pife is conducting a series of meetings in Washington. Much interest is manifested.

Nashville Argonaut: Intelligence is necessary to success in any business enterprise, but how can a man be intelligent and have broad, progressive views who does not read newspapers? It is an impossibility. A good newspaper is worth more to a farmer than a ton of guano.

Wilson Advance: Mr. Ruffin Renfrow, of Cross Roads township, has placed us under obligations for a "tickler" full of the finest syrup we have ever tasted. It was made by him from Orange cane. A large quantity of it has been made in that township this year as well as in other portions of the county.

Scotland Neck Democrat: The papers are blowing Pitt county as a tobacco section, and from what we have heard directly from tobacco growers there, the papers are not misrepresenting Pitt. We are delighted to learn of this new resource of our neighbor county, and we hope to see this part of its development pushed vigorously.

Kinston Free Press: Mr. Jno. L. Hartsfield made an assignment Monday to Mr. C. W. Hartsfield, Liability $5,000, assets the same. Creditors preferred to the amount of $2,500. Mr. Hartsfield is a clever and worthy young man, and has the sympathy of the community in his misfortune. The cause of the failure was inability to collect outstanding accounts and a heavy stock of unsalable goods.

La Grange Sentinel: Visitors at the Conference were pleased with our little town and paid it and our citizens some nice compliments. We think they all had a pleasant time in our midst. We noticed a lot of the largest and finest looking potatoes we have ever seen, raised by Mr. P. M. Hardy, of Lenoir Institute. They were of the nortan yam variety. It's a treat to look at such fine potatoes.

Durham Globe: The entire community was saddened yesterday by the information that Mr. Thos. D. Jones, one of Durham's most prominent and popular citizens, had "passed beyond the river," after a lingering illness from that dread destroyer, consumption. Mr. Jones was about 35 years of age. He came to Durham from Virginia about ten years ago and entered the tobacco business. Mr. Jones was a prominent member of both the Durham Tobacco Association and the Chamber of Commerce.

Snow Hill Baptist: Mr. W. F. Brand, an old soldier of the Mexican war who resides about eight miles from here, has in possession an overcoat, testament and knife which he used while a soldier in that war. All of these articles are in use now, and have been ever since his discharge. He also has a walking cane which he cut near Bona Vista. The colored people on Sandy Run, this county, have caught the Arkansas fever, and a great many are making arrangements to leave for that State soon.

Wilmington Messenger (Raleigh correspondence): State Treasurer Donald W. Bain came back today from a trip to Washington and New York. He took up the 147 $1,000 bonds of the North Carolina railroad (known as construction bonds) which the Indian department has had in trust for the noble red men. So that transaction is completed. He took up those 147 bonds with 118 of the new sixes and with some money which he induced Receiver Samuel F. Phillips to pay. The entire transaction has been ably conducted and very satisfactorily to the State. The University Gymnasium has just been equipped with the most approved apparatus, and Mr. Lacey L. Little, who spent a large portion of the summer in the Y. M. C. A. Training School at Springfield, Mass., is busy instructing the students, who take great interest in the same.

MAKE NO MISTAKE.—If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion and preparation, curative power superior to any other article of the kind before the people. For all affections arising from impure blood or low state of the system it is unequalled. Be sure to get Hood's.

MARRIED.

On Thursday, October 31, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. John O. Hewitt, in Onslow county, Mr. C. O. Perry, of Craven, and Miss Agnes Hewitt, Rev. Job Smith officiating. No cards.

The JOURNAL extends congratulations, and joins with numerous friends of the groom in this community in wishing the couple a long life of usefulness, prosperity and happiness.

DEED.

In this city, yesterday morning, Benjie A., son of D. H. and I. M. Stallings, aged six years.

GUINN'S PIONEER BLOOD RENEWER.

Purely vegetable in composition, safe to use under all circumstances, and to cure all blood disorders, rheumatism, neuralgia, mercurial ailments, scrofulous affections, swellings, catarrh and skin diseases. For that most loathsome and obstinate disease, syphilis, it is a specific, and as such has been used by many physicians in the South, who have given their unqualified testimony regarding its peculiar efficacy in effecting a permanent cure where all other methods of treatment and alleged specifics have utterly failed. Its wonderful and admirable effects in rheumatism recommends it to that large class of sufferers who have hitherto unsparingly sought relief. For sale by

Dumplings with Royal Baking Powder

No dessert is more delicious, wholesome and appetizing than a well-made dumpling, filled with the fruit of the season. By the use of the Royal Baking Powder the crust is always rendered light, flaky, tender and digestible. Dumplings made with it, baked or boiled, will be dainty and wholesome, and may be eaten steaming hot with perfect impunity.
Recipe:—One quart of flour; thoroughly mix with three teaspoons of Royal Baking Powder and a small teaspoon of salt; rub in a piece of butter the size of an egg, and then add one large potato, grated in the flour; after the butter is well mixed, mix in milk and knead to the consistency of soft biscuit dough; break off pieces of dough large enough to close over four quarters of an apple (or other fruit as desired) without rolling, and lay in a earthen dish (or steamer) and steam until the fruit is tender. Bake if preferred.
In all receipts calling for cream of tartar and soda, substitute Royal Baking Powder. Less trouble, never fails, makes more appetizing and wholesome food and is more economical. Royal Baking Powder is specially made for use in the preparation of the finest and most delicate cookery.
