Do not wait for extraordinary opportunities for good actions, but make use of common situations.—Goethe.

The true light of a young man lies in his vision, in his high and right ideals, and in his endeavors to realize them.—Lyon.

A TRUE faith can no more be separated from good works than the light of the candle can from its heat, or the heat from its light.—Howard.

SORROW rightly borne makes wonderful discoveries of truth; and the inquiry of every one passing through its experience should be, "What is God teaching?"—Ocell.

PATIENCE strengthens the spirit, sweetens the temper, stifles anger, extinguishes envy, subdues pride; she tames the tongue, refrains the hand, and tramples upon temptations.—Horne.

GENERAL MAHON says he will live to be a hundred. A friend suggests that he hopes, if the General does live so long, he will continue from time to time to be the candidate of the Republican party for Governor.

The best and only solution of this political crusade of women is the natural provision by men for them. Women, according to the social code, unsexes herself by boldly seeking and asking in marriage. If man, unsexed by any sense of duty, passes her by, then work, self-protection, and self-preservation must of necessity follow.—Washington Post.

It is generally the case, when the Republican party is defeated in the South to hear the cry of "fraud." In an age of civilization, however, to claim that forty thousand majority in a State no larger than Virginia, was obtained by fraud, is so absurd on its face that the blindest partisan in the Republican party cannot but regard it with contempt.—Charlotte Chronicle.

An excess of self-esteem causes many a person to resent words of honest and sincere praise. Because they think more of himself than of the one who praises him, he recoils from the thought that the other is measuring him, and is passing judgment—even a favorable judgment—upon him accordingly. Then he comforts himself with the thought that in resenting the praise, he is giving proof of his modesty. In no way is true modesty of nature shown more conclusively than in the modest acceptance of praise that evidently comes from the heart of the utterer.—S. S. Times.

The organization of farmers into Granges, Alliances, Wheels, and combinations by other names, has gone on with a much more rapid rate than ever before. The limit of the old Grange movement has long ago been passed. The new movement now contains a membership of a million, and a movement is on foot to consolidate the Granges, the Alliances, and all the other combinations. An explanation of this movement, as well as of the aims and methods of each organization (all of which are given) will be published in the December Forum, by W. A. Peffer, of Kansas.

There is only one merchant in this city, Wm. Sultan, who advertises ladies' dress goods in the columns of the city newspaper. Mr. Sultan's specialty, however, is clothing. Although there are several dry goods merchants, whose specialty is ladies dress goods, etc., not one of them advertise in the JOURNAL. Very enterprising (?) set, this! Is there such an instance in any other town the size of New Berne in the United States?

Shipping News.
The steamer Carolina arrived from up Neuse river yesterday afternoon with cotton, shingles, etc.

The steamer Eaglet of the E. O. D. line sailed yesterday with full cargo. The Annie of this line will arrive today and sail tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The Supreme Court.

Lizzie Mitchell and Ferebee Mitchell, colored, charged with violating chap. 3, sec. 11, city ordinance; dismissed.

Mr. Gorritt Vyne.
About six years ago this worthy and representative Hollander, with his family, moved from Leland, Michigan, to New Berne. He purchased a large estate near Havelock, below our city, and working it upon advanced ideas he became one of our best agriculturists. We regret to learn that he has exchanged this valuable plantation and stock for property near Philadelphia, and is about removing to his new possessions; though he expresses himself as greatly pleased with North Carolina. Mr. Vyne was badly broken in health when he came South, but says he has been completely restored to vigor, and that if the climate of Pennsylvania does not agree with him, he will return to New Berne. His ruddy and genial face is a good index of his physical prosperity.

We cannot afford to lose such a citizen. Mr. Vyne has proved himself a gentleman of large and successful business experience and capacity, a man of ample resources, an agreeable companion, a staunch friend, and a sympathetic neighbor. His family is one of sterling worth with children of fine promise. It is one of those valuable Holland families, that built up so sturdy a nation. We are glad that we retain one of the daughters (Mrs. Tillery of Rocky Mount), as hostage for the return of the whole circle, and trust that some favorable tide of affairs may soon direct Mr. Vyne's steps again to the fair City of Elms. Our best wishes attend him and his family in their new home.

RAMBLES ABOUT TOWN.

Washington's letter to the citizens of Newbern, through their committee to make arrangements for his reception here, bore no date. It first appeared in The Atlantic, a paper, previous to the war, printed in Newbern by Hon. C. C. Clark, editor and proprietor. The letter was loaned for the purpose by James G. Stanly, Esq., to whom it was presented by Judge F. X. Martin, when leaving the place to reside in Louisiana. Samuel W. Stanly, a son of James G. Stanly, who was a son of John Wright Stanly and younger brother of John Stanly, lost the letter in Texas. The Masonic Records respecting Washington's visit to Newbern, and to the lodge while here, were stolen from the lodge room during the war. Thus, there has been some difference of opinion since as to the date of the visit among our own people.

We find in the N. C. University Magazine for December, 1859, "A Memoir of Judge Nash," by Hon. John H. Bryan, formerly of Newbern, from which we make the following extracts: "The writer of this brief sketch has heard Judge Nash relate with pride and pleasure, as among his earliest recollections, an incident which occurred upon the visit of President Washington to Newbern during the first Presidency, in 1791: A grand entertainment and ball was given by the citizens to the President in the old palace. The old town contributed all that patriotism could suggest to honor the First President. Amid the brilliant scene, the Father of his Country, towering in moral grandeur, attracted all eyes and all hearts. Upon none did this noble spectacle produce a profounder or more grateful impression than upon the gentler sex, who are always the disinterested and ardent admirers of all that is great and good. The mother of our deceased friend was present, and cordially yielding her heart-felt tribute, and desiring that her boy should have the privilege of participating in the homage, she called him up and presented him to the chief, who took him upon his knee, placed his hand upon his head, and spoke words of kindness and encouragement, reminding him of his gallant uncle, Gen. Francis Nash, and proposed him as a brilliant exemplar. What boy who ever sat upon the knee of Washington and felt on his head the weight of his hand could ever do a dishonorable act? The recollections of such an honor would elevate his heart and enable all its impulses. The boy was reared according to the doctrines and principles of the 'old school'; he was taught to fear his God, to honor his parents, and obey the law of the land. Hence, he was always eminently conservative as a citizen and public man."

The late public act of Judge Nash the attendance on the Synod of North Carolina, Newbern, the autumn before his death. Of this body he was a zealous and useful member and cordially united with its members in the service of the God whom he loved and adored.

The afternoon before Judge Nash left Newbern, while on his visit, he called upon the writer with the Hon. M. E. Manly, whose guest he was, and who had with him made a visit to the old plantation, "Pembroke." Judge Nash there had been carried back to his youthful days, and for a time lived them over again with all the enjoyment of a boy. He related, apparently with much interest, the immense raft of wild ducks that then rested there in mid winter on the river, the flocks in search of acorns, the robins, the larks, the doves, the black birds, and sparrows that he so easily saw, in consequence of their numbers in the yard and fields, the squirrels even springing from bough to bough on the trees near the house, the deer bounding before the hounds, and the pack in full cry, with the fox, at least for a time, in the lead. He had prepared to take up with him some fresh fish and oysters in the shell, things before unexpected in Hillsboro. He was enthusiastic in the contemplated line of railway to the sea, Caldwell's line the dream of our fathers, the consummation of their descendants and the disappointment of the present generation. The war and Gov. Seales set back their wheel of fortune for a half century, and it begins to be feared that that dividend in the near future will be for a time postponed.

Mr. Bryan said also of this son of Newbern, he was not only eminent as a profound jurist, but he was distinguished for his sterling integrity and true piety. We have given a long list of our brilliant fathers, and were they not eclipsed by such eminent sons as John Stanly, William Gaston, George E. Badger, Francis L. Hawks, Frederick Nash, Charles Shepard and others. Edward, not Ellwood, Pasteur was the father of the JOURNAL's staunch friend in Florida, now dead. Thomas Pasteur was the grandfather of the children of Mr. James C. Davis, of Beaufort, by his first marriage. He was also the second of Gov. Spraight in the fatal duel with John Stanly. His second was Edward Graham, not a native of the county, yet a gentleman and lawyer of the highest honor and ability.

When Judge Nash, made the visit to his old home he found the mansion as he left it and the tomb of his father, Gov. Nash and his family undisturbed. But the ruthless hand of war left ashes in place of the house and the bricks of the vaults where was reposing the dust of the dead were carried off—neither was the iron monument to some noted horse in the long ago belonging to the Nash family overlooked, it disappeared. Mr. William Foy and myself rambled over Pembroke some years ago and found the wreck there complete.

With reference to the palace in Newbern, Col. Saunders, Secretary of State of North Carolina, brings to light old acts for the location of the capital at Tower Hill, in Lenoir county. It is now Mr. John Fall's place, three miles from Kingston, on the Bell's Ferry road. The acts were repealed and Newberne selected.

LATEST NEWS.

Called from the Press Dispatches.

MORE ABOUT THE GOLD FIND IN MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 15.—The Carolina Watchman, published at Salisbury, has sent a mining expert to Montgomery county to investigate rumors of an important gold find there, and he reports that all statements about fabulous wealth having been discovered there are true. The find is said to be the richest ever discovered in the State. Three parallel veins were found about half an inch in thickness and only a few feet apart. The ore pans out a large per cent of pure gold. The Watchman's representative ascertained that a bushel of solid gold had already been taken out of the deposit. The place is owned by three Sanders brothers. Two of them have been living in Texas, but have started for Salisbury in response to a telegram. Great excitement is reported in the neighborhood and people are leaving their work to search for gold. It is stated that one man in two hours' work got out 2,000 pennyweights of pure gold, and was then compelled by the owners to leave off work.

A REVOLUTION IN BRAZIL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Charles R. Flint & Co. received the following cablegram late this afternoon, dated at Rio Janeiro: "Revolution has broken out here. The Brazilian armies are in control. The Ministry has resigned. The revolution is for the purpose of forming a Republic."

LONDON, Nov. 15.—A private cipher cable dispatch from Rio Janeiro states that a revolution has broken out there. The dispatch gave no particulars. Other dispatches from Rio Janeiro, concerning the revolutionary outbreak, assert that the movement in favor of the Republican form of government has recently been strongly fermented and is the sole cause of the rising. Up to the present hour, however, there is little information of a tangible character. Announcement is made in cipher cables already at hand, that the Brazilian ministers have tendered their resignations and that the situation is controlled by the army.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Business continues healthy, confident and unprecedented in value. Long ago it was held that the year's result would turn upon the crops, and it is now certain that the yield has been on the whole about the largest ever known. The cotton crop will much exceed any previous one if the latest official figures are correct. The corn crop will exceed any preceding by 100,000,000 to 200,000,000 bushels. There is more than the usual uniformity in accounts from all parts of the country. Reports are all favorable as to the volume of business, and in the main as to collections.

If the national hopefulness does not engender excessive production in some branches, and a mischievous revival of speculation, the prospect for heavy business is excellent. Business failures occurring throughout the country during the last week number for the United States 235. Canada 80. A total of 285, against 267 last week.

OTHER NEWS NOTES.

During the past week a large number of business enterprises have been organized in the South, including cotton mills, furnaces, iron works, fertilizer works, steel plate mills, etc. The capital invested amounts to seven or eight million dollars.

The late snow blizzard in New Mexico has caused great suffering. Large numbers of persons are in a destitute condition, and many sheep herders have perished.

Union Services Tonight.

On Sunday night, 24th November, (a week from this day), a series of union evangelistic services will be commenced in the Baptist church of New Berne. By invitation from the Young Men's Christian Association, Mr. William Fife will be here and take a leading part in these meetings. He has just closed a series of services in Washington, N. C., where God was present in mighty power and blessing, and many immortal souls found peace in Jesus.

As a most suitable and essential preparation for these hopefully anticipated gatherings, union prayer meetings will be held every evening this week in the Baptist church from 7:30 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. They will begin tonight, and will be led by various Christian brethren. Tonight and Monday night the leader will be Rev. L. C. Vass, D. D. It will be well for everyone to read the portions of scripture that will be used, before going to the church. Dr. Vass will speak tonight about "Prevailing Prayer," Gen. 32:24, 32; Ex. 17:8, 16; James 5:15, 20.

If the subjects for each evening are thought over, a more intelligent and lively interest will be felt; and many may have profitable and stimulating thoughts to offer. Let all Christians rally to these meetings. There is but one object, the glory of God in the conversion of souls. Do not all true Christians desire the salvation of their friends? Should they not earnestly and prayerfully join in this great work, and be of one mind and one heart? The only fight the Christian should engage in is with sin and Satan.
