A PROPOSED Democratic caucus is again postponed.

THE House Committee on Elections is ordered to investigate the Clayton assassination and report.

THE New York Star, of last Monday, reports Editor Henry W. Grady, of Georgia, seriously ill at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"OUR State exchanges do not copy as much from the Messenger as we like to see." Several hundred down with the same complaint, brother.

DON PEDRO says he is still Emperor of Brazil, but will not return to the Country. He declines to receive pecuniary help from the usurping Government.

BEAUREGARD refused to participate in the Davis obsequies. The sponsor of the Louisiana Lottery could have added nothing to the solemnity or dignity of the occasion.

THE Republican party is prolific of narrow-gauge "statesmen," who have never been able to grasp the fact that the portion of the country south of the Potomac river is really an integral part of the Union.—Wilmington Star.

GOV. HILL is said to be trying to bribe Gov. Lee to take up his cause and help him get the nomination from Cleveland. Gov. Lee can not be bribed, and he is not simple enough to believe that Hill stands a ghost of a chance.—Wilmington Messenger.

OF the Cronin case the Washington Post says: It is not the number of men who are to suffer in this case, or the degrees of the punishment meted out to them, with which the people are most concerned. The point that interests them most is whether the verdict rendered shall give them greater security than they before enjoyed against the machinery of secret terrorism known to the law, and here to arrest is notorious and bloodthirsty judgments.

It is only the grain speculation which produces generally may have no undue advantage over the farmers, by reason of first securing the monthly crop proceeds from the Agricultural Department, from which there has heretofore been some complaint. Secretary Burk has prepared a bill, not only to obviate this difficulty, but to disseminate more fully and promptly whatever information concerning crops the Department is able to secure.—Washington Post.

KILRAIN'S conviction of the minor offence of assault instead of prize fighting, of which Sullivan was found guilty, indicates a regrettable wearing off of the sharp edge of Mississippi justice under the influence of time and natural sympathy for the man who was beaten in the fight.—New York Star.

THE North Carolina delegation took a very prominent part at the funeral of Mr. Davis at New Orleans. The detachment of the Goldsboro Rifles and of the Governor's Guard was on special duty in the room in the city hall in which the body lay in state. The Rifles had a Confederate flag draped, in addition to a company flag, while the Governor's Guard had the headquarter's flags, also draped. The Confederate flag above sladed to was the only one borne in the procession.—Messenger.

The study of shorthand has been introduced in Skinner's school.

It was very much like May weather yesterday. The mercury rose to seventy-four degrees.

Rare fun and frolic for old and young at Mrs. Chas. H. Blank's on Thursday evening. Don't fail to go.

The sidewalk pavement in front of Miss Taylor's residence, on Craven street, is being rebuilt. Quite an improvement.

There will be a lecture tonight at Hancock street Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. T. Page Ricard. Subject, "Algebraic Prayer." All are invited.

The new building at the Fair grounds, in which will be the aquarium, is about completed. It will be the principle attraction this year because it is a new feature and entirely different from anything ever shown in the State.

Let's not allow Mr. Dulltimes to have a finger in our Christmas pie. Old Santa Claus is able to wipe out Dulltimes by a wink of his eye. (P. S.—It don't always take money to make one friendly, jovial, and lighthearted.)

A new saw mill is going up on the river front opposite Mr. Jonathan Havens' residence on East Front street. Mr. W. B. Blades and others are having it built. New Berne beats any other town in the State in the lumber industry.

Rev. Dr. J. E. Mann and family will arrive tonight. There will be no prayer meeting at Centenary M. E. Church tonight on this account. The congregation is expected to welcome Dr. Mann and his family at the parsonage during the evening.

Mr. J. J. Dissoway and bride have arrived from New York. They received at their residence on East Front street last night. Quite a number of friends called and passed a very pleasant evening. The JOURNAL extends congratulations and wishes Mr. and Mrs. Dissoway a life of happiness.

The subject of the sermon preached by Rev. Mr. Stancill at the church of the Disciples last night was "Repentance," text, Matthew 12: 41. There were two accessions to the Church last night. There will be preaching tonight at 7:15 o'clock and also tomorrow night. Rev. I. L. Chestnut, of Snow Hill, is expected to preach on Friday night.

We very much hope that the series of articles now appearing in the JOURNAL, (Shall New Berne Progress?) will be carefully read. They are based upon the proposed new railroad from Onslow and we feel sure they will be discussed so clearly that no one will fail to fully understand the movement. Another opportunity is offered New Berne to take a step forward. Will she reject it?

N. G. Brinson, Esq., of Pamlico county, writes to the JOURNAL as follows: "A man giving his name as Jacob Karson was committed to Pamlico county jail as a tramp on Dec. 1. He is said to have committed some crime in Virginia. Karson is a tall, robust man; light complexion; very long hands, broad forehead, large eyes; is about 25 or 30 years of age; has a very peculiar twist of the head. He gives no satisfactory account of himself. If wanted apply to sheriff of Pamlico county, at Bayboro."

SHALL NEW BERNE PROGRESS?

No. 7.
 We sometimes hear it alleged by those in opposition to subscribing for the building of the East Carolina Railroad to New Berne, (and some of them express the opinion no doubt in good faith,) that its coming here will inure to the benefit of Wilmington and result in commercial injury to New Berne; that this will be especially true of the trade we now do with Onslow. The argument is, that Wilmington being a larger city and a place of greater commercial importance will cause trade, to a preponderating extent, to gravitate there. This argument is fallacious; in the first place the rates of freight, in order that the road shall succeed, must be fair and equitable, especially to its terminus, and there being no discrimination shippers will patronize by railroad the points that they have a predilection for.

Jones county people will stay by New Berne because they have always received fair treatment, and know with whom they are dealing. In Onslow there has ever been a New Berne party and a Wilmington party, not in a sense of rivalry, but each city has had its clientele; father and son for years have had their preferences, and these it is fair to presume will continue. This is the sentimental view of the matter. Now as to the practical: every one knows that in order to reach the consumer, or regular lines of foreign export one has to go north; here at New Berne we have lines of vessels making quick and reliable connection with distributing lines to all points north and to Europe and it would indeed be singular if freights went farther south than they might reach a point to be sent north. In speed, frequency and reliability New Berne is today a better point of shipment than Wilmington, and we think it more than probable that instead of being drawn from New Berne there will be drawn to it a greater volume of trade from the country through which the road passes than it now receives by dirt road. There is, however, an important fact that should not be lost sight of, and that is, a railroad running through the counties of Jones and Onslow will cause new industries to spring up, and a greater variety of material to be marketed, of which New Berne is certain to obtain its fair share. The existing products of the new railroad territory would hardly sustain a railroad, but it is the development consequent upon its construction that justifies the building. The people of New Berne need have no fear that it will not get its full share of the prosperity; certain to result to our neighboring counties, and that in their prosperity we shall have a part. If, however, we are indifferent to a scheme in which they are so much interested, and the road terminus shall be at some point other than New Berne, it is but fair to presume that they would require our indifference by trading at the point most easy of access, and unless we subscribe to the road, that point will not be New Berne.

Shall New Berne show an appreciation of the wants and needs of our Onslow friends by subscribing to the stock of that which they so greatly need, or shall we assume a position of indifference or opposition, and thereby attenuate the good feeling that now exists?

The New Rector for Christ Church.

Rev. T. M. N. George, who accepted some time ago the rectoryship of the New Berne Parish, arrived last night. We take the following paragraph from the Durham Sun:

"Rev. T. M. N. George, for several years past rector of St. Philip's Episcopal church in Durham, preached his farewell sermon on Sunday last, and will leave tomorrow for the New Berne Parish, the rectoryship of which he accepted some time since. His people here give him up reluctantly, and they will part with him with the deepest regret." The New Berne church is to be congratulated upon securing such a clergyman. He is pure in heart, genial and gentle in disposition, earnest in duty, faithful in every trust, able and exceedingly interesting in presenting the gospel—in its truth and simplicity. He has few equals. The best wishes of Durham will go with him and his family to their new home. May the Lord richly bless his labors and give him length of days."

Chance for a Speculation.

Now don't all run at once for your wallets and checkbooks! It isn't corner lots in Chicago, Minneapolis, Kansas City, or the "Future Great." It isn't options on wheat, corn, pork or lard, nor "puts" or "calls" on Northwestern or Southwestern, nor yet is it gas, oil, telegraph or telephone stock. It is better than any or all of these. It is a deposit in the Bank of Health, which every one can make by the purchase and use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets in all cases of chronic constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, headache, liver complaint, and the like. Sold the world over.

The worst feature about catarrh is its dangerous tendency to consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh by purifying the blood.

Mr. Fife at Raleigh.

Yesterday afternoon, Evangelist Fife held a meeting for men only in Edenton Street Methodist church. Every seat in that large-audience room was filled, and the galleries were called into requisition to accommodate many more. The meeting was glorious. Mr. Fife made one of his plain, earnest talks, which was received with marked interest. The singing by the six hundred men (for there were that many) was inspiring. The building surely was never before filled with such vocal music. After the talk by Mr. Fife, such songs as "That Old Time Religion," and "I'll Meet You in the City of the New Jerusalem," were sung with a glorious vim and happy energy. A number of those present stated that they had that "Old Time Religion." Many rose and asked for prayer. Others arose to signify that they held prayer with their families, and a good number stood up and promised to erect family altars at once and hold family prayer in future. It really looked as though everybody who attended that meeting enjoyed it as they never enjoyed anything before.

At night Mr. Fife conducted a meeting at the Baptist Tabernacle. That vast auditorium was literally packed with people and there were enough there to pack it by half-past six o'clock. Any one going to the Tabernacle after that hour might have thought that a large congregation had just been dismissed, so great was the crowd that was coming away because there were no seats for them. There were between twelve and fifteen hundred people in the church when Mr. Fife arose to open the meeting.

He first announced that, at the solicitation of friends, he had decided to remain in Raleigh for some days longer, and that so long as the present great interest was manifested, the meetings would be continued. This week the meetings will be conducted jointly by Mr. Fife, Rev. Mr. Morton, Presbyterian evangelist, and the Baptist and Methodist ministers of the city. The day meetings will continue in the First Presbyterian Church, but will be held at 10:30 p. m. as heretofore.

After these announcements the services in the Tabernacle began. The praise songs swelled grandly and gloriously from the great audience, led by a cornet and choir of, perhaps, one hundred voices. Mr. Fife's talk was impressively earnest. Its influence was great. Its earnestness, more than its strength or eloquence, affected most of that great audience to tears, and when the invitation to rise for prayer was extended, there were many responses. An after meeting was held, at which a great number of people remained. There is no estimate of the number of professions in the meetings so far, but they are very numerous.—Raleigh Call.

One fact is worth a column of rhetoric, said an American statesman. It is a fact, established by the testimony of thousands of people, that Hood's Sarsaparilla does cure scrofula, salt rheum, and other diseases or affections arising from impure state or low condition of the blood. It also overcomes that tired feeling, creates a good appetite, and gives strength to every part of the system. Try it.
